REPORTED BOYS ARE EMPLOYED AT BILLERICA CAR SHOPS

Fifteen-Year-Old Boy Interviewed by Pickets Later Makes Statement at Strike Headquarters—Authorities Are Investigating—Residents in Vicinity of Car Shops Ask Better Police Protection—Mass Meeting on South Common This Evening

That boys under 16 years of age are being employed as strike-breakers at the Boston & Maine carshops in Billerica, and that they are not even required to produce school certificates, was stated yesterday by Michael Prevost, a 15-year-old boy residing at 134 George street, Roxbury, who claims he is employed at the car shops. This statement was made to the executive board of the federated crafts and the matter is now being investigated by Inspector Edward J. Meehan of the department of labor and industries division of industrial safety, whose home is in this city.

The boy was seen entering the shops by pickets, who later had a lengthy talk with him. At the little fellow's suggestion the pickets drove him to strike headquarters in Middlesex st.

This city, in an automobile, and there he informed the members of the executive board that he was hired in Boston and that there was no talk about his age or school certificate. He said he is but fifteen years of age and also stated that there are many boys of his age now employed at the shops. After relating his story to the executive board Prevost was taken to the roundhouse of the Boston & Maine and there he repeated the same story to Inspector Meehan, who happened to be on the premises. Inspector Meehan spent the greater part of yesterday in Billerica investigating the boy's story but the result of his work was not given out.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Prospects for an early settlement of the nation-wide strike of railway shopmen on a basis of informal negotiations conducted in conferences here between union leaders and representatives of various railroads centering in the Twin Cities and the northwest, were very good today, in the opinion of union men and railroad executives.

Confidence that the end of the strike is near, was expressed by R. A. Henning, chairman of the Federated Shop Crafts of the Northwest district.

He said that it is entirely possible that the strike will be settled on a national basis in Chicago within the next 48 hours.

Cabinet in Session
WASHINGTON, July 14.—President Harding and his advisers again today devoted a cabinet session to the rail and coal strikes.

Several of the cabinet officials arrived at the White House for the session bearing reports on the two industrial disturbances. Postmaster General Work had several reports on the mail situation as affected by the strike. Attorney General Daugherty said he had about a hundred telegrams, the nature of which he would not disclose. Secretaries Hoover and Davis had ready for presentation the latest information of the government's proposal for arbitration of the coal strike and Secretary Weeks was prepared to discuss possible action to maintain interstate commerce and transportation of the mails in accordance with the president's recent warning proclamation.

Adjustment of Wages in Lawrence Manufacturing Co. Announced By Agent Everett Walker Today

Following in the footsteps of the Merrimack and Massachusetts cotton mills, the Lawrence Mfg. Co., through its agent, Everett H. Walker, today announced that an adjustment of wages would go into effect in that plant on Monday, July 17. Other than giving the statement that a readjustment would be made and that it will affect every department in the yard, Mr. Walker did not care to comment upon it. No notices will be posted and the amount of the cut has not been intimated. According to Agent Walker the Lawrence has been doing very little work for the past two years and at present is running with a greatly reduced complement of help.

THREE HOUSES STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Three houses were struck by lightning yesterday afternoon during a violent storm that centered over Lowell. In some sections of the city, particularly in the Highlands, the storm was swept along and found a round by a wind that attained hurricane proportions. The Highlands seemed to be the vortex of the wind circle and while the damage was more or less consequential the storm was severe enough to cause grave apprehension.

An apple tree in Harris avenue, standing very near a house, was struck by a lightning bolt that buried itself in an open lot with an audible hissing sound, and all through that neighborhood the violence of the storm seemed particularly intensive.

A lightning bolt entered the house of Alfred Andrews at 66 Nelson avenue while his family was at supper. It shot down a water pipe, kicked over a pail of water and disappeared through the bottom of the sink, leaving a small bullet-like hole.

Plaster was ripped from the walls of the house of Michael McQuaid at 65 Pleasant street and a house in Walker street also was struck, but not damaged.

The storm came in two sections at the close of an unusually hot day, with the thermometer well over the 80 mark.

Between 200 and 500 telephone subscribers were affected and scores of homes were without electric service for several hours.

The street railway company had several cars temporarily out of commission and a car on the Lakeview park-nashua line had to be towed to the barns for repairs.

The park department received only one call today for a tree that was damaged during the storm.

AUTOIST ARRESTED IN MERRIMACK SQUARE

A man, giving his name as J. R. Brown of Concord Junction, R. I., was arrested in Merrimack square early this afternoon by Traffic Supervisor Edward Connors on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Brown put up a stiff argument while being booked at police headquarters, but finally gave it up as a useless job.

BIG BOOZE RAID IN GROTON ROAD

Federal Prohibition Agents Sheldon and Bowers, assisted by the Chelmsford police, unearthed an unofficial storage warehouse in the Groton road, West Chelmsford, last night, containing about the finest assortment of brewers' products assembled in this vicinity since the breweries closed their doors. Covered by heavy boards, concealed by six inches of earth, they found 500 bottles of the real old brew, and a complete brewing outfit, and three or four barrels of mash, found in a nearby camp, were also confiscated. Chief Vinini and Officer Gookin of the town police assisted.

MORE LAND SOLD FOR TAXES TODAY

Eight more parcels of land were sold for taxes by the city today. Auctioneer Joseph Farrell sold them to the treasurer's office to Amos P. Hunt of Braintree for $1824. There were few parcels remain and the sale will be continued tomorrow morning, with the hope that they will be disposed of at that time.

REPUBLICANS CLAIM CAP- TURE OF FREE STATERS

CORK, July 14.—(By the Associated Press) Capture of the barracks at Kilmallock, County Limerick, together with the Free State Garrison, arms and equipment is claimed in a Republican despatch issued at midnight.

The regular Republican bulletin from headquarters at Clonsilla last night says the agreement governing Limerick City and the Limerick brigade area, has been broken by the Free State officers who signed it and that fighting is progressing. The Republicans are declared to hold the initiative and to have reinforcements on the way.

The statement was: "Our troops now surround Thurles, in which the Free Staters have taken up positions, and an early attack is certain. Our columns are also operating around Edinbegh, the enemy not moving out. All roads are blocked and communications are now impossible for the enemy in that area. Their men are deserting and joining our columns, bringing their arms. The enemy have taken over all the banks in Kilkenny."

Charge Vandallism
DUBLIN, July 14.—Charges of vandalism are made against the Republican forces in an official statement from the headquarters of the "National army."

"Since the operations by the National army in the south and west regulars have carried on an extensive campaign of destruction and the seizure of private property. The effects of this campaign have not been to hamper materially the operations of the army, but to inflict serious losses and in many instances, occasion great hardship and privation to the civilian population."

"This is particularly so in the areas in which the irregulars are found in force."

"The railways have been destroyed, the roads rendered impassable, the people driven from their homes and vehicles and foodstuffs seized generally. The result of this policy in certain districts has been to wreck havoc on the economic life of the people and to bring the social and commercial activity of the community to a state of disorder and stagnation."

SAMUEL DID NOT APPEAR IN COURT

Although Samuel Cron, of 104 Chelmsford street was arrested by Sergt. Winn and Officer Moore, of the liquor squad, and Federal Agents Bowers and Sheldon, on a charge of illegally transporting liquor, he failed to appear for trial in district court today. On inquiry it was found that the officers had shipped him and his automobile, with his alleged alcoholic contents to the federal authorities in Boston, as the arrest had been made on a highway.

The automobile which Cron was alleged to have driven, and which was found at the corner of Howard and Hale streets, was said to contain about 18 gallons of what is believed to be high-proof moonshine. The odor of moonshine was in the air all about, and finally Sergt. Winn discovered that the odor came from the car, which was found to contain a broken can, the contents of which had saturated the material with which the bottom of the car was covered, wafting fragrance on the evening breeze.

NOMINATION PAPERS
Five papers bearing signatures of persons interested in the re-election of John Jacob Rogers, have been certified by the board of election commissioners. Seven papers filed for Gardner Pearson also have received certification.

PACKARD TOURING CAR TO BE PAID FOR

City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney has rendered an opinion to City Auditor Daniel E. Martin, informing him that it now is legal for him to issue a warrant for payment of the Packard touring car, purchased by the mayor.

The solicitor says that the matter now is before the auditor in legal form and that it is his duty to perform a ministerial act and issue a warrant as soon as possible. The amount of the bill is $2008 and is in the name of Alvan T. Fuller.

The fact that the car was registered prior to the completion of the purchase is not a material fact for you to consider," the opinion continues.

The solicitor at present is working on an opinion that will govern the auditor in the matter of issuing a warrant for payment of the two Packard trucks now in use in the street department.

RIVER HEARING THIS EVENING

Members of the Lowell city government, representatives of the chamber of commerce and Congressman John Jacob Rogers will go to the Merrimack Valley Country club at Methuen tonight to take part in the conference called for the purpose of discussing the Merrimack river navigation project.

The city representatives will include Solicitor Edward J. Tierney, resident Patrick J. Bagley of the council and Councilors Adams, Stearns and Appleton. Mayor Brown also may decide to go. The chamber of commerce will be represented by Secretary-Manager George P. Wells, and Benjamin Pouzner.

A conference has been arranged by the chamber of commerce of Lawrence and is the outcome of the agreement made when the Washington hearing on the matter was postponed until fall. Men interested in the river project from Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport were in attendance. The discussion of the project will follow a dinner to be served at 6:30 o'clock.

MOTHER ILL, BUT FAMILY IS EVICTED

LAWRENCE, July 14.—Paul Barille, his wife, who is ill, and four children, were evicted from their home at 72 Lawrence street late yesterday afternoon on an order of the local district court and the complaint of the landlord, John Connolly. The furniture was put onto the sidewalk in front of the house just before a sharp thunder shower broke, and it was badly wet. Barille is a striker, having left his work in the Pacific print works on April 25 last because of the wage cut. He has lived at 72 Lawrence street for five years, paying $1 a week for the first four years. About a year ago his rent was increased to $6, he said, and a month ago his landlord asked another dollar increase. This, Barille says, he refused to pay. The four children range from 3 to 13 years of age.

STRIKE AT MASS. MILLS SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY MORNING

Textile Strike Committee Chairman Says That 95 Per Cent. of Mass. Mill Operatives Are Organized—Special Meetings of Various Unions This Afternoon—Organizations Will Report to Textile Council This Evening

There will be a strike at the Massachusetts mills next Monday morning. The strike is being sanctioned by John Hanley, a member of the executive board of the United Textile Workers of America, chairman of the textile strike committee and president of the Lowell Textile council, and it is being called as a protest against a wage reduction, which will go into effect Monday morning.

Agent William A. Mitchell of the mill was officially notified of the strike yesterday afternoon in a special delivery letter sent by Mr. Hanley, and final arrangements for the strike will be made at a meeting of the Lowell Textile council to be held this evening in Trades & Labor hall in Central St. at 8 o'clock.

As soon as he was informed of the announcement of a wage reduction at the Massachusetts mills yesterday afternoon Mr. Hanley endeavored to get in telephone communication with Agent Mitchell, but his efforts proved fruitless, and late in the afternoon he sent the agent a letter, the copy of which follows:

Dear Sir:
As it has been reported to me that a reduction in wages is to take effect in your mills on July 17, 1922, you are hereby notified that I will sanction a strike in your mill, the said strike to be effective July 17, 1922.

Very truly yours,
JOHN HANLEY.
Commenting on the matter today, Mr. Hanley said that in ordering a strike he was not ordering a riot.

Bible, World's Best Seller, Sold Even Faster—By Radio!

Radio has been called upon to boom the sale of the world's best seller—the Bible.

A. Wesley Mell, secretary of the Pacific agency of the American Bible society, tried this novel method and succeeded.

From his headquarters at San Francisco, Mell sent broadcast a sales lecture. Touring the streets of the city was an automobile equipped with radio antenna and receiving set and loaded with Bibles.

At corners, the car would stop, then the radio loud speaker would begin to talk. The novel stunt drew the crowd and the attendants with the radio auto went about selling the books.

With his Bible sales talks, Mell gave readings also.

An interesting radio experiment that worked out most successfully, where, by a small portable set, established in the woods in the Rangely lake region in Maine, brought four campers into touch with the outside world, has been brought to notice with the return to this city of Lucius A. Derby and his son, Roland, Harry L. Parkhurst of Chelmsford and Edward L. Gilman of Woodstock, N. H.

When the party left on a fishing trip to the lakes, Roland E. Derby took along a Westinghouse portable set, equipped with four head pieces. Although the outfit did not include a storage battery or amplifying tubes, the results attained were most satisfactory and clear connections were secured with a number of broadcasting stations in New England. The set was connected to one dry cell and a small type Eveready battery.

Each evening, after the tramping and fishing of the day were over, the radio set was brought out and each man was given a set of receivers. It is said that the party was very much interested in this sort of work, was the operator. Although it rained every day for two weeks, this did not interfere with receiving, and a radio concert was the program for each night's entertainment.

The set was located on the shore of the lake, opposite Metellus Point. This point, which is named after an old Indian chief of that region, is familiar to all frequenters of the Rangely region. Vocal music and band concerts were received from Pittsburgh, Schenectady, Newark and Medford Hills, and all were very clear and distinct. These entertainments offered a pleasing diversion after the day's work. One song, particularly well rendered and heard very clearly, was received from the WGY station at Schenectady. It was "Just a Song at Twilight," and to those men, deep in the Maine woods, brought pleasant memories at the close of a toper day.

The successful accomplishment of this experiment offers to campers a new form of entertainment with the possibilities being unlimited.

In India certain species of fish can live out of water a day or two and on a hot summer's day they may be seen making their way rather clumsily across the fields.

GIRLS! WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quart of a harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

BEFORE WAR CONDITIONS IN THE SCHOOLS

(Special to The Sun.)

BOSTON, July 14.—Before the war conditions will soon be reached in the schools of Massachusetts. A highly encouraging situation in education matters is reported in all parts of the commonwealth by the state department of education. Enrollment in the normal schools is much larger than it was last year and last year it was 450 more than in the year before. The outlook is for the gain to continue.

There has been a general improvement in the economic status of the teaching profession. Actual figures show that during the last ten years the average salary of the Massachusetts public school teacher has increased over 88 per cent. There is said to be no place in the state where salaries have been reduced this year and the advances beyond the minimum of war times, which drove many out of the profession, have been sustained and improved upon all over the state.

It is said at headquarters that Massachusetts will come nearer this year than ever before to filling all the teaching positions in the public schools with graduates of Massachusetts normal schools. Massachusetts is better off in this respect than any other state in the Union. Whatever shortage there is, is made up by drawing from other states and teachers in other states are always glad of the opportunity of coming to Massachusetts.

When one comes to housing conditions, matters are not so satisfactory. In fact, they are inadequate. Massachusetts now has 40,000 public school children who are obliged to attend on the platform plan, that is, some of them use the rooms part of the day and others the other part of the day. At the same time, there is a large amount of school house construction under way or authorized. New buildings are taking the place of old ones and their accommodations and equipment are on a higher grade than the old. Thirty-eight new school buildings, with accommodations for over 16,000 pupils are now in process of construction at a cost of over $7,000,000 and there are 32 others authorized or have money appropriated for them, accommodating 19,000 pupils and costing over $10,000,000. Besides these, still further buildings have been authorized by recent votes of town meetings. Thus the season's record in way of schoolhouse construction is remarkable.

The popularity of the junior high school is also another feature of the year. It is taking strong hold in many parts of the state. Twelve new buildings for this service alone have been begun or authorized this year. They will cost nearly $5,000,000.

The state department of education is carrying on an unusually large amount of summer school work this year. At the Hyannis normal school there will be two sessions of four weeks each with remarkable attendance and attractive program. This summer school, maintained for 25 years is particularly attractive as it is situated at a summer resort. There are 650 enrolled for the first session and it is expected that the enrollment for the two sessions will be over 1000.

At the North Adams state normal school there are five weeks of another session. Some 240 are already enrolled. This is for the western part of the state and has a course of physical education, the same as Hyannis. There will be a superior attendance course lasting for three weeks in July for the benefit of the small towns. Thirty-five have applied for enrollment.

At the Fitchburg state normal school there will be a general summer school for the benefit of public school teachers and there is an enrollment of 200. At the Framingham state normal school there will be a summer school for training and preparing. This has been in operation for two or three years and is a result of the general sentiment which started during the war in favor of making the most possible of local food supplies. HOYT.

Strike Scheduled for Monday Morning

strike at the Massachusetts he is simply complying with the mandate issued by the United Textile Workers of America last February, which called for a strike in any cotton mill where a reduction in wages is announced. "This mandate is still in force," said Mr. Hanley, "and I feel sure that the operatives of the Massachusetts will abide by it."

Speaking about the organization at the Massachusetts mills, Mr. Hanley said that at least 95 per cent. of the employees of the plant are members of unions affiliated with the U.T.W. of A. He said there is no mill in this city better organized than the Massachusetts and the workers there are all loyal to their organization.

Special meetings of the various unions have been called for this afternoon to further arrangements for the strike. The loomfixers will meet at their quarters in City Hall avenue at 5 o'clock, and the beamers in Trades and Labor hall at the same hour. The King Spinners' union held a special meeting at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and this evening, at the Lowell Textile council meeting, the various organizations will report.

Relative to the strike at the Merrimack Mfg. Co., where a wage reduction went into effect last Monday, Mr. Hanley sent the following letter to Agent Jude G. Wadleigh:

Dear Sir:

As the mandate of the International

United Textile Workers of America which went into effect Feb. 13, 1922, that wherever a reduction in wages was attempted, all organized textile workers must refuse to work, is still in force, I, as an officer of the U.T.W. of A. hereby sanction the strike at the Merrimack Mfg. Co., which went into effect July 10, 1922, when your employees refused to accept the proposed reduction.

Very truly yours,

JOHN HANLEY.

Drawing Contest

The drawing of three ducks and a hand-made mat for the benefit of the strike fund which took place at strike headquarters last evening resulted as follows: Miss Julia Sullivan, first prize; Miss Margaret Watson, second prize; Miss Margaret Mulloy, third prize. The name of the winner of the fourth prize is not known, but the winning ticket bears No. 4.

FORM PLAYGROUND BASEBALL LEAGUE

At a meeting of playground instructors at city hall this morning, a playground baseball league was formed with the following representatives present: George Feeney of the Butler; James Laffey, Greenhalge; Joseph Reynolds, Morey; John Moriarty, North Common; Francis O'Grady, South Common; Edwin Mahoney, Shedd park; Earl Greenhalge, Washington park; John Donohue, Walker.

It was decided that games will be played on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, beginning at 2 o'clock, and not going later than 4:30. Five full innings shall constitute a game, and no boy over 15 years of age will be allowed to participate. If this rule is violated, the game will be automatically forfeited. A suitable prize will be awarded to the best base-sticker.

The schedule for next week is as follows: July 17, Aiken vs. Greenhalge; Washington vs. Morey; Butler vs. South Common; North Common vs. Walker.

July 19: Greenhalge vs. Washington; Morey vs. North Common; South Common vs. Aiken; Walker vs. Butler. July 21: Washington vs. Butler; Aiken vs. North Common; Greenhalge vs. Morey; Walker vs. South Common. The first named team on each list will be regarded as the home team. The supervisor of the respective playgrounds will serve as the umpire, and if his time is needed, the league will bring their own arbiters along. The Shedd park team will play the leading team in the league every week.

Boys Employed at Car Shops

striker breakers at the car shops the residents of Billerica in the vicinity of the plant have petitioned the board of selectmen for better police protection in that part of the village. The petitioners were given a hearing in the North Village town hall yesterday afternoon and there was a large attendance. In the course of the hearing it was brought out by several residents that some of the strike breakers are roaming through the fields during the night, and it was also intimated that some of them carried firearms. Some of the residents fear that they will be molested by these men and they also fear damage to their property. At the close of the hearing the selectmen conferred with Superintendent Jennings at the car shops and they requested him to keep the strike breakers on the grounds of the company. It was announced later that that portion of the town in the vicinity of the shops will be properly patrolled and strike breakers who are found on private grounds will be arrested for trespassing.

Strikebreakers Discharged

A wedding out process was started at the Billerica shops yesterday afternoon when 160 strikebreakers who came to the town from Boston and other cities, were paid off and informed that their services were no longer required. The strikers claim that on Tuesday the company dropped 170 names from its payroll and on Wednesday 70 more employees were discharged, but this is denied by shop officials, who maintain that the first move in the wedding out process was made yesterday when 160 men were fired.

Mass Meeting Tonight

All is in readiness for the mass meeting to be held on the South Common this evening under the auspices of the federated crafts of the car shops. The meeting will open at 7:45 o'clock or immediately after the baseball game and the strikers hope that the thousands of fans, who will be on the common at that time will remain to hear the employees' side of the strike situation. The principal speaker will be Robert Fehner of Boston, vice president of the International Association of Machinists, while other men prominent in the labor movement, will also address the gathering. A special invitation to attend the meeting is being extended by the press committee to clergymen, business and professional men.

JUDGE RESIGNS

Railroad Strike

Continued

It today shot and seriously wounded one of a crowd of men attempting to prevent workers from entering the Burnside shops of the Illinois Central. Police reserves answered a riot call but the leaders left by automobile before they arrived. It is reported that the homes of the strike breakers are being picketed rather than the shops.

Issue Call

CHICAGO, July 14.—A strike call to the 8000 stationary firemen, engineers and others employed on railroads throughout the United States, has been issued. Timothy Healy, international president of the organization, announced today.

The strike is effective next Monday, July 17 at 8 a. m. The call was made in compliance with the recent referendum which favored a walkout. Mr. Healy said.

The text of the message to all locals follows:

"In compliance with your strike vote which is 88.6 favoring a walkout, sanction is hereby granted to each and every member of our brotherhood on all railroads, steam plants, roundhouses and terminals throughout the United States to suspend work at 8 a. m. Monday, July 17, 1922.

"TIMOTHY HEALY"

"International President." Stationary firemen, and others on several railroads had already joined in a sympathetic walkout with the railway shop crafts.

"We are into the fight and we intend to win," Mr. Healy said.

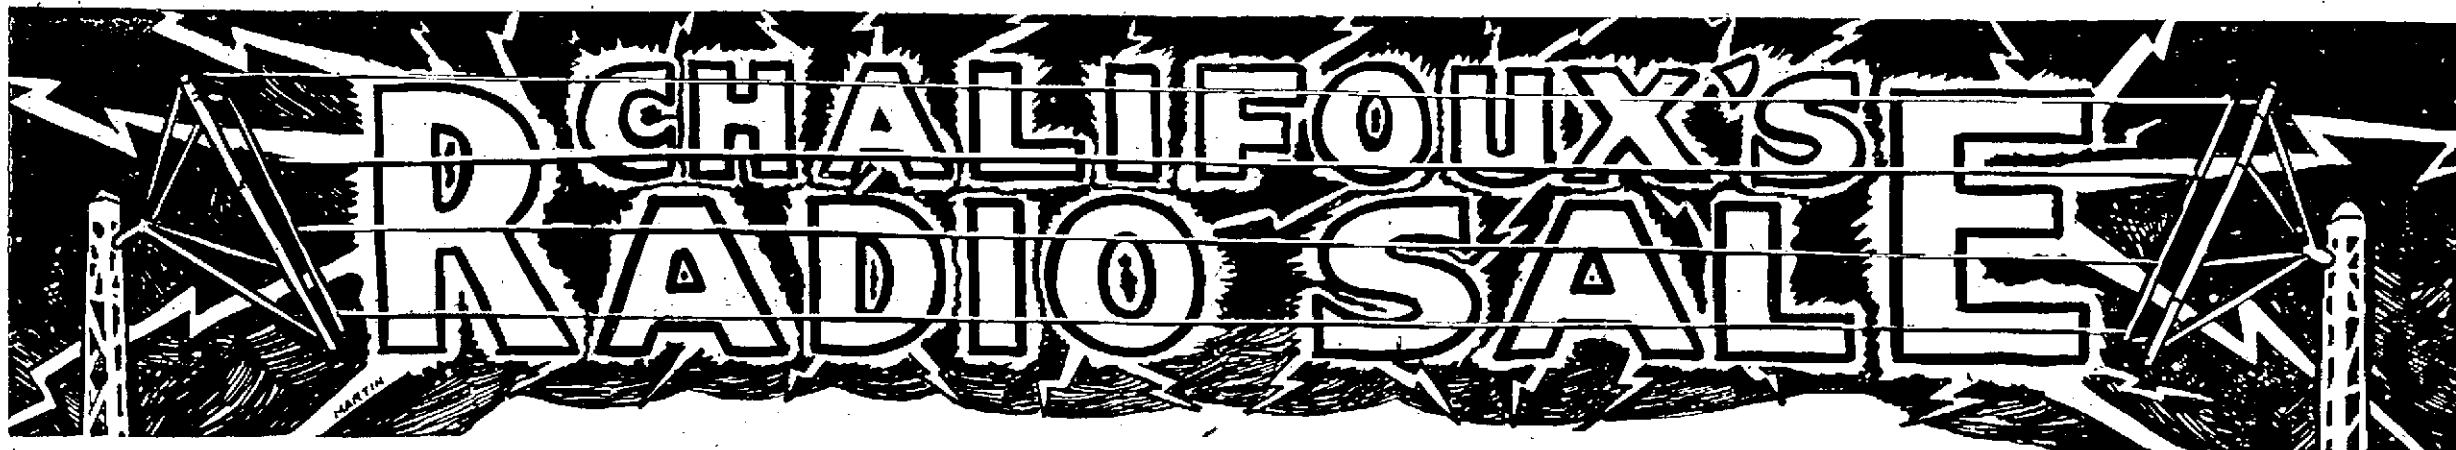

New Crisis

CHICAGO, July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Strike threats by maintenance of way employees overshadowed the last 10 days by the shopmen's strike, broke out again today, bringing the rail strike to a new crisis as it neared the end of its second week.

Fresh outbreaks of violence, notably in Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri, President Harding's determined steps to keep the mails moving and informal negotiations for a settlement of the shopmen's strike on 17 roads in the northwest, were among other important developments of the last 24 hours.

Pressure by many of his general chairmen upon E. F. Grabbe, president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way employees, and railway shop laborers, pushed the common labor problem to the front again. Mr. Grabbe's action in withholding strike orders after maintenance of way employees voted to join the walkout, did not please many of the organization's general chairmen, who passed on to

Capper Defends Direct Primary Against Harding's Criticism

BY HARRY B. HUNT
WASHINGTON, July 14.—Extension of the primary law, rather than its repeal, must be secured if popular government is to be perpetuated, says Senator Arthur Capper, republican of Kansas, head of the farm bloc and recognized as a national progressive leader. Evidence of a careful, systematic propaganda to undermine public confidence in state primary laws with a view to bringing about their repeal and a return to the selection of candidates by party conventions is seen under the recent criticism of primaries by President Harding, Secretary of War Weeks and Senator Watson of Indiana.

"I cannot go along with the president, Weeks and Watson," Capper declares. "Instead of abolishing or limiting the primary, it must be extended. I hope to see the day when nominations for president will be by popular primary. When that day comes, we shall be getting on toward a really popular government. The people must have more voice, not less voice, in their government and in the selection of men who make and administer the laws.

National Committee First

of recent primary elections in which the people have rejected 'organization' candidates and nominated men of their own choice, has upset them.

"They blame the system. Yet the fact that the primary gave the voters a chance to name their own choice instead of having a hand-picked organization candidate forced on them is the best possible endorsement of the primary principle.

"If the people are not to have a voice in the nomination of their candidates for office, why should they have a voice in their election.

"If popular elections are to stand, nominations by primary must stand. No other plan comes near to providing popular government.

Kansas An Example

"Take for instance my state before the time of state primaries. The conventions were dominated by the railroad, stockyard and liquor interests.

"These interests combined to control and did control the results in both republican and democratic conventions. They decided who the nominees should be in both parties.

"After that, the people could elect whichever nominee they choose. With their candidates hand-picked for them, they had no freedom of selection. Nominations for governors, legislators, even for supreme court justices, were directed by corporation influences, not by the free will of the people.

"Four times out of five, the primary is more important than the election. For in many states a minority party candidate has no chance whatever. The nominees of the majority party are assured of election.

"If the primary is eliminated, so the voter has no voice in the selection of his party's nominees, he has no voice in the election.

Fair for Poor Man

"It may be true there are times when a poor man is at a disadvantage under the primary system. But the nomination of Col. Smith Brookhart in Iowa as a candidate for United States senator shows a man can be nominated without spending large sums of money—if he has the people's confidence and they want him.

"Secretary Weeks, it seems to me, out-Holsheviked the Bolsheviks in declaring popular government a failure. 'With all the unrest and discontent now current, this is a poor time to talk about taking from the people their primaries. Rather, we should be studying how to extend them.

"Not less popular government but more popular government is what we need."

JAIL TERMS FOR ELOPING COUPLE

WORCESTER, July 14.—An elopement by a Natick man and a Saxonville woman had its denouement in Central district court in Worcester yesterday, when James J. Hanks of Natick and Mrs. Rose A. Kelton of Saxonville were each sentenced to serve six months in the Worcester house of correction on charges of misconduct.

Mrs. Catherine A. Hanks, wife of the man, told the court that her husband left her last October and that she had not seen him since until she saw him in the courtroom. Carl H. Kelton, husband of the woman, testified that his wife left their home last March, taking one of their three children with her and leaving two in his care.

James Keefe, superintendent of the Suncrest Farm in Auburn, testified that the defendants represented themselves as husband and wife when they went to work for him last spring and occupied the same apartments at the farm until it was discovered they were not married.

HERE'S A CHANCE FOR PRETTY MAIDS

PETROGRAD, July 14.—The sunshine of summer makes evident Russia's lack of baby carriages. There are no trim nurses wheeling babies along the park paths and only rarely is a perambulator seen at all. Thousands of babies, out for an airing, are carried in their mothers' arms. Occasionally one sees a semi-Oriental woman, from the steppes and Turkistan with their infants strapped across their backs, like American Indian papooses. Russian babies of the peasant type die by thousands in the hot summer and their tiny bodies know few or none of the cooling comforts of screened and shady porches. The use of ice for keeping milk, is practically unknown.

But thousands of the hardy little infants go wherever their mothers do: seem to sleep contentedly on their mothers' breasts in crowded box cars or under dripping eaves on rainy days when the parents lie like huddled bundles of rags in the shelter of buildings.

GIVE QUEEN SPAN OF HORSES AS GIFT

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 14.—Members of the local Jockey club recently assembled six splendid horses and asked Princess Marie, now Queen of Serbia, to select one as a wedding present. With the princess came her mother, Queen Marie of Rumania, and Elena, the younger daughter.

After seeing the horses, Princess Marie was unable to choose between two. "Well, let us present you the span," gallantly offered the members, and the offer was accepted.

Then, it was remembered that the day was the birthday of Princess Elena, and she was offered a horse, which she selected and accepted. Finally, it seemed ungrateful not to offer a horse to the queen, who is a splendid horsewoman, and this offer she accepted. Had the king been present, doubtless he would have been offered the remaining horses.

HOUSE BOATS ARE FAST DISAPPEARING

LONDON, July 15.—The flower-bedecked houseboats which American visitors to Hampton court, Henley and other places on the Thames were wont to admire are fast disappearing from the river.

The motor launch with a cabin capable of sleeping from two to four persons, is taking its place. In a matter of months the houseboat has been found too rustic. It is going the way of other Victorian ideas.

Twenty years ago one Chertsey firm used to build 14 new houseboats every year. Last year they built one. The demand now is for something that will move. Over 1000 motor launches are now running in the Thames Conservancy area alone.

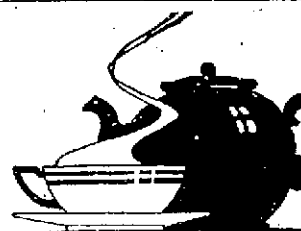

RECOMMENDS TRIAL OF AMERICAN TESTS

STOCKHOLM, July 14.—The Swedish general staff has recommended that the American army intelligence test be tried out in the Swedish army with a view of adopting it, should it prove practical and successful. It is proposed to experiment on three infantry regiments of recruits under the supervision of Professor G. A. Jaederholm of the University of Gothenburg.

To Every Fair-Minded Resident of Lowell

THE Boston Ice Cream Company has been MANUFACTURING and selling high quality ice cream in Lowell for over fifteen years.

During that time we have paid out many thousands of dollars to the city of Lowell and its citizens in taxes and wages. We have endeavored at all times to give Lowell the finest ice cream that it is possible to produce at a reasonable price.

That we have succeeded is attested to by the quantity of Boston Ice Cream Company's product consumed by discriminating residents of this city.

Our local plant is a Lowell institution—the ice cream produced is made by Lowell people for Lowell people. If our well-established business in other parts of the State helps us to attain an unusually high standard of quality in our product then Lowell has benefited accordingly.

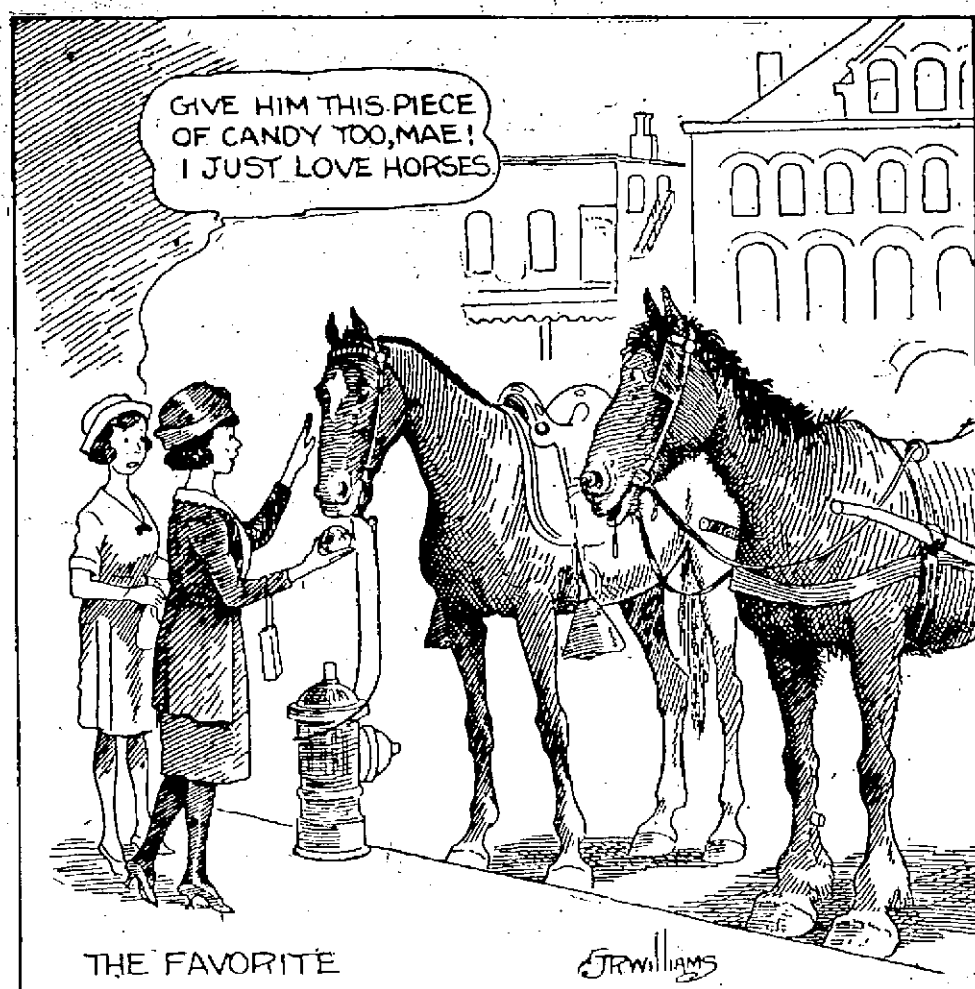

We feel that Lowell is out to give a square deal to every firm that selects its city as a place to do business. To do otherwise would mean industrial disaster for this progressive city. Therefore, while we cannot overlook the propaganda appearing in the newspapers regarding the purchase of ice cream, we are certain that it will accomplish nothing and that Lowell will continue to buy its ice cream on a basis of quality obtained.

We allow our ice cream to stand on its own two feet. It sells on its merit alone! Never have we found it necessary to employ unethical methods of obtaining business—we offer no premiums to the public; we hold out no inducement to you other than the pleasure to be enjoyed in a dish of pure high-grade delicious ice cream.

FREEDOM OF PRESS NEAR
IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, July 14.—Freedom of the press in Mexico is as near a reality now as has been recorded during the past half century, according to competent observers. Contrasted with the censorship days of Huerta and Carranza, editors and correspondents are enjoying almost unprecedented liberty, and President Obregon on several occasions has emphasized that newspapers and other publications are free to go as far as they like.

The newspapers Omega and Las Noticias, the former a weekly and the latter a daily, lead the opposition to the administration and the vindictiveness which they display in almost every issue would not have been tolerated for more than one day during the Carranza regime, for instance. The more substantial newspapers of the capital spare no ink now in telling the reading public wherein they think the Obregon regime is at fault and even rank misquotations of conversations with the chief executive are allowed to pass with only a mild protest.

Foreign correspondents are told that there is no cable or mail censorship and if there is, it is so strictly done that it has not yet been detected. President Obregon in one respect offers sharp contrast to his predecessor President Carranza. The present executive is much more approachable and has none of the aloofness of the former first chief. He receives newspapermen regularly every fortnight and local reporters, many of whom have been with him on campaign, feel no hesitation in calling Chapultepec Castle by telephone to converse with the president. The newspaper interviews are extremely informal affairs, the president sitting at a little table in the center of a circle of reporters and correspondents. Refreshments are served and quite frequently the president relaxes and tells lively stories.

AUDITOR WILL ASK

City Auditor Daniel E. Martin will seek an opinion from City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney as to the legality of the payment of bills presented for the Packard touring car bought by the mayor and the pair of trucks bought for the street department. Although local automobile dealers have unsuccessfully taken steps in the courts to block payment, the city council may take further steps in the matter and therefore, the auditor does not desire to authorize payment until so advised by the law department.

HOLLAND'S FRONTIER
ONCE MORE POPULAR

BERLIN, July 14.—Holland's frontier, made notorious during the war as a favorite exit from Germany for fugitive prisoners of war, is again coming into the limelight through the surreptitious crossing of young German girls anxious to get Dutch employment. It is estimated that Germany is already poorer by 20,000 female servants as a result of this practice.

With high wages and attractive working conditions, Holland has become something of a "promised land" for German females qualified as housemaids or cooks. Twenty to twenty-five guilders a month are paid beginners, while the more efficient receive from 40 to 50. Such pay means from 2000 to 5000 marks monthly at the present rate of exchange, about ten times more than help of this kind receives in Germany.

Amsterdam firms and dwellings have acquired about 5000 of the emigrants and there are about 3000 at The Hague. Most of them have been drawn from the Rhineland and Westphalia, where labor exchanges have been established at various places in co-operation with Dutch exchanges. Women's organizations in the western German provinces are actively opposing the exodus because of the shortage of help in households and on farms.

LIBERTY BELL MUST STAY AT HOME

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—Mayor Moore yesterday vetoed the city council resolution permitting the Liberty Bell to be taken to Chicago.

Technically, he said, the order conferred administrative powers upon the council, which it did not possess. He said further that while appreciating the patriotic benefits of trips of the bell, he felt that as custodian of the greatest of national relics, Philadelphia had a greater duty than that of stirring up patriotism.

If the trip to Chicago were approved it would set a precedent for other trips which could not well be refused, he said, thus endangering the bell.

BIG CROWDS AT PUBLIC BATH HOUSE

The sultry sun, pouring down on the city, drove many people to the municipal bath house yesterday, and the high water mark in attendance for this season was reached. There were so many people there that the swimming space was crowded, the beach jammed, and the bath house filled.

The crowds started pouring in as soon as the doors were opened in the morning at 11 o'clock, and they continued to come until the closing hour. Early in the morning the kiddies appeared and some of them came with their bathing suits already on. The diving raft was very popular all day, and the private beach for the girls reported a full attendance. The guards and instructors had their hands full with the large crowds and put in a busy day.

FOUNDING COLONIES
IN SOUTH RUSSIA

WARSAW, July 14.—Thousands of German ex-service men are founding colonies in South Russia, according to reports published here from Odessa. In the neighborhood of the latter city large tracts of "nationalized" land have already been taken up by these colonists at the invitation of the Bolshevik government. Within the next two years the soviet plan to establish 100,000 of these German colonists in South Russia.

Held in $10,000 on Robbery Charge

SALEM, July 14.—William B. Silva, Gloucester, was held in $10,000 for the grand jury in the first district court today, on a charge of highway robbery. On June 5, Cliff Boucher, a taxicab man was hired by Silva and another man to take them from Salem to Manchester. En route the two overpowered Boucher, bound and gagged him and robbed him of $200 and made off with his taxicab, which was found the next day abandoned near Ipswich. Silva was arrested a week ago in a Gloucester dance hall. The other man has not been apprehended.

May Delay Rebuilding of Shrine

QUEBEC, July 14.—The building of a temple at St. Anne de Beaupre to replace that destroyed by fire last March, may be delayed for several years, owing to the heavy losses sustained by the Redemptorist Fathers, whose destroyed properties were only insured for $140,000. The pilgrimages have not been affected by the destruction of the church, thousands of visitors from all over Canada and the United States having been cared for in the temporary edifice, constructed immediately after the fire.

Millions for New School Houses

BOSTON, July 14.—Thirty-eight new school buildings to cost more than $7,000,000, are now under construction throughout the state and 32 other schools to cost over $10,000,000 have been authorized, the state department of education reported today. The new schools will house 31,000 pupils.

The average salary of the state teachers during the last decade has increased 99 per cent, the department said.

HEIR TO MILLIONS IS CHARITY CHARGE

CHICAGO, July 14.—Anna Louisa Beers, 3 years old, heir apparent of a $3,550,500 estate, now cared for by a conservator, has been in a charity ward three months and has been clothed by the county for more than a year, according to testimony introduced a hearing yesterday in juvenile court.

The child is a granddaughter of Captain Edward Morrison, known as "the millionless millionaire," because he has not had control of his money for several years. The child's mother was adopted by Morrison years ago. It is said the mother recently had been in New York and was touring fashionable places.

THREE MAINE BOYS LOCKJAW VICTIMS

BANGOR, Me., July 14.—Two boy victims of Fourth of July accidents died of lockjaw yesterday. Frank, 10, son of Frank E. Foley, a patrolman on the Bangor police force, and George, 8-year-old son of George M. Maud of Hancock street, both were injured by fire crackers.

These make three lockjaw cases. Chester Benville, 7 years old, of Brewer, the victim of a toy pistol explosion at Topsham, having died Tuesday.

Walker yesterday, when he permanently enjoined Jersey City from interfering with the construction of the $12,000,000 vehicular tunnel beneath the Hudson river to join Manhattan and Jersey City.

A temporary injunction was issued a week ago, after it was alleged Jersey City police interfered with the construction of a power house for tunnel work, at a point in the Erie railroad yards. Local officials held a municipal building permit must be obtained before the tunnel could be built.

Since Jersey City is not a party to the tunnel contract, while its building code is subject to the power of the state to modify or annul it, the state overrode the code when it created the New Jersey bridge and tunnel commission, the chancellor maintained.

LIGHTNING HITS DEVENS

Six Men Stunned, a Number Shocked and Headquarters Set on Fire

CAMP DEVENS, July 14.—Six men were stunned by lightning and Brig. Gen. Edward L. Logan's headquarters were set on fire yesterday afternoon during one of the most severe electrical storms this camp has seen this year.

All of the men stunned are members of the 101st Infantry. Major Merrill F. Hosmer, the medical officer who attended them, said last night that none is in danger.

Privates Wilfred Holland and Alfred K. Foster, both of the Howitzer company, and both of Orange, and Private Harold W. Cook of Co. M, who lives at Adams, were in their barracks when the bolt struck. Holland and Cook were made unconscious.

Sergeant Arthur F. Nobles of Co. G, who comes from Springfield, and Corp. Alex Lowe of the same company and city, were under the shower bath, when the bolt struck. Both were stunned.

Capt. John C. Hackett, commander of Co. G, who also lives in Springfield, was at the field telephone in his office when the bolt struck. The shock toppled him from his chair and dazed him.

Gen. Logan was sitting at his headquarters with members of his staff during the storm. After a particularly terrific crash, the general remarked that the bolt must have struck nearby. He got up and walked to the end of the room to look out the window. As he passed the kitchen he saw flames bursting from the wall. He called to his officers and they all turned firemen, the general included. They threw water on the flames and quickly extinguished them.

The 101st Infantry area suffered less from the storm. One telephone operator felt a shock and arose from his switchboard with vivacity. The regimental tailor, who was engaged in pressing clothes with an electric iron, also felt the lightning and abandoned his work. Private Louis Deluca of 2d Battalion Headquarters, was knocked down by the shock and about 20 other men also felt it. But the storm brought great relief to the National Guard troops. The heat in the morning was almost as intense as that of the day before and several men abandoned their training because of weakness, though none was prostrated. The 1st Battalion of the 101st were on the rifle range at Cranberry Pond all day and some of them were feeling the heat terribly. One man was taken from the pits because he was showing signs of exhaustion.

The entire brigade is looking forward to tomorrow when the biggest military formation since the last review of the Yankee division will be staged for the benefit of the Adjutant General of the six New England states, Major Gen. Clarence R. Edwards and many visitors who have signified their intention of coming to camp.

Not only are all of the National Guard troops now here to be turned out, but the 600 odd regulars who are in camp are also to be reviewed by the National Guardsmen, the entire group operating as a division. They will maneuver under the command of Brig. Edward L. Logan.

TAUNTON MAYOR IS NOT SATISFIED

TAUNTON, July 14.—Clifton Sturges, a Boston architect, who during the past month has been making a survey of the school house situation in Taunton, with particular reference to the east Taunton district, has completed his work, and the report which he has submitted to Mayor Leo H. Coughlin was declared in a statement issued by the mayor yesterday to be unsatisfactory.

Mr. Sturges did make a complete survey of the situation at East Taunton and submitted two plans for the consideration of the city officials, a final action on which will be taken by the school committee.

However his supplementary report relative to the conditions in outside schools was not satisfactory to Mayor Coughlin and some members of the council, but Mr. Sturges in explanation stated that, owing to the great amount of time which he was forced to spend in the survey at East Taunton, he did not have the opportunity to make anything but a physical examination of some of the other school buildings of the city. He is to be paid $1000 for his work.

Danish girls who become engaged wear a plain gold ring on the third finger of their left hand, as soon as they are married they change the ring to the third finger of their right hand.

In New Holland the women cut themselves with shells and, keeping the wounds open a long time, form scars in the flesh which they deem very ornamental.

RINGS FIRE ALARM TO GET OUT QUORUM

DEDHAM, July 14.—The officials of the special town meeting held last night in Memorial Hall had the fire alarm sounded in order to secure a quorum. There were only 50 voters in the hall when the hour for the meeting arrived. Town Moderator George G. Darling, John K. Burgess, chairman of the board of selectmen, and Selectman William M. Browne put their heads together. Fire Chief Harrigan was ordered to ring in the alarm outside the hall.

The officials and the 50 voters awaited developments on the steps of the hall. In a short time the aroused voters came, on foot, in cars and on motorcycles. When they reached the square they saw no fire nor fire apparatus, but they did see 50 of their fellow-townsmen waving and calling to them from the steps of Memorial Hall.

Bombs of them left the square in disgust, and others went into the hall. Moderator Darling needed 100 votes. He counted in the janitor and the two policemen at the door. Then he established a time record for town meetings. It was all over in one minute 42 seconds. The meeting voted $11,400.00 to repair the old high school, which was struck by lightning in June, and $1310.56 for books and supplies to replace those destroyed.

M. I. T. GLIDERS GOING TO FRANCE

NEW YORK, July 14.—Revival of American interest in the aerial "glider" which dropped from prominence when the Wright brothers produced their first motor-driven plane, was predicted by the Aeronautical chamber of commerce of America yesterday, in announcing that three young Americans will sail for France Saturday with their newly designed glider to take part in the first international gliding contests to be held in August at Clermont-Ferrand.

The trio—Edmund T. Allen of Chicago, Harry C. Kueber of Mansfield, O., and Otto C. Koppen of Munroe, N. Y.—built their glider at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where they are students.

On June 12, Allen tested it at Ipswich, rising from a 60-foot elevation in a 15-mile headwind. Altogether, five successful flights were made. It reached a maximum elevation of 20 feet and advanced a maximum distance, in one flight, of 200 feet.

As the result of these trials, the young men, with assistance of other aeronautical students at Cambridge, redesigned the glider into what they believe is the most efficient type yet produced. The frail little aircraft has a span of 24 feet, a wing width of 4 feet 8 inches, and measures 18 feet overall. It is of spruce and fabric construction and weighs only 80 pounds.

GETS TERRIFIC SHOCK BUT STILL LIVES

WESTFIELD, July 14.—Edward Sadowsky, 9, was fatally burned by the heat from a high tension electric wire of the Turners Falls Power company at the top of a 150-foot steel tower of Pochassie street, yesterday morning. The wire carried 66,000 volts. The boy was taken to Noble hospital, where it was stated he has no chance of recovery.

With two others, he had climbed to the top of the tower. The Sadowsky boy got too close to the high tension wire. His clothes caught fire, and he was soon a living torch. The upper part of his body was terribly burned before the power was shut off. The attention of residents near the scene of the accident was called to the lad's predicament when they heard a loud report and screams and saw smoke issuing from the burning clothes of the boy.

Edward was seated on the topmost platform of the tower. When the power was shut off he staggered to his feet. He was taken from the tower by Irving Taylor, an employee of the power company, and he was able to walk, but upon reaching the hospital he became unconscious.

LARGE AMOUNT OF WAR FUNDS GONE

CHICAGO, July 14.—The alleged disappearance of $100,000 of funds collected in Chicago in various drives for disabled war veterans was reported to the state attorney's office by Mrs. Anna Hoganson and a number of the women who maintain in the County building, a bureau for the relief of veterans.

Mrs. Hoganson conferred with Asst. State's Atty. Edgar A. Jones, who suggested that the women should request Attorney Marquis Eaton, general counsel for the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross to file a bill of accounting against the various promoters of benefits and drives. He promised that if it developed there had been anything criminal in the administration of the funds, indictments and prosecution would follow.

DESERTERS RETURNING TO VOLGA NOW

SARATOFF, Russia, July 14.—Thin but sunburned little groups of ragged children and adults who fled from the hunger-death of the Volga last autumn to provinces that promised bread, are now trekking back to the homes they deserted.

Daily they arrive at Saratoff, Samara, Kazan and other railway junction points in the famine belt. Some of them are in worse shape than when they departed. They found other provinces inhospitable and food scarce everywhere.

Many of the returning wanderers are being fed at American relief administration food kitchens. Others are struggling on as best they can until the September harvest.

EUROPE INCREASES ORE CONSUMPTION

STOCKHOLM, July 14.—Europe has increased its consumption of Swedish iron ore, a fact taken here to indicate that European industries are on the mend.

The biggest iron ore mining firm in Sweden, the Grängesberg Oxelösund company has exported through Narvik in 1922, 250,000 more tons of iron ore than during the same period of 1921. In May alone of this year, Narvik cleared 500,000 tons of iron ore, breaking all previous records.

The principal buyers of Swedish iron ore are England, Belgium, Germany and the countries of Central Europe.

THE STRAND
Garret Hubbs in "Little Eva Ascends" and William Russell in "Desert Blossoms" are the features on The Strand program for the week-end. Both are high-class photoplays and must be seen to be appreciated to their fullest. One is a delightful comedy drama that has more laughs in it than could be counted, while the Russell picture is highly dramatic and has sufficient vigor and thrills to satisfy all. It's always cool, comfortable and healthful here.

MILL HAZARDS AND
HOW TO AVOID THEMIssued by the
Massachusetts Safety Council

BY T. B. HITCHCOCK

Textile manufacturing methods 175 years ago were inconceivably crude. Cotton bolls had to be separated from its seed by hand, at the rate perhaps of three or four pounds a person per day; such carding as was necessary was done by rubbing the stock between two boards (cards) covered with wires, and held one in each hand; the hand-turned spinning wheel formed it into yarn, and the hand-loom wove the cloth.

At that time England used not more than four million pounds of cotton in a year, about the amount of yarn that 20,000 modern spindles produce in the same time.

The 75 years between 1750 and 1825 saw the invention and rapid development of automatic machinery. The gin, the revolving card, the spinning jenny, the throstle frame, the mule, possibly so called because it is something of a cross between these last two, and the power-loom were all conceived during this period and made possible the factory system of today, with its high-speed machinery, acres of floor space and its thousands of operatives in a single establishment.

With these developments came also, unfortunately, accidents causing loss of wages, suffering, sometimes permanent disability. How best to combat them is a problem that now confronts every manufacturing community.

When one of your chums has been hurt in the mill, have you ever stopped to think how it happened, how it might have been avoided? Run over in your mind, right now, some accidents you know about and work out one or two rules for your own guidance so that you will never get caught in the same way.

Let one of your general rules be: "Play safe; know what you are doing." Be sure that you know your machine. If you are taken off one you have run for a long time and given another, look it over carefully and see if it is at all different. Even if it is the same make of frame you are used to, it may be an older or a later pattern with some slight differences that may confuse you until you have run it for a while. Notice particularly whether the gears are arranged in the same way and are as well guarded by their covers.

One cannot refer to the dangerous possibilities of gears without mentioning the evil practice of cleaning running machinery. This combination causes more loss of time and of wages than anything else.

Constant cleaning, of course, is in some degree necessary in any textile mill, but mill rules allow part of it to be deferred until the power is down at the end of the week, or set aside a few minutes each day for stopping individual machines so as to clean the more dangerous parts in safety.

If you are at all in doubt as to just what you should or should not do, and the proper time for doing it, get your boss to show you and then play the game strictly according to rules. Those who try to get off a few more hanks, by keeping their frames running while cleaning contrary to the rules are taking a chance of losing from injuries much more than they can possibly gain in a good many hours.

When cleaning near running parts, use your brush or hook. Never use hard waste, for the threads may catch and draw your fingers into the gears. Watch out particularly for gears or other parts that have an irregular motion such as the skip (or twin) gears and the bolder dog of roving frames. These change their position so suddenly that a finger is sure to be caught if it is in their path.

Bolts, bands and pulleys take their toll from people who are too familiar with them. If you use your hand to run on a belt or band, be sure that the end of your sleeve does not get caught. Sometimes a person will try to guide a belt onto a pulley by putting his foot against it. Here again look out for your clothes. Above all be wary about reaching your arm through a belt.

Weighted winding rolls and drums deserve care and respect. Very serious accidents occur when starting pickers laps, simply because the weights are run down before the end of the lap catches under the winding roll. See that the lap is well started and your hands are in the clear before applying the weights.

In the same way hands are frequently caught and badly jammed between the spool and drums of the silver and ribbon lap machines. In starting new laps, it is natural to tuck the end of the lap down with the hand but if it is simply thrown over the spool and given time, it will catch of itself. If you want quicker action, however, use a flat piece of wood as a presser.

Not many mill workers think of shafting as particularly dangerous. Line shafting, of course, is well out of the reach of most workers but the undershaft of the drawing frame and short lengths of shafting on other machines are not. Most of them look good and smooth and harmless.

Yet those who study accidents in all kinds of industries know that many workers are badly maimed every year because some part of their clothing becomes caught on the revolving shaft.

One of the most recent accidents of this kind occurred to a drawing frame tender in a Massachusetts cotton mill. She was cleaning underneath her frame and used her apron to wipe the lint from the bottom shaft. The apron caught on the shaft, wrapped around her thumb and pulled it off before anyone could stop the frame. The small diameter of a shaft gives it a tremendous power so that once it catches one's clothing about the only chance of escape lies in the weakness of the cloth.

As a good citizen it is up to you to keep accidents down to a minimum. Look out for the other fellow who is careless and value a row if you see him doing anything that endangers your life or someone else's. (Tomorrow: "Dangerous Belts and Shafting.")

O. S. U. $1,000,000 STADIUM

The new stadium of Ohio State University will be the largest, costliest and most complete of any athletic field in the world. Unlike most present day "bowls," it is left open at one end, a horse shoe shape. Engineers learned this trick of ventilation when they found that the famous "Yale Bowl" was five per cent warmer on the playing field than at the crest of the stadium. Another added feature is the cinder running path provided underneath the stands.

dged lawyer and wins an acquittal when his brother is tried.

All of that comprises a story that would gain force by its very simplicity. Elaborated by a sentimental introduction, flashes of symbolism and a hifalutin title, it becomes just one movie among hundreds.

Speaking of simplicity of treatment, consider a feature of the next Pathe Review. It is called "Foot-Hers 'n' Hiss'n." The varying stages of a love affair are shown simply by two pairs of feet, one masculine, the other feminine. Only the feet and ankles are recorded by the camera, but that is sufficient to show the man waiting for the girl to appear, the quarrel, the separation, the reconciliation and the wedding.

Such instances as these illustrate the force of simplicity. One of the biggest thrills in "Foolish Wives" was a scene that showed only the whoofs of fire horses as they pounded their way to the fire.

"In the Name of the Law" Lacks Form

ELLA HALL, HEROINE OF "IN THE NAME OF THE LAW," HER FIRST MOVIE IN THREE YEARS. RALPH LEWIS AND CLAIR McOWELL HAVE THE ROLES OF FATHER AND MOTHER.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, July 14.—Pictures have lately shown improvement in story worth because directors and scenarists have put human limitations on their screen characters.

Thus heroes of the screen are no more magnanimous than heroes of real life, and villains no more nefarious and perfidious than their living prototypes. This balancing of attributes lends human realism to filmed characters.

Another limitation directors and creators of screen stories must recognize is that of the motion picture as a medium of expression. Inclinations of the camera have been little considered in the selection of literary works for transposition to the screen. Forsooth, few of those who write directly for the screen have a definite idea of the limitations of a motion picture in telling its story.

This gives rise to those peculiar admixtures of symbolism, subtleties, unnecessary characterizations and extraneous action so often seen by the movie patron.

In this latter classification falls "In the Name of the Law." As pictures go, that is a good picture, but it readily serves as a case in point. It possesses no unity of action, theme and treatment because the director and scenarist have had no definite idea of the limitation of a photographed story.

It opens with several yards of subtleties which sound all right but mean nothing. Occasionally action is interrupted by flashes of clouds sweeping across the sun. That, probably, symbolical of a crisis approaching or surmounting.

Reduced to its simple elements "In the Name of the Law" is a story of the vicissitudes of a policeman's family. It tells of the sacrifice of a father and mother for two sons and an adopted daughter.

The son at college is falsely accused of stealing money. The father blames the mother for this situation, because she has encouraged the boy to gain an education. The mother withdraws money from the bank to go to the aid of her son.

The younger son works at the bank as a teller. The adopted daughter is secretary to the cashier. They innocently become involved in difficulties in trying to raise funds to relieve the older son.

The situation becomes more involved when the father, mistaking the younger son for a bank robber, shoots him. The college son comes home a full-

WOMAN FOR CONGRESS

Massachusetts May Have First Woman in East at Washington

Massachusetts may have the first woman congressman in the east. Miss Lily F. Darcy, of New Bedford, whose Washington berth as secretary to Congressman Joseph Walsh will be terminated when Mr. Walsh takes up the judgeship to which Gov. Cox has appointed him, is known to have fondness for the capital, and she is expected to enter the lists and make a fight to succeed to the position of her employer. Like a good politician, Miss Darcy says nothing—yet.

The first woman to be appointed secretary to a Massachusetts congressman, Miss Darcy has since 1917 handled a man-size job. Regarding her success at the task, it is significant that after watching the experiment three other Massachusetts congressmen now have women for their private secretaries—positions formerly thought exclusively for men.

Miss Darcy got her political grounding in New Bedford, where the game was played and keenly as anywhere in the state. There she was assistant clerk of committees of the city council for seven years, and until she went to Washington she had been recording clerk of the common council since the office was established.

It was noted in New Bedford that Miss Darcy made hundreds of friends through her political work, and in Washington they say "it is difficult to recall anyone who has as wide a Washington acquaintance."

Her work as secretary to Congressman Walsh required social ability, diplomacy, and a profound knowledge of politics, all of which qualities were displayed by Miss Darcy. At least, none of her prospective opponents deny that she knows the game. Representative Walsh has been a republican leader in the house, and few men have been so constant in attendance at sessions as he. As a result, much more than ordinary routine work has fallen to the lot of Miss Darcy.

During the war, particularly, was she kept active. Problems regarding war risk insurance, allotments, loss of equipment and regarding wounded and missing men were put up to Congressman Walsh by his constituents, and were taken care of by Miss Darcy while the representative was on the floor of the house.

Occasionally she has had time to dip into the social whirl and usually she has the opportunity to attend official functions and social affairs. She was one of the few outsiders invited to the exercises at Trinity college when Cardinal Gibbons consecrated the degree of nobility on Queen Elizabeth of Belgium.

Miss Darcy met Lady Astor recently when she was in Washington. This meeting may affect her decision regarding the running for the office of representative, for it is said that Lady Astor advised her to become a candidate if the opportunity ever offered.

Miss Darcy says that women as a whole take politics more seriously than men, and seek to be as well informed as possible regarding candidates and issues. She said that at the Pan-American conference of women in Baltimore she met a dozen or more women who would soon be recognized as capable leaders were they in congress.

Miss Darcy is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Darcy of 115 Grinnell street, New Bedford, and niece of John Hannigan of the board of assessors. She lived in New Bedford practically all her life until she went to Washington. She was graduated from the Fifth Street school and entered the office of Abbott P. Smith, studying stenography evenings.

She became expert at stenography and stood at the head of the civil service lists. She was official stenographer for the park board, police and fire investigations.

Until she went away Miss Darcy was active in the social life of St. James church and of the Elks and Knights of Columbus. She was treasurer of St. James auxiliary, Red Cross, and taught evenings in the Robert C. Ingraham evening school.

their chief the persistent demands of the rank and file for concerted action. Mr. Grabie arrived in Chicago while threats to disregard his refusal to join the walkout came from within his organization. The general chairman, he asserted, had no authority to call a strike, and he indicated an intention to remain firm in his refusal to sanction a strike.

The maintenance men's chief declared that no special significance was attached to his midnight conference last night with E. M. Jewell, the shopmen's strike leader. Mr. Grabie stopped in Chicago on his return from Kansas City after conferences with his chairman there, and asserted that he had no further grievances at present to take before the United States Railroad Labor board. Mediations by whose chairman, Ben W. Hooper, and W. L. McMenimen, one of the three labor members, prevented the threatened July walkout by maintenance men.

Having Difficulty

Mr. Grabie admitted that he was with difficulty holding his men in line. Many maintenance employees who reluctantly remained at work when the shopmen's walkout occurred July 1, since have joined the strike.

The new crisis caused by threats from the maintenance men arrived as peace moves to end the shopmen's strike had apparently slowed up materially except for conferences at St. Paul, which lent the only hopeful air to the situation.

The initial St. Paul conference between P. A. Hennings, chairman of the Federated Shop Crafts of the Northwestern district, and rail officials, brought no definite results, but both sides admitted that negotiations had advanced to a stage that gave promise of a settlement of the strike on the 17 roads of the northwestern group. Mr. Hennings went so far as to assert that he believed it was entirely possible to settle the strike on a national basis within 48 hours. Before entering the St. Paul negotiations, Mr. Hennings conferred with Mr. Jewell, who had asserted that it was upon a national basis only, and through direct negotiations with the roads that the shopmen's strike could be ended.

Makes New Plans

Chairman Hooper, of the Labor board, who announced formulation of new plans for ending the strike, was closely watched for his next move for peace.

Meanwhile disturbances in connection with the strike continued. In Texas, which became a focus of interest when Gov. Neff expressed reluctance to call out state troops to protect government property at the Danison, Tex., terminal of the Katy lines, use of federal troops was indicated should force become necessary. A federal injunction was granted by the Southern Pacific at San Francisco and restraining orders were issued to the Erie system at Fort Smith, Ark., and to the Chicago and Eastern Illinois and the Toledo, St. Louis & Western at East St. Louis.

Federal Judge Holmes, at Hattiesburg, Miss., denied a petition for injunction filed by the Mississippi Central on the grounds that the petition should be taken to the state courts because the matters complained of were local.

Strike orders went out to clerks on the Chesapeake & Ohio, according to reports from Richmond, Va., while clerks, station employees and freight handlers on the Big Four began a strike vote.

One hundred and three striking shopmen, including many leaders, were summoned to appear in federal court July 17, in connection with injunctions granted the Louisville & Nashville and the Southern Pacific railroads.

Ten departments of the Santa Fe shops at Topeka, Kas., operated with full forces, according to company officials, and Superintendent W. D. Devany declared that at the rate applications for jobs were coming in, all departments would be full in a few days.

MR. WALKER'S STATEMENT

The statement issued a few days ago by Hon. Joseph Walker, candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator, is one that cannot fail to bring comfort and encouragement to the democratic candidates for the nomination. Mr. Walker admits that he is overrun with offers of support from dissatisfied republicans showing a widespread sentiment against the policies and leadership of Senator Lodge. Evidently the ex-spectator is a shrewd campaigner, as he is mobilizing all the dissident elements in the party in this state and is determined to make a vigorous fight for the nomination from now until the date of the primaries in September. But the part of Mr. Walker's statement in which he expresses doubt as to the possibility of Senator Lodge's re-election is of special interest. It is as follows:

"Finally, I am told by strong partisan republicans, including a recent chairman of the republican state committee, that they do not believe that it is possible to elect an old guard republican in Massachusetts. They point to the fact that Mr. Weeks was defeated by Mr. Walsh, that Mr. Lodge was nearly defeated by Mr. Fitzgerald six years ago, even though Mr. Fitzgerald threw up his hands in the midst of the fight. These republicans frankly say that only a progressive, forward looking republican can hold the independent vote, so necessary to assure election. As a reactionary republican cannot be elected, the real choice lies between another democratic senator and a forward looking republican senator. If such a republican is not nominated, Massachusetts will be represented by two democratic senators. Such is the line of thought of many republicans who for that reason have offered me their support."

If there be any truth in that statement, it should cause the democrats to grasp the opportunity by putting up a strong candidate who will appeal to the discontented republicans. Despite Mr. Walker's appeals we believe fight will be between him and the democratic candidate. If the latter can command the support of his own party and a fair share of the independent republican vote, he should be elected.

A SHINING GOAL

The Sun is informed that a national seal sale quota of $5,000,000 was by unanimous consent established at a meeting of representatives of state tuberculosis associations at the recent Washington conference. This goal was set on the ground that this amount of money is considered necessary to finance national, state and local work for the year 1923. During the past two years, due to a depression measure to universal financial depression, there has been a falling off of approximately $500,000 from the $1,200,000 realized from the seal sale of 1921. This shrinkage, we are informed, has very seriously cramped the budget of the National Tuberculosis association and has actually caused a cessation of activities in some of the so-called "weaker states." With the retarding tide of prosperity it should be possible to raise this amount fixed.

We are glad to note that the old Bay State did not wait for an urgent summons from the Washington conference to increase its seal sale. It has been decided to hold sectional seal sale institutes during the early fall for the benefit of the workers. It is also planned to hold an intensive seal sale institute in connection with the New England conference in Maine in September, which should be of real value to all the New England districts.

Lowell philanthropy has never been found wanting, and drives of this kind generally meet with good success in this section of Middlesex county. The cause of the tuberculosis leaguers is well worth intensive support at all times. A feature of interest to all contributors anxious to "know where the money goes" is the elaborate financial statement issued at the end of each fiscal year, which is worth reading and indicates successful work on the part of the experts who are fighting this dread disease throughout the state.

FIXING THE STYLES

Louis Rolin, secretary of the American Clothing Dealers' association, states that styles are always adjusted to the national state of mind; and that the "razz" styles are passing because of a change in the mental condition of the people towards quiet moderation and sanity. Most people believe, however, that the styles are set by clothing dictators, and as the men in a boarding house is set by the housekeeper and the boarders have to take what is set before them.

One of the factors that fix the styles both for men and women is the effort of manufacturers to produce something that will appeal to the wealthy or to the upper ten, and then the masses follow in accordance with their fixed habit of imitation. Let the king wear the most freakish outfit and others aping royalty will follow the example; but where we have no king, the different grades of society follow and imitate those immediately above them. Thus the styles become fixed until the standard is again smashed by something produced by designers and manufacturers for the delectation of the ultra stylish who want to have something different from what is worn by the common people.

FOOD AND FASTING

At Neda, Ky., William Rice has been fasting since July 6. He says he is acting on orders from heaven. Figure up the days he has been on his hunger strike and you suspect that he walks in his sleep to the pantry. Almost anyone, however, can fast for a fortnight, we are told, with no bad effects except losing weight and becoming weak. Personally we want to see the other fellow do the fasting, as a skip of one meal is our limit. The body has stored up in it a big supply of reserve fuel. When "feeling punk," skip a meal and fall back on your reserve energy. If, however, the reserve is used up, the needed fuel must be supplied or the system will cease to function.

Over-eating, insufficient exercise and lack of sleep cause most bad health. Yet fasting is not the road to good health; it is all a matter of avoiding the extremes of "too little" and "too much."

A HOMELAND SHRINE

Memorials to our war dead are constantly increasing. Both in the homeland and across seas. Next Armistice day a large white marble cross of simple design will be unveiled in Arlington National cemetery, dedicated to the memory of the nation's dead who remain sleeping in the soil of France. The site designated by the war department is among the graves of those who fell in the great war and is not very far from the memorial amphitheatre, before which the body of the unknown soldier was laid to rest on last Armistice day. Of more than 30,000 crosses in the fields of France, the plain white cross at Arlington will be the American symbol of a homeland shrine and a national memorial.

The cost of this memorial is to be about $2500, and an opportunity is given to all citizens to contribute small amounts of money toward the fund.

EFFECTS OF HOUGH

That the Danvers insane asylum reports an increase of 68 per cent of alcoholic patients in 1921 over the number in 1920 is not comforting; but it should be brought to the attention of the public as showing the deleterious mental effects of drinking moonshine, Jamaica ginger, home brewed wine and hard cider, which are set down by the officials as the beverages that were used by most of the inmates. In an institution for the blind there is also an increase in the number of inmates because of the number whose sight has been destroyed by poisonous substitutes for whiskey.

There is one inference to be drawn from these facts which is that it is best to avoid drinking any of the substitutes for beer or whiskey.

BUSINESS BAROMETER

Times are steadily becoming better. You see this indicated in the old reliable barometer, pig iron production.

In June, 236 tons of pig iron were turned out by the furnaces for each 80 tons in July, 1921. The gain is enormous. Best of all, it is not a seasonal overnight recovery. Instead, it is the result of a steady climb that has been going on for 11 months. Slow recovery is apt to be permanent. A sick man who gets on his feet too soon usually has a relapse and goes back to bed. We shall escape any danger of relapse after our slow recovery.

WALKING

Riding in autos, trains, street cars and elevators is weakening to our legs. At the national convalescent convention in Los Angeles, Dr. R. Kendall Smith sounded a note of warning that lack of exercise puts man in danger of losing the power to walk. Certainly we are traveling a path that in a few generations will make our legs a puny and weak. Of what use, though, are legs if we are to remain in a mechanical-inconclusion hazy? From the health side, however, civilized man is defeating himself. Most people ride too much and walk too little.

BEATING DEPRESSION

Business was bad everywhere in 1921, but Fred P. Mann sold $500,000 worth of merchandise in Des Moines, Ia., D. A. town of 8000 population.

"Advertising built my business for me," he says, "and my aim today is to build in newspaper advertising the mail order houses which flood my district with clientele."

There is always plenty of business for the man who goes after it. Depression, usually the result of tightness, applies to the individual as well as to the nation in general.

ANOTHER WAGE CUT

Another wage cut comes to complicate the local labor situation. The strike, the weapon of last resort for the operatives, has not accomplished much in any of the New England states; and this fact makes the question of extending the conflict, one that should not be favored without the most serious consideration of the probable consequences.

It is quite plain that no Public Service board can do business as required by the city charter without having to face Mayor Brown's opposition at every step. If the board does well, he wants the credit; if it makes mistakes, he incolates them and he insists more work and better work would be done by following his orders, all of which is sheer political bunk.

Councillors, of course, have a right to vote as they please, whether that be right or wrong; but the man who can't see the difference between right and wrong is almost as hopeless as he who sees the right and votes the other way.

Just it early for the mayor to start the political stunts to impress the voters with his burning zeal for his brand of "efficiency."

SEEN AND HEARD

"People get better every day," says a preacher. What of the nights?

Funny things happen. One day last week everybody in Hollywood was alive.

The congestion in Dutton street doesn't quite seem to warrant the closing of Worthen.

You can't do much without capital and you can't do much with capital.

The delays experienced by autoists, taxicab drivers and pedestrians at the Middlesex and Fletcher street crossings are annoying, to say the least.

Cause For Litter

"The bride declares she is going to sue the Daily Dope for libel." "Why, what has it said about her?" "O, in describing the wedding it said she swept up the aisle, and, of course, since her father made his money she's never swept anything."

Little Did He Suspect

A young lady, on being introduced to an eminent astronomer, expressed her regret that she had missed his lecture the evening before. "O, I don't think it would have interested you," said he; "it was all about soap." "Was it really?" she replied. "Then it would have greatly interested me, for between you and me, sir, I have been a martyr to freckles all my life."—Philadelphia Record.

Was Never Blamed

Bide Dudley, the mild-mannered humorist, was one of the speakers at a dinner. He began by remarking that he did not fear to face huge audiences, as he had never been blazed in his life. "Just the other day," he said, "I was the third speaker at a banquet. The first speaker got up, and after his speech was finished, the second met a like fate. I confess I was distressed, but I worked up my courage, and spoke. My talk finished, the audience began hissing the first two speakers all over again."

An Early Marriage

George Ade, at a dinner in Chicago, championed early marriage. "But I don't champion it," he said. "Such people-day marriage as Henry Lytton, the great Savoyard, went in for. Lytton at the age of 16 played truant from school and got married to Louise Henri, who was even younger than himself. In the evening of the wedding day, when Lytton returned to his studies, the headmaster rolled back his cuffs, chased a good name and proceeded to visit congenial punishment on the truant. 'Hold on!' young Lytton roared. 'You can't thrash me like this! Do you know what you're doing? You're thrashing a married man!'"—Detroit Free Press.

Very Simple

In a lecture on memories Dr. Clarence P. Ramsey of Chicago said: "There are many queer kinds of memory. I remember a question. There is even an fantastic method of memorization based on the principle of opening and shutting the pores—how-ever that is done. But just the other day I heard of a new method. A man went into a cheap restaurant and asked for a bill of fare. The waiter said: 'We ain't got none, boss, but I can rattle off the grub for you.' Good as his word, the waiter rattled off a list of dishes several yards long. The man was lost in astonishment. 'You must employ a memory system. How on earth do you remember all that?' That's easy," said the waiter, "no system at all, boss. I just looks at the tablecloth."

A One-Man War

William G. McAdoo, war-time secretary of the treasury, felt lonesome when he stood on the platform to address the conference of bar associations at Memorial Continental hall. He was as lonesome, standing on that platform, as was a certain soldier upon a certain battlefield of France. Mr. McAdoo said: "This soldier was a speedy runner. He and his mates had been anticipating the day when they would go over the top, and at last the hour came. They went over, but for a considerable distance into the field all was silence. There was no indication of any enemy. This youth made remarkable progress, so much so that soon he had outdistanced all his comrades, but without noticing it. Then suddenly shells began to burst to his right and left. He looked around. As far as he could see he was the only one in a great expanse. 'Good Lord,' he exclaimed, 'I ain't nobody in dis wah but me!'"—Washington Star.

Humidity

Now underwear, though very thin, is firmly glued into one's skin.

And collars wilt on every one.

And seem to weigh a half a ton.

And every vest, and every coat, must surely get the wearers goat.

Now postage stamps none have to lick.

And everything is full of stick.

Now perspiration rules the day, from it there is no getaway.

And no one cares for lunches nice, one's satisfied to feed on ice.

The air is full of burning steam, it's for three bushels of ice cream!

Hard is the fate of any man away from an electric fan.

And sleep is put upon the blink, just pitch and toss without a wink.

And if the weather man is right, there's no relief as yet in sight.

And so we must continue to feel as if we were dipped in stew.

And oh this pea-soup atmosphere it sets the whole town by the ear.

We grovel and blink, but what's the use? We feel it dipped in sticky juice.

Let's do our best till weather man humidity puts in a can.

—TOM W. JACKSON, in Brooklyn Standard Union.

HEARING POSTPONED

A postponement until July 17 has been announced in the case set for a hearing today in a civil action of district court before a district court judge, in which Michael J. Brady, a former engineer at the city ledge, seeks reinstatement, alleging that discharge by former Superintendent Doherty was illegal.

TO REMY POST

BRIDGEWATER, July 14.—Captain HENRY M. BRACKSTONE will resign as superintendent of the State Farm on July 15. It was announced today. He has held the position 25 years.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Despite newspaper publicity, many prospective bargain hunters were fooled yesterday by the closing of downtown stores. Many people are accustomed to do their shopping on a Thursday morning and yesterday was no exception to the rule as far as they were concerned. The humidity of the day proved a thirst amplifier, but the drug stores were also closed and many were disappointed with. No fault-finding was in evidence, however, when people were informed of the fact that yesterday was the clerks' annual holiday, the only extra holiday throughout the long year. A peculiar thing about the clerks' off-day is the fact that rain has made its appearance at some time during the day for the past several years. The usual downpour came yesterday and made an unpleasant ending to what was hoped would be a whole day of real enjoyment.

I have heard many complimentary remarks concerning Mayor Lawrence E. Quigley of Chelsea, who gave a very interesting talk before the delegates of the Massachusetts Public School Janitors' association Wednesday evening. Mayor Quigley is reputed to be the youngest mayor in the state, but judging from the general comment, he is no novice as far as municipal affairs are concerned. He is also an accomplished orator and made a big hit with his audience on that evening. Through his efforts the extension of the association will be held in Chelsea, which the mayor boasted so highly and in such an intelligent and impressive manner. It is no wonder that a man of his caliber should be elected to the highest office within the gift of his fellow-citizens, as he has conducted himself on all occasions as a booster for a city that is justly proud of his administration.

The Ukrainian National Chorus, which has been called a human symphony orchestra, is to be brought to this country in the fall by Max Feinberg, former proprietor of the Boston Grand Opera company, and of the Ballet Russe. This chorus is expected to bring a new form of art to America and should make just as much of a sensation as the Ballet Russe. The pieces are blended in such a way that they seem to resemble flutes in their clearness of tone. Mr. Koshetz, the director, really creates a composition by his wonderful direction and artistic blending of voices. The theme of their songs varies from the stories of great wars and heroes down to the neighborly gossip of the villages.

Mrs. Kate Conley for 21 years has been scrubbing floors in the Massachusetts state house. During that time, she never had a vacation. Now she gets one for two weeks, and she says she will spend it scrubbing and cooking in her own home, with one day's outing "at the beach." As you get this interesting glimpse into one human life, you compare your lot with Kate Conley's. The door closes.

I noticed an interesting industry on wheels around town the other day. Two men, hailing from Newark, were traveling around the country in a machine doing repair work on the butcher blocks of the markets of the cities they passed through. A large plane on a swinging crane, and several emery wheels connected by pulleys, were mounted in the body of the truck. These machines were used for leveling the top surface of the blocks and power was furnished to run them by a gasoline engine. The men travel continuously in this machine and use it as living quarters. They had two hammocks which could be suspended from the sides of the body of the car and used for sleeping quarters.

GAS MANAGERS ELECT COONEY PRESIDENT

At a meeting of the newly formed association of gas managers, held in the Engineers club of Boston Wednesday evening, Edward J. Cooney, the advertising manager of the Lowell Gas company and head of the Lowell Ad club "scholarship circle," was elected president.

An intensive course of two weeks is being held in the Institute of Technology for the further information of the men in the manufacture and distribution of gas to industries. Practical and technical sides alike are being studied.

The superintendent of the local plant, C. R. Pritchard, is a member of the advisory board of the organization.

SENATE TAKES UP DYE EMBARGO PROVISION

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The senate turned to the dye embargo provision of the tariff bill today, putting aside the cotton schedule with prospects of a vigorous fight before the embargo section is finally settled. Under announced plan it will be held before the senate continuously until disposed of, probably some time next week. Senator Moses of New Hampshire was prepared to lead the republican opponents of the provision and Senator King, Utah, will make the principal arguments for the democrats in opposition.

ATTEMPT MADE TO KILL PARIS POLICE HEAD

PARIS, July 14.—(By the Associated Press) Considerable excitement was caused during the return of the presidential cortege from the military review at Le Bourget when an unidentified man fired twice at the carriage of Armand Naudin, police prefect of Paris, which was preceding the carriage of President Millerand. The man, who is about 20 years of age and apparently demented, was badly beaten by the crowds.

FAILS TO APPEAR ON FRAUD CHARGE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 14.—Bernard Morgan, president of the Morgan Manufacturing company of Keene, N. H., failed to appear yesterday in the district court in this city to answer charges of defrauding Frank G. Perry of Pittsburg, Mass., of $15,000. Morgan was arrested by the police of Keene on a fugitive from justice warrant. He waived extradition and was released under $3000 bail for his appearance in this city.

Perry, who went to Keene to identify Morgan, says that under the name of George Steinhart Morgan sold him 12,000 shares of mining stock at the Biltmore hotel in this city. The stock, according to the complainant, is worthless.

Chief Inspector Maguire received word from the chief of police of Keene that the accused had been released there on bail and waived extradition and was to appear in the 6th district court yesterday.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

ADVICE

When first upon his planet man
Acquainted the doubtful boon of speech,
At once the older folk began
To preach.

They pointed morals by the score,
They talked of duty and of truth,
And were, of course, an awful bore
To youth.

"Alack!" the elder folk would cry
(A million times these words were sung);
"I didn't act that way when I
Was young!"

The younger generation heard
Advice on what was right and fit,
And didn't heed a single word
Of it.

They took their own path in delight
And learned things as they went along,
And they were just as often right
As wrong.

If foolish youth had listened with Respect to older counsel sage,
We'd still be in the Neolithic
Age.

So slip to youth this kind of chat,
"Go forth, your life is yours to make!"
(For that's the only counsel that They'll take!)

"THE EARL" ONCE MORE
IN TROUBLE

BOSTON, July 14.—Charles E. Munson, who cut a wide swath along the Pacific coast several years ago under the false title of the "Earl of Wickshire," and spent an extended vacation in San Quentin, the California penitentiary, has been arrested in New York on charges of having passed worthless checks in various parts of the country. There are several charges against him in Boston.

Munson was picked up by the New York police while posing as John L. Collins and attempting to negotiate a $200 worthless check. Through the activities of the William J. Burns detective agency he was immediately identified as one of the most active worthless check passers the country has known in many years, and a man of many aliases, including David G. Beechling, Thomas Leonard, Earl of Wickshire, H. M. Chandler, etc.

The man's presence in New York became known when he went to the office of an automobile supply house and ordered a large bill of goods. He offered a check for $200 and asked to be allowed to borrow some money on it. He was given $20 with the understanding that the remaining $180 should be given him the following day.

The suspicions of the company were aroused and they made inquiries about the check, finding it to be worthless. The police and Burns detectives were called into the case and the man was taken on suspicion. He declined to make any statement. Inquiries developed the fact that the man is wanted in Seattle, Wash., Portland, Ore., Denver, Col., Kansas City, Mo., Canada, Boston and other cities. The police of the various cities were notified and immediately the sheriff of Placerville, Cal., started for New York in hopes of taking the man back with him.

BROOKLINE TAXRATE

AT HIGHEST POINT

BROOKLINE, July 14.—Brookline assessors yesterday confirmed announcement of a tax rate of $21.70, the largest in the town's history and an increase of $3.80 over last year's figure of $17.90. The explanation of the advance, which the assessors promised would be forthcoming today, follows:

"The amount quoted for town expenses to be raised by taxation is $101,481.63 more than last year. This is partially accounted for by the fact that $167,421.17 cash on hand January 1, 1921, was deducted from this item last year. There was no cash balance on January 1, 1922.

County and State Taxes

"The county tax is $5,495.63 more and the state tax $4,915.95 greater. Receipts from income tax are $74,292.04 less, and estimated receipts are $52,990.68 less, caused by small distribution from corporation and bank taxes."

In a statement to the press, former Selectman James M. Codman, Jr., expresses the hope that the special commission which the legislature has just provided for the purpose will point the way for reducing municipal expenditures and taxes.

"The extremely high tax rate, forced upon when our appropriations were voted in town meeting," he said, "is a very serious matter for Brookline from every point of view and calls for the utmost wisdom in controlling our expenditures. In so far as changes in tax laws contribute to it, the need for true economy in the future is the greater. The way to reduce is to reduce."

GERMANY MUST PAY ITS
DEBT ON JULY 15

PARIS, July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—The reparations commission yesterday notified the German government, in reply to the demand for a moratorium for reparations payments, that it would give a definite answer only when it had in hand the full report of the committee on guarantees which went to Berlin a short time ago to supervise reforms to which the German government had given its assent.

The commission demands that the balance of the 32,000,000 gold marks of the payment due July 15 shall be paid.

In its letter to the German government the commission says it does not consider payment of reparations the only cause for depreciation in the value of the mark. It adds that stability of the mark can be re-established only if the financial reforms it has demanded for a long time are put into force immediately and that it is information from the committee on guarantees regarding application of those reforms that the commission requires before answering definitely the demand of the German government.

The commission hopes to be able to make a definite decision before July 15.

REFUSES TO BELIEVE
ATTEMPTED MURDER

BROCKTON, July 14.—Charged with assault with intent to murder her two little children by gas, Mrs. Mary Yakavonis, 13 Canton street, was freed of the more serious charge by Judge C. C. King in district court yesterday and a nominal fine of $10 imposed for drunkenness, to which she pleaded guilty. He then revoked sentence until Monday.

Neighbors were among those who told the story of the woman leaving home, where the little ones were found shortly after, with the windows closed and gas escaping from the stoves. The husband strongly supported his wife. He claimed that he and his wife were visiting a cousin and he asked her to return home and put the children to bed. She was gone a long time, he said, and becoming suspicious, because of the fact that she had been drinking, returned to ascertain if all was well. Despite the serious charges, husband and wife were reunited and are now living happily.

The largest mastodon tusk ever discovered, found 40 feet below the surface of the earth, weighed 75 pounds and was seven feet from tip to tip.

CURED BY A NATIVE HERB

On board a vessel bound for India recently a man was bitten by a poisonous reptile; both the ship doctor and a famous surgeon failed to control the poison fast spreading through his system.

In a day the vessel reached port. An Indian medicine man was sent for, who produced a native herb which quickly allayed the poison and the man's life was saved.

Roots and herbs are nature's assistants in combating disease. That well-known medicine for ailments peculiar to women, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is prepared from roots and herbs, possessing medicinal properties of great value in the treatment of such ailments.

This is proved by the letters of recommendation we are continually publishing in this paper for it.—Adv.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACING

Peter Coby Victorious in
2.05 Trotting Class Over
Top Heavy Favorite

TOLEDO, O., July 14.—The victory of the long shot, Peter Coby, in the top heavy favorite Nedda featured the Grand Circuit racing at Port Miami park yesterday. The Ohio gelding trotted two heats in 2:11 1/2, both faster than his previous record. In taking the hill and Dale farm mare into camp, untroubled on a handle of from five to 10 lengths each heat and it proved too much even for such a steady mare as Nedda. She won the first heat and was separately timed the second in 2:02 1/2, the last half in 55 1/2 seconds. Top Geers also broke into his winning stride for the first time this week, landing Noble Argot, another outsider, winner of the sweepstakes for 2:17 trotters.

Nedda was a 100 to 25 choice for the first heat, and after getting away far in the rear she was able to overhaul and defeat Kilo Watts in 2:04 1/2. The gelding broke into his winning stride when the word was given in the second, and was only beaten a neck by Peter Coby. In the final heat again she got away badly and in 55 1/2 seconds could not quite reach the Ohio gelding. The winner was driven by Harry Stokes and is owned by J. H. Coby.

Lorena Watts was favorite for the 2:17 trot, but after Arnold Frisco had won the first heat, "Pop" brought the gelding Noble Argot through and won the second, the $2 mutual tickets on him paying $65.50. He looked like a looker at the seven-eighths in the final, but found the going at the pole, slipped through and won.

Parker Day, the favorite, won the 2:10 pace, but he had to race four heats, as he did at North Andover last week. He won the first and second, but was locked to have the class of the field, but was very lame before the finish, breaks sprouting his shins and he lost 13 starts. The 2:14 trot, and this race went four heats. Dick McMahon pulling it off with Hollywood Hilda, which won at North Andover last week.

Lord Stout was favorite in this event. The free-for-all pace is on the card for tomorrow, the starters being Hal Mahoney, George Peterson, Johnny Quirk, Roger C. Roy, Gratian and Single G.

TEX RICKARD READY TO DEFEND REPUTATION

JERSEY CITY, July 14.—After a verbal battle which threatened at one time to develop into a physical clash between Tex Rickard, fight promoter, and Herbert Clark Gilson, counsel for the Anti-Prize Fight Church association, Rickard today was grandly a public man. He was ready to defend his reputation as a promoter of prize fights. He openly admitted that he ran a gambling house in the west, that he promoted prize fights in the west and violated the federal act having been convicted of crime.

Rickard jumped up and started toward Gilson, exclaiming, "I am not going to sit here and let anyone make insinuations about me before the public."

Chairman Messano interrupted at this point with the request that the promoter sit down and keep quiet. Gilson, however, continued:

"This man's very attitude speaks for itself. Rickard transported fight into New York and Illinois contrary to the federal act, and he was convicted and fined. According to the press reports at the time he said the fine was simply a nuisance."

Canon Williams S. Chase, who does community work for the Protestant Episcopal Church in Northern New Jersey, and who is chairman of the board of directors of the International Reform Bureau, acted as spokesman for the Anti-Prize Fight Church association. He protested to the commission in a speech against both the issuance of a license to the club and the permit to Rickard.

A delegation of ministers representing the New Jersey State Anti-Prize Fight committee of the Christian Church, also protested.

The arguments, however, apparently did not carry extreme weight with the boxing commission, for a short time later it issued a license to the Jersey City Athletic club and to promoter Rickard for the match.

Here are Three Star Aces With the New York Yankees

WALLY SCHANG

While there is nothing spectacular about Catcher Wally Schang he is unquestionably one of the most valuable players on the New York club.

With Schang doing the catching the club went right out in front. When the team came west it enjoyed a very comfortable lead and was a hot favorite to repeat in the American league.

Chicago was the first stopping place of the Yankees. The club won the first three games. Schang was injured in the final game, which was lost.

With Schang on the hospital list New York proceeded to lose 13 out of its next 18 games on the road. That record is a silent tribute to Schang's real worth.

Schang is a great receiver. He has a wonderful arm, though sometimes lacking in accuracy, and is one of the most dangerous batters in the American league.

With Schang out of the game the crack staff of the Yankees slumped badly, all of which merely shows what part a crack catcher plays in the success of a ball club.

BABE RUTH

A year ago at this time Babe Ruth would have been the universal choice as the most valuable player in the American league.

Ruth was at the top of his game. He was on a mad rampage of hitting that enabled him to break his record by cracking out 59 home runs. Many a one of those drives meant a ball game for the Yankees.

Ruth was showing the winning spirit, he was constantly imbuing the rest of the club with the germ.

Last year Ruth would have won the $1000 award, pulled up.

How the mighty has fallen! The hero of last season is the dub of today. The chasers of 1921 have changed into the leers of 1922.

Ruth lost seven weeks of play because of his suspension by Judge Landis. On his return to the game he failed to hit, which crabbied his disposition. Then followed several run-ins with the umpire that worked to the disadvantage of the New York club as well as Ruth.

Unless "Bambino" makes a wonderful comeback he can be counted out right now for the honor of being selected as the "Most Valuable Player" in the American league.

EVERETT SCOTT

When considering the most valuable player in the American league, the commission cannot afford to overlook Everett Scott, star shortstop of the New York Yankees.

By many of the experts Scott is rated as the best shortstop in the National League and possibly in the game. Only Banquo of the National League and Beckenbaugh and Gerber of the American, can dispute that right.

Scott is a wonder on defense. He is at his best in a pinch, one of the greatest money players in the game. If there is one player in the Yankee line-up who will help the Yankees regain their winning stride, that player is Scott.

While not a hard hitter, Scott is very timely with his bingles. In a pinch many pitchers would rather face some of the 300 hitters in the Yankee line-up than Scott.

Although rather slight of stature, Scott is the iron man of the game. He holds all endurance records for steady play, having already taken part in well over 900 successive contests.

Scott does his work so easily and minus any flourish, that his greatness is often overlooked. However, he is sure to get serious consideration from the commission.

BOXING BOUTS AT MASS. MILLS TONIGHT

Five bouts of particular interest locally will be staged at the big new scheduled at the Massachusetts mills tonight. In the first, the men are considered to be well matched and many rounds of good boxing and fighting are assured to all who attend. The bouts are as follows: Benji Nelson vs. George Parker; Tip Quinn vs. Geo. Wells; Lucky Leonard vs. Young Frankie Hebert; Patricia vs. Killings; and Young Tom of the Lebanon club vs. Kid Clough of the Car Barna.

The night's program is open to the public, and it is probably the last to be staged before fall. A large attendance is expected. The first bout will start late enough so that all can see the exciting scenes and get to the mill hall in plenty of time for the opener.

LIGHTNING LOWERS YANKEES' PENNANT

NEW YORK, July 14.—A thunderstorm, accompanied by vivid flashes of lightning and torrents of rain, was the attraction at the Polo grounds yesterday instead of a ball game. The scheduled encounter between the Yankees and Browns being postponed.

About 3 o'clock the deluge burst, while the Browns were having their batting practice. The lightning struck in two places. The first carried the Yankees' treasured American league pennant to the ground as it splintered the flagpole in center field. Another bolt of lightning and more of the rear of the grandstand, throwing confusion and fear for an instant into the hearts of those present. Two Browns, who were near the flagpole, barely escaped being struck by the dropping pieces of wood.

About 10:05 were on hand shortly before 3 o'clock, when the rain and lightning descended and the stands were rapidly filling.

C. M. A. C. WILL MEET LAWRENCE TEAM

Tomorrow afternoon on the Textile campus, the undaunted C.M.A.C. team will play the Arlington mill team of Lawrence in what promises to be one of the best games of the season locally. The Arlington team is the only one to pin defeat on the strong Lawrence K. C. in the down-river Twilight League this season. The C.M.A.C. will probably have a good day for the first time in the box for this game. The usual strong lineup will support him. Manager Macartney is arranging for a game with the Boston Braves (colored) a week from Saturday. It is also confident of hooking the famous Salem town team in the near future.

WILL KEEP TEAM IN PAPER CITY

FITCHBURG, July 14.—Reports that the Fitchburg Eastern League baseball franchise would be transferred to Portland or Hopedale were denied by Manager John Mack today to be without foundation.

Portland would be a good city for the franchise, Fitchburg manager Mack said. "Otherwise the town would be too big. Portland promoters have tried to make a proposition to me but they have no chance."

"The franchise will remain in Fitchburg. I intend to build the team and get out of last place."

BILL DOAK JUST MISSES HALL OF FAME

NEW YORK, July 14.—Picking his second one-hit game of the season, Bill Doak, crack softball twirler of the Cardinals, captured a 1 to 0 duel from Singleton of the Phillies and the Cardinals lost, but the Cardinals today within three and one half games of the leaders.

Doak, dropping a 12-inning battle to the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 4, when Cansey weakened, New York again lost the services of its star third sacker, Helene Groh, who had just returned to the game after being on the bench a month with an injured knee. Groh twisted the knee again trying to field a bunt and was carried from the field.

After losing seven straight games in the west, Brooklyn finally emerged from its slump to beat Cincinnati, 4 to 3, due to better hitting in the pinches and Dizzy Vance's steady pitching. Harry Holman, two homers and another by Bob Veach couldn't stop the Tigers from losing their third to four games to Philadelphia, 9 to 4. Holman now has 16 consecutive losses to his credit. Good relief pitching by Lindsey and an eighth inning rally gave Cleveland its third straight victory over Boston, 4 to 2.

WORLD'S BEST APPROACH FINAL ROUNDS

GLENCOE, Ill., July 14.—(By the Associated Press.) Seventy-nine golfers, survivors of a field of 325 which numbered the champions and most of the greatest players of every golfing nation in the world, today started the 12 hole match for the American national open golf championship, shooting over the Skokie course with playing conditions as near perfect as human hand and ideal weather could make them.

Tonight these stars will have reached the half way point—36 holes—and tomorrow will come the final half of the match, contested by the player turned in the lowest medal score for the two days officially adjudged the American open champion, and probably unofficially awarded by many, the title of world champion, for his victory will be won over champions of many sections of the world.

BANNER CARD OF WEEK ON TODAY

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 14.—The Grand Circuit racing card for today at the Port Miami track, originally scheduled for Thursday but put over to Friday on account of President's day, is the banner card of the week, consisting of five races, including the free-for-all pace, the top hand stake for 2:03 trotters with $2000 added money, and the Greenway stake for two year olds.

The free-for-all race is the largest in number of entries, but put off at Port Miami, including the practice race home of all time, Single G. Eight are to take part in the Port Miami, which seven really braved the heat and made their first appearance in the Greenway stake.

Hodge and Ward Toss Ball Away With Runners On

Throwing the ball away without the permission of the umpire is something a bit new in the way of ivory stuff. In the old days, every now and then some coacher would ask a pitcher to see the ball. Occasionally the pitcher would throw it to the coacher, who would then let the ball go by, while the runners dashed for the plate.

The players to be involved in the latest escapade of that sort were Charley O'Leary of the Yankees and Bob Hasty of the Athletics.

Several years ago in a game at the Polo grounds with runners on second and third, O'Leary coaching on third, requested Hasty to let him look at the ball.

The umpire saved Hasty. Feeling that he should pass judgment on the ball, if anything was wrong, the umpire called time just before Hasty obligingly tossed the ball to O'Leary.

Of course, O'Leary stepped out of the way and both runners scored. How?

Hunting Hog Keeps Colonel's Larder Well Filled With Quail

BETSY'S FOSTER MOTHER WAS A BIRD DOG

LEARNED THE HUNTING INSTINCTS FROM HER PARENT

AS A BIRD HOG BETSY BRINGS HOME THE BACON

COL. TUCKER GIBSON, LOUISIANA SPORTSMAN, AND BETSY, HIS HUNTING HOG, IN ACTION

By N.E.A. Service.

FROGMORE, La., July 14.—When quail season rolls around, Col. Tucker Gibson shoulders his shotgun and takes in Jansh Betsy, America's only hunting hog.

"And he comes home with his game bag filled."

Betsy, four-year-old offspring of a common southern razorback hog, is the equal of any bird dog in Louisiana as a hunter, any Gibson. He refused scores of large offers for the animal.

While Betsy still was a suckling, a hunter shot the sow that was raising her. The other pigs in the litter died and Betsy was near death when Gibson found her and put her in his pocket.

Gibson had a bird dog that had lost her puppies. He placed the little pig in the dog's care.

As the pig grew up it's foster-mother took it on hunting expeditions. Gibson was amazed to see the pig do its best to imitate its foster-mother when game was discovered.

Today when Betsy comes near covey her bristles stand straight up. She lifts her right foot as a bird dog does. She tries to straighten the kink in her neck.

Ward, who seeing that it was unfit for play, threw it into the New York dug-out, which entitled Johnston to go to third on a sacrifice fly, tying up the game.

Ward himself scored the winning run in the last of the eighth, so he atoned for his booby.

Fire Loss at Westerly $100,000

WESTERLY, R. I., July 14.—Fire early today caused damage estimated at $100,000 to the Brown building, the principal business block of the city, occupied by the P. H. Opie Co., dry goods merchants. The flames, which started in the rear of the building near the roof, were confined to the third floor. Merchandise on the lower floors was badly damaged by water.

Assist Nature back to normal action

When Nature requires assistance, she will not be slow in conveying to you an intimation of the fact. Decline of energy, inability to sleep well, headache, biliousness, constipation, a general sluggishness of mind and body and any sign of digestive "unrest" should impel you to seek the aid of a reliable medicine without delay. There is no better—no surer—no safer—than this proven remedy.

AGREEMENT ON WAGES

Expect to Sign Agreement on Scale Today

BOSTON, July 14.—An agreement between the Building Trades Employers' association and the United Building Trades council was to be signed at city hall today. The agreement, which was formulated after several conferences arranged by Mayor Curley, provides a wage of $1 an hour for most of the skilled mechanics and $1.12½ for bricklayers and plasterers. Most of the trades will have a 44-hour week, under the new agreement. The plasterers, however, will sign for a 40-hour schedule. What and bridge carpenters and what and mill men will receive 30 cents an hour, an increase of 10 cents. Fifty-five cents an hour will be paid for common labor and 60 cents for skilled labor. The agreement will expire on April 1, 1923. Open shop conditions have prevailed in the industry here since the protracted strike of more than a year ago.

Moses Attacks Dye Embargo

Continued
Moses, paid propagandists and faked and kept organizations have been the most aggressive, avaricious and insolent of all the profiteering crew who pertinaciously push this legislation."

Makes Charges
He declared that whatever the outcome of the government proceedings against the Chemical Foundation he always would believe it was "conceived in conspiracy and fostered by falsehood." He charged that the "conspiracy" was formed by Francis P. Garvan, "its president, his associates in the office of alien property custodian and certain of the dye manufacturers of the country."
Calling attention that the foundation was organized in the winter of 1919, Senator Moses said that on Feb. 26 of that year, acting Secretary Polk signed an executive order which had been carefully prepared for his signature by the foundation, authorizing licensing of seized enemy patents and trade marks by the organization. In this connection he presented a memorandum of a conversation which, he said, he had had with an unnamed foreign official, telling forth that Mr. Polk, who was acting in the absence of Secretary Lansing and President Wilson had explained that he had signed the order on representation that the action to be taken was with the full approval of the federal trade commission which was licensing the patents under authority of the trading-with-the-enemy act.

Polk Disturbed
The memorandum set forth also that Mr. Polk "feared very much disturbed and held several conferences with officials of the trade commission and had 'intimated very strongly' that he had been made the victim of false representations to induce his signature to the executive order."

A week after the order was signed, Senator Moses continued, Mr. Garvan became alien property custodian and, as such, on April 10, sold to himself for $250,000 property whose earning capacity thus far disclosed indicates it to have been worth many millions.

Turning to what he characterized as "the orgy of falsehood with which the Chemical Foundation camouflaged its real purpose," he asserted that while the foundation had "unusually" admitted that it was to carry out educational purposes in the field of chemistry, it had spent nearly $300,000 to "bolster the propaganda for a dye embargo." He placed in the record a number of letters sent to individuals and organizations over the course, in which there was made what the senator said was the "false claim" that the foundation was a government agency.

Senator Moses also introduced a number of letters to show that the Chemical Foundation's agents had had the bureau of education under former Commissioner Claxton distribute articles about chemistry written by H. E. Rose, of the chemical department of the Du Pont company.

Another Illustration
As another illustration of how, he said, "great agencies of the government were victimized by the dye makers of the country and our public agencies turned to use in private propaganda," the senator presented correspondence designed to show that the dye exhibit recently shown at Chicago, Philadelphia, Rochester, N. Y.,

WINGARNIS

Washington, D. C., and other cities and now in the National Museum here, had been financed by the dye makers, having been prepared in the chemical warfare section of the war department.

The correspondence was between Captain O. E. Roberts, Jr., and the Du Pont company, the National Aniline & Chemical company, and other dye concerns. Of the E. I. Du Pont & Nemours company, Senator Moses declared that the people through advances from the federal treasury, during the war, "not only financed the Du Ponts in the tremendous extension of their business, but were also mulcted by the Du Ponts to an extent which enabled the company to increase its plant value to an admitted $220,000,000, while at the same time taking out new profits, which in one year amounted to $123,000,000."

It charged also that of the $28,250,000 advanced to the Du Ponts during the war, there remained "unrecouped" on July 1, 1922, $36,000,000.

To Divide World
He asserted that the Du Ponts and the National Aniline & Chemical company constituted the monopolistic features of the dye industry in this country, and that the Du Pont company, aside from entering into a contract with Lever Brothers, Ltd., a British concern, to divide the world for the sale of their dyes, had sought also to enter into a world agreement with the Badische company, the chief producer of dyes, which, with the German dye cartel, he added, had been held up as the "honey men of the dye world," since the application for the dye embargo was started.

After the Badische Co. declined to enter into the agreement, he said, the Du Pont company, had submitted a proposal to the American Trade Commission in China that "his office would confiscate 15,000 trade marks held by the Germans for dyes marketed in China and from a joint Chinese company or an American-British company to license these trademarks from the Chinese government."

He added that for more than a year he had heard nothing "of the imperialistic plans of the Du Ponts in Europe or in the Orient" and that the probability that "both schemes have crashed to the ground" was supported "by the pressure the Du Ponts now are making for a dye embargo 'in order that they may nullify from American consumers the sums which they have found themselves unable to take from war-stricken Europeans or simple-minded Orientals.'"

Presents Documents
Explaining that the government had entered into an arrangement with the Textile Alliance to distribute German reparations dyes in this country, he charged that the alliance, originally formed to eliminate unfair practices in the textile trades, but, in the handling of the dyes, "resorted to the most unfair business practices of which there is any record." He presented a man of official and unofficial documents relating to the reparations dyes, which he said contained "ample proof" of his charge.

Asserting that the alliance had committed its dye interests to a committee of seven members, he said this committee, which included in its membership representatives of the Du Pont company and the Aniline company, also had been constituted as the advisory committee on dyes for the War Trade board. Thus, he added, these two dye concerns had constant representation in everything that was done concerning the reparations dyes and also had access to the private information of the War Trade board.

MOVIE STAR TO APPEAR IN COURT

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Gloria Swanson, film actress, will appear in court here tomorrow to answer charges made against her and her mother of undue influence in connection with the will of the late Matthew P. Burns, stepfather of the actress. It was announced here today by Joseph Scott, her attorney. The case revolves around application of Mrs. Burns, Gloria's mother, to probate the will of her late husband, who was a shoe merchant here, and the contest against this by his relatives.

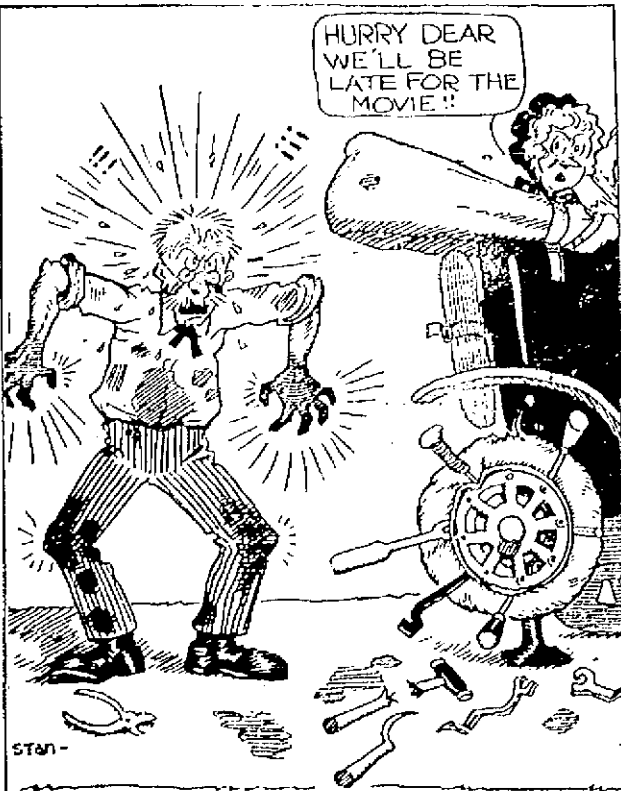

Hearing of testimony by Burns' relatives to support their charges that Burns was of unsound mind and unduly influenced by Gloria Swanson and her mother, into the marriage, and into framing of the will, which left the bulk of his estate to Mrs. Burns, will be completed today, it was indicated.

OUTING FOR CHILDREN

Lowell Rotary Club Plans
Big Time for Children of Orphanages

When the committee of local Rotarians, who have charge of the outing to be given to the children of the orphanages on next Tuesday, July 18, at the Martin Luther grounds, met this morning, final plans were completed. If it should rain on that date the outing will be held the following day, July 19.

This outing is a special feature which the Rotary club has been conducting for several years past for the benefit of the children of the orphanages. Mr. Pitts, chairman of the committee, said that the enjoyment and fun which the children, who are bound in by walls and fences the rest of the year have on such a picnic, was ample recompense for the work that anyone did in carrying out such a plan.

The route of the parade has been changed because of the road repairs. The machines will go up "The street" and down "Wilder street" to Princeton boulevard. Instead of going up "The street" all along the route the children will be entertained by the antics of a huge clown and he will perform special stunts during the day at the grounds.

Definite assurance has been received that Governor Cox will be a guest at this picnic. There will be visiting Rotarians from Lawrence, Northampton and Nashua.

Chairman Pitts is very pleased with the fine co-operation he has received from the members of the committee. He says that they have carried out every detail and have left nothing undone to guarantee a wonderful day for the children.

STORE CLERKS HAD BIG TIME YESTERDAY

Somewhat fatigued but, nevertheless, contented after a memorable day of endless outings activities, Lowell store clerks returned to their posts of duty this morning. The rain of the late afternoon proved a slight disappointment, but even this was not sufficient to dampen the enthusiasm manifested in the care-free hilarity of the joyous clerks.

The clerks of the Boston Ladies' Outfitters, about 55 in all, spent an enjoyable day at Hampton beach. Arrangements were in charge of Mr. Cyrus Fidler, more familiarly known as "Cousin Cy," who also acted as toastmaster at a sumptuous dinner at the Imperial Cafe. At the beach the picknickers were royally welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Fidler, at whose cottage they were agreeably entertained. Vaudeville talent was furnished by the famous Hippocritick Brothers, after which preparations were made for a dip in the briny, Bassett games and other sports were enjoyed, and dancing was held at the Casino where special arrangements had been made. In the evening, the Imperial was again visited for supper.

The clerks of the Chalfoux Employees Mutual Benefit association held their annual outing at Beverly, where a lobster and chicken dinner was served at the Hotel Piesanton where supper was also served. Water sports were indulged in and community singing was one of the many features. Remarks were made by George Goldsmith and Leon Towner. The last car left the resort at 10 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Chalfoux were present and Mr. Chalfoux, as in his annual custom, presented the association a $100 check.

The members of the Employees' Mutual Benefit association of the Gagnon company went to Revere beach. The trip was made in special cars, leaving the city at 8 a. m. From the outset, it was evident that monotonous moments would be at a minimum in the interim between their departure from Paige street and the final "good night" at the end of a perfect day.

The intense heat of the day offered a temptation to mingle with the soothing waters of the Atlantic, and practically the entire party fell into temptation. At noon, a delicious chicken and shrimp dinner was served at the Revere house, where no one showed evidence of Hooverizing.

In the afternoon the various boulevard attractions were visited and a group picture taken at the huge bathing. Dancing was enjoyed, and at 9 o'clock, the return home signal of "all aboard" was reluctantly sounded.

The following committee had charge: Thomas Teague, James Saunders and George Lancelotti. The G. C. Prince clerks toured the North Shore in automobiles before noon. They visited Lynn and had luncheon at Sunbeam Farm between Lynn and Salem.

The Cherry and Webb, A. G. Pollard and P. E. Nelson companies also went to Revere and spent a most enjoyable day of sport and amusement. Nantasket was the scene of the Ben Marché eating, and the clerks were unanimous today in voting at the best ever.

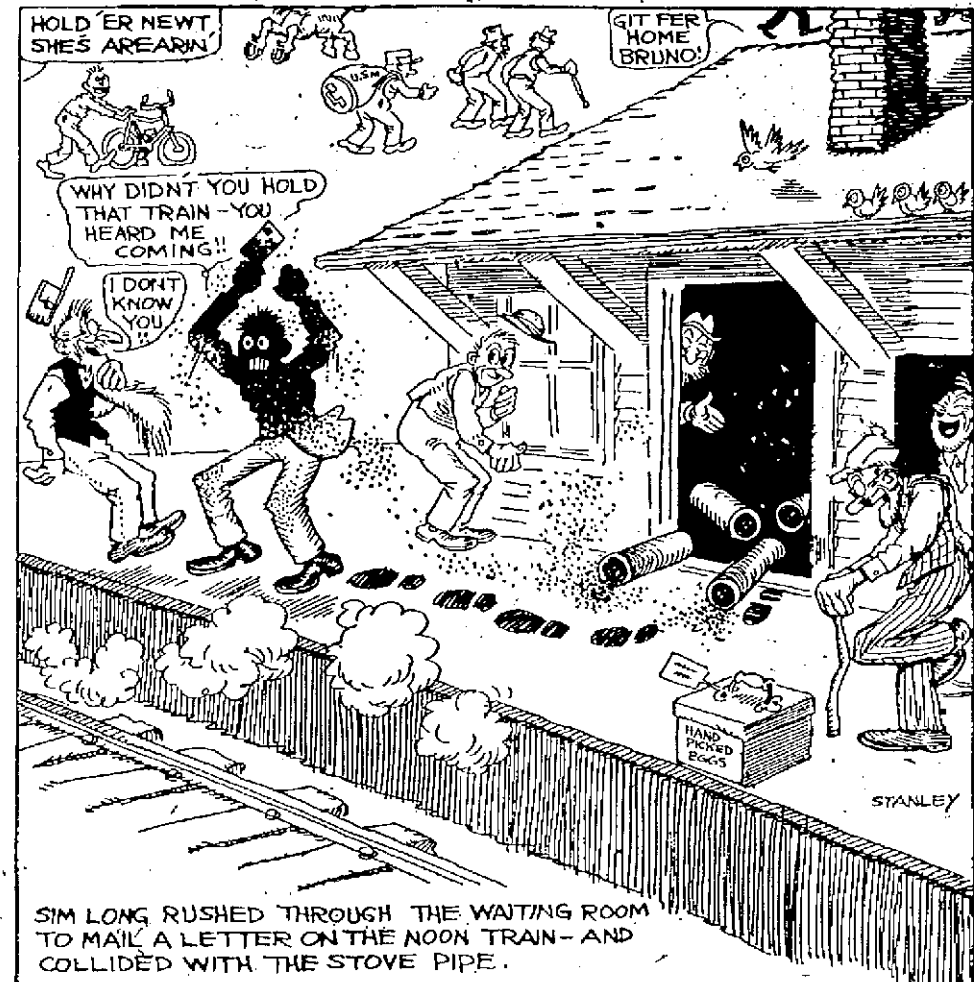

At Babcock Lake, Amherst, N. H., the C. B. Coburn clerks made merry. Lowell made ice cream and coffee were conveyed from this city and a bowling match between two picked teams offered the principal diversion in the time of sports.

The various occurrences during the day were the principal topics of conversation among the clerks today and it is a certainty that many delightful reminiscences will remain in their minds for some time to come.

The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Geo. W. Healey. DOLLEY—The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Dole took place this morning from the home of her daughter, Mrs. John J. Shaw, 218 Lawrence avenue, at 8:30 o'clock and proceeded to St. Michael's church where at 9 o'clock a funeral high mass was sung by Rev. John J. Shaw. The choir, in the direction of Thomas J. Boulger sang the Gregorian mass and at the offertory "Pie Jesu" was sung by Mr. Boulger. The elevation of the host was by Rev. Griffin sang "O Meritum Passionis" and at the conclusion of the mass the "De Profundis" was rendered. Mrs. Dole (Dolley) was a native of the organ. The bearers were Messrs. John McNamara, Jeremiah Dole, George Tohn, William Dole, Edmund McNamara and John McNamara, all relatives of the deceased. There was a profusion of floral and spiritual offerings. The burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Francis J. Mullin read the committal prayers. The funeral arrangements were under the direction of Undertaker George B. McKenna.

Friday—The funeral of Mrs. Bridget Riley took place this morning from 28 Garham street at 8:30 o'clock and was largely attended by many relatives and friends. At the immediate Conception church a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. Lawrence P. Tigna, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. James O'Malley, O. M. I., and Rev. Charles J. Barry, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. The choir sang the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Charles Smith and Mrs. Hugh Smith. The organ was played by the organ. In attendance at the funeral were relatives from Worcester. The bearers were Messrs. Frank Smith, Frederick Smith, John Worcester, Frank McCollough, William Burns, James Foye and Frank Horne of this city. Burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Charged with larceny of clothing, silver and household goods to the amount of $1000, Angeles Balkas, 314th Nathans and George Mantras, all of this city, were arraigned in district court at Ayer, Mass., this morning and their cases continued until Monday.

The three men were arrested in Lowell last night by Chief of Police Henry K. Whiting of Westford, assisted by Officer William Liston of Lowell. It is alleged that they robbed the home of William Polopoulis in the Carlisle section some time ago. They were released on their arrival in Westford in bonds of $500 each. EARLY MORNING FIRE IN MIDDLESEX STREET

The fruit store of Allie Hissam at 510 Middlesex street was damaged by water and smoke to the extent of several hundred dollars early this morning, when a fire which originated in the cellar of the store threatened the entire building, the upper part of which is used as a lodging house. The fire was discovered shortly after midnight by Patrolman Cornelius F. Sullivan, who pulled in an alarm from box 35 at the corner of Middlesex and Grand streets. By the time the firemen reached the premises, the 30 or more lodgers, who occupy rooms in the building were warned of the danger and had reached the street. The fire was confined to the cellar, but the stock, which consisted of fruit and confectionery, was badly damaged by smoke and water. The owner of the store was unable to account for the fire. He said that when he left at 11 o'clock everything seemed all right.

TO HAVE SCHOOL READY FOR FALL OPENING

Every available employee of the city buildings department will be placed at work in the old high school during the month of August to hurry the completion of the job of renovation before school opens in September. A big gang already is at work there, but Sun. Connor will augment it as soon as possible. Before it is finished, it will be a $10,000 job. All ceilings are being kalsomined, including the large assembly hall; new floors are being laid in corridors and new stair treads are being put in; the woodwork is being varnished throughout the building and the basement will be whitewashed. Men of the buildings department are putting the finishing touches on the new domestic science bungalow at the Morey school and it is expected that the building will be entirely finished within a fortnight.

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Leaky, Trap in Waste Pipe Starts Jam in West Third Street House

A leaky trap in a waste pipe, showing the occupants of a ground floor tenement on West Third street, resultant complaints and an alleged assault, formed a sequence of events which occupied the greater part of what had been, in the preceding cases, a very dull session of district court today. After hearing witnesses for both defense and prosecution, Judge Fisher ruled that the prosecution had failed to prove the assault and discharged the defendant.

The rest of the session was confined to the disposition of a complaint of maintaining a liquor nuisance, in which a fine of $100 was imposed; a continuance of a charge of illegal keeping of liquor; the continuation of a complaint alleging assault and battery and suspended sentences in cases of non-support and drunkenness.

Charles Bradley, a resident of West Third street, was called upon to answer to a charge of assault and battery upon the person of Andrew Chesio. Atty. James E. O'Donnell appeared for the defendant and Atorney Dennis J. Murphy for the defense.

Chesio testified that on last Sunday at about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, water began to fall from upstairs into his kitchen. He said that he went upstairs and knocked on the door, and Bradley came to the entrance and asked him what he wanted, and hit him with a shoe, which he carried in his hand. He claims he does not remember what followed. He showed a discolored eye, with a slight cut underneath. Mrs. Chesio said that she noticed the water dripping from the ceiling, and called her husband, who immediately walked up still and told her what had happened, and helped him down stairs again. In the meantime receiving a blow on the head and another on the right arm. She showed the mark to the judge.

Miss Sophie Chesio, 20-year old daughter of the couple, said that she did not see the assault on her father, but that she had seen her father going downstairs, with her mother following and holding him. She saw Bradley, she said, near the head of the stairs. A physician, who was called to treat the bruises, testified regarding them, describing their positions and degrees of seriousness.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley took the stand in turn and told their side of the story. They claimed that the defendant was suddenly shut off early Sunday afternoon, and that they rapped on the pipe to attract the attention of the Chesio family, as the valve which shuts off their water supply is located in the tenement downstairs. Mr. Bradley claimed that Chesio came upstairs and started an argument, using some distasteful language, for which he hit him with his hat. Mrs. Chesio, they alleged, came up after her husband, and began to belabor them with a stick of kindling wood.

Judge Fisher, after going over the evidence carefully, declared that in his opinion the evidence of the assault was insufficient, and discharged the defendant.

George Poulacos was originally charged with illegal keeping, but as the prosecution felt unable to defend the charge, it was changed to maintaining a liquor nuisance. Poulacos pleaded guilty, and was assessed $100. Marcia Sennell was continued until July 22 on a charge of illegal keeping. At the same time, on a charge of assault and battery, was continued until August 14.

Rosa Mooney, alias Rosa Callis, was found guilty of non-support of her minor children and sentenced to six months in the house of correction, with sentence suspended for one year, during which time she will be in the care of Mrs. Harlow, probation officer. Wiladyslaw Naliwko, an old acquaintance of the court officers, was found guilty of drunkenness and given a suspended sentence of three months in the house of correction. He will report regularly to the probation officer for the next six months.

ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY ANNOUNCED

A new industry is announced by the chamber of commerce for Lowell in the Lagana Shoe Co., which will open up next week. This new business will be located in the building at the corner of Shattuck and Market streets. They will occupy two and a half floors of the building, manufacturing McKay shoes for women. Officials of the company say they will employ from a hundred to a hundred and fifty hands at the start. They are now moving the machinery and setting it up on their floor space.

REPORTED BOYS ARE EMPLOYED AT BILLERICA CAR SHOPS

Fifteen-Year-Old Boy Interviewed by Pickets Later. Makes Statement at Strike Headquarters—Authorities Are Investigating—Residents in Vicinity of Car Shops Ask Better Police Protection—Mass Meeting on South Common This Evening

That boys under 16 years of age are being employed as strike breakers at the Boston & Maine carshops in Billerica, and that they are not even required to produce school certificates, was stated yesterday by Michael Prevost, a 15-year-old boy residing at 131 George street, Roxbury, who claims he is employed at the car shops. This statement was made to the executive board of the federated crafts and the matter is now being investigated by the department of labor and industry, division of industrial safety, whose home is in this city.

The boy was seen entering the shops by pickets, who later had a lengthy talk with him. At the little fellow's suggestion the pickets drove him to strike headquarters in Middlesex st.

THIRD MEETING IS POSTPONED

Boston and Maine Stockholders Served With Notice of Injunction Move

Minority Shareholder Alleges That Conspiracy Exists to Pass Over Control

BOSTON, July 14.—The annual meeting of the Boston & Maine stockholders was postponed for the third time today after stockholders and officials in attendance had been served with notice that injunction proceedings had been brought against the road by Edward J. Codman, a minority shareholder. Adjournment was taken until Thursday, July 27, pending a court decision on Codman's petition on which a hearing will be conducted Tuesday in the supreme court.

The petition seeks to restrain officers and agents of the New England Central railroad as operators of the Boston & Albany and the directors of the Boston & Maine from carrying out an alleged scheme to enable the New York Central to obtain "illegal control over the Boston & Maine." It asks that certain named officials and agents of the two roads be permanently enjoined from voting at the Boston & Maine shareholders' meetings, and counting the proxies held by them. The petition also asks that the ballot already cast for Boston & Maine directors by President James H. Hustis, George R. Wallace and Arthur R. Nichols, representing the directors and Philip Dexter, Charles E. Adams and E. Schir Weiss, representing stockholders of the Boston & Maine be declared illegal and expunged from the records.

In his petition Mr. Codman charges that a conspiracy exists to have Alfred H. Smith, president of the New York Central, elected chairman of the board of directors of the Boston & Maine with a view to giving control of the Boston & Maine to the New York Central. It is further charged that a majority of the directors of the Boston & Maine have acceded to the alleged illegal combination and that they have obtained large numbers of proxies from stockholders for the purpose of re-electing the present board of directors at the annual meeting.

It was learned later that today's petition was filed by Mrs. Codman immediately after Judge Crosby of the supreme court had denied his previous petition for an injunction to prevent a declaration of the vote cast at the Boston & Maine meeting in May on 22,000 shares of stock held by the N.Y. N. H. & H. R. R. Co. These shares are in the custody of trustees appointed by the United States circuit court for the southern district of New York. Under the order of that court, the trustees were directed to vote for six directors nominated by the Boston & Maine road.

Codman as trustee holds 1679 shares of the Boston & Maine and proxies for 15,000 more shares. His petition for an injunction he named Frederick H. Prince and Guy W. Currier among the defendants charging that they are acting as agents for the New York Central. He asserts that the alleged conspiracy is a violation of the Massachusetts statute forbidding un-

Adjustment of Wages in Lawrence Manufacturing Co. Announced By Agent Everett Walker Today

Following in the footsteps of the Merrimack, and Massachusetts cotton mills, the Lawrence Mfg. Co., through its agent, Everett H. Walker, today announced that an adjustment of wages would go into effect in that plant on Monday, July 17. Other than giving the statement that a readjustment would be made and that it will affect every department in the yard, Mr. Walker did not care to comment upon it. No notices will be posted and the amount of the cut has not been intimated. According to Agent Walker the Lawrence has been doing very little work for the past two years and at present is running with a greatly reduced complement of help.

TO RETURN SLAYER

Sheriff and Deputies to Bring Back to Los Angeles Mrs. Albert Meadows

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—(By The Associated Press) Sheriff Traeger and three deputies will leave today for Tucson, Ariz., to bring back to Los Angeles Mrs. Clara Phillips, charged with the slaying here of Mrs. Albert Meadows.

The body of Mrs. Meadows, 20, a widow, was found early Wednesday night badly mutilated beside a lonely road in the northern part of the city. Officers said they found fully 60 marks, as from a hammer, upon her head and face and a heavy rock upon her shoulder.

The body was still warm when discovered. Investigation into the murder involves another woman. It was announced at police headquarters.

The full horror and details of the beating to death of Mrs. Meadows were revealed to the police by Mrs. Faggie Caffee, a young woman, who declared she was the eye-witness to the deadly hammer blows.

The body was not identified until A. L. Phillips, an old promoter, called upon the sheriff, and, according to the latter, said his wife, 23 years of age, had confessed to him she had killed Mrs. Meadows because of what the husband termed "unwarranted jealousy."

The sheriff said Phillips had declared he had helped his wife clean the blood from her clothes and had purchased her a ticket to El Paso, Tex.

Later, it was said, the husband, on advice of an attorney, told his story to the sheriff. In his story as the sheriff related it, the husband and his wife persuaded Mrs. Meadows to drive her to where the body was found. There, he said, his wife asked Mrs. Meadows what were her relations with Phillips. A denial of anything improper followed. Then, it was alleged, the women fought and Mrs. Phillips struck Mrs. Meadows repeatedly with a hammer which had been purchased that afternoon.

MOTHER ILL, BUT FAMILY IS EVICTED

LAWRENCE, July 14.—Paul Barille, his wife, who is ill, and four children, were evicted from their home at 72 Lawrence street late yesterday afternoon on an order of the local district court and the complaint of the landlord, John Connelly. The furniture was put onto the sidewalk in front of the house just before a sharp thunder shower broke, and it was badly wet.

Barille is a striker, having left his work in the Pacific print works on April 25 last because of the wage cut. He has lived at 72 Lawrence street for five years, paying $4 a week for the first four years. About a year ago his rent was increased to $5, he said, and a month ago his landlord asked another dollar increase. This, Barille says, he refused to pay. The four children range from 2 to 12 years of age.

PACKARD TOURING CAR TO BE PAID FOR

City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney has rendered an opinion to City Auditor Daniel E. Martin, informing him that it now is legal for him to issue a warrant for payment of the Packard touring car, purchased by the mayor.

The solicitor says that the matter now is before the auditor in legal form and that it is his duty to perform a ministerial act and issue a warrant as soon as possible. The amount of the bill is $2935 and is in the name of Alvan T. Fuller.

"The fact that the car was registered prior to the completion of the purchase is not a material fact for you to consider," the opinion continues.

The solicitor at present is working on an opinion that will give the auditor in the matter of issuing a warrant for payment of the two Packard trucks now in use in the street department.

Harding and his advisers again today devoted a cabinet session to the rail and coal strikes.

Several of the cabinet officials arrived at the White House for the session bearing reports on the two industrial disturbances. Postmaster General Work had several reports on the mail situation as affected by the rail strike. Attorney General Daugherty said he had about a hundred telegrams, the nature of which he would not disclose. Secretaries Hoover and Davis had ready for presentation the latest information of the government's proposal for arbitration of the coal strike and Secretary Weeks was prepared to discuss possible action to maintain interstate commerce and transportation of the mails in accordance with the president's recent warning proclamation.

Secretary Weeks said he had received no advices from C. E. Schaaf, receiver for the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad, who was advised yesterday by the government to make another request of Governor Neff of Texas for protection by state troops on the carriers' property now in the hands of a receiver appointed by a federal court.

J. P. Noonan, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, the members of which organization represent one of the six drafts of railway workers on strike, declared today that calling out federal troops to cope with the railroad strike situation would hurt rather than aid the government in its efforts to deal with the situation. Many union workers throughout the country, he said, would leave their posts with the rail systems, if forced to work under military protection.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Prospects for an early settlement of the nation-wide strike of railway shopmen on a basis of informal negotiations conducted in conferences here between union leaders and representatives of various railroads centering in the Twin Cities and the northwest, were very good today, in the opinion of union men and railroad executives.

Confidence that the end of the strike is near, was expressed by R. A. Henning, chairman of the Federated Shop Crafts of the Northwest district.

He said that it is entirely possible that the strike will be settled on a national basis in Chicago within the next 48 hours.

STRIKE AT MASS. MILLS SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY MORNING

Textile Strike Committee Chairman Says That 95 Per Cent. of Mass. Mill Operatives Are Organized—Special Meetings of Various Unions This Afternoon—Organizations Will Report to Textile Council This Evening

There will be a strike at the Massachusetts mills next Monday morning. The strike is being sanctioned by John Hanley, a member of the executive board of the United Textile Workers of America, chairman of the textile strike committee and president of the Lowell Textile council, and it is being called as a protest against a wage reduction, which will go into effect Monday morning.

Agent William A. Mitchell of the mill was officially notified of the strike yesterday afternoon in a special delivery letter sent by Mr. Hanley, and final arrangements for the strike will be made at a meeting of the Lowell Textile council to be held this evening in Trades & Labor hall in Central St. at 5 o'clock.

As soon as he was informed of the announcement of a wage reduction at the Massachusetts mills yesterday afternoon Mr. Hanley endeavored to get in telephone communication with Agent Mitchell, but his efforts proved fruitless, and late in the afternoon he sent the agent a letter, the copy of which follows:

Dear Sir:

As it has been reported to me that a reduction in wages is to take effect in your mills on July 17, 1922, you are hereby notified that I will sanction a strike in your mill, the said strike to be effective July 17, 1922.

Very truly yours,
JOHN HANLEY.
Commenting on the matter today, Mr. Hanley said that in ordering a strike he was following the lead of the Lowell Textile Council.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—It became definitely known today that John L. He is also of the opinion that ordnance developed in the World war was not so marvelous as appeared when analysis is made. He said in an interview last night:

"It is possible to go only just so far, and certain limits are now being reached in the way of firearms and artillery. As a matter of fact, some of the artillery used in the Civil war would have been efficient in the last war, and really a certain company in Connecticut sold to the French government during the World war arms that had been manufactured for use in the Franco-Prussian war, with only minor changes."

Bible, World's Best Seller, Sold Even Faster—By Radio!

Radio has been called upon to boom the sale of the world's best seller—the Bible.

A. Wesley Mell, secretary of the Pacific agency of the American Bible society, tried this novel method and succeeded.

From his headquarters at San Francisco, Mell sent broadcast a series of lectures. Touring the streets of the city was an automobile equipped with radio antenna and receiving set and loaded with Bibles.

At corners, the car would stop, then the radio loud speaker would begin to "talk." The novel stunt drew the crowd and the attendants with the radio auto went about selling the books.

With his Bible sales talks, Mell gave readings also. The picture shows Mell talking into the radio broadcasting station at his headquarters while, at right, sale of the Bibles progressed.

RADIO PHISHER

Bank Winding—A method of winding an inductance coil in layers or for the reception of long wave lengths. This eliminates the necessity of adding separate coils to the primary inductance, which take up more space than can be afforded.

When the party left on a fishing trip to the lakes, Roland E. Derby took along a Westinghouse portable set, equipped with four head phones. Although the outfit did not include a storage battery or amplifying tubes, the results attained were most satisfactory and clear connections were secured with a number of broadcasting stations in New England. The set was connected to one dry cell and a small type Eveready battery.

Each evening, after the tramping and fishing of the day were over, the radio set was brought out and each man was given a set of receivers. Roland Derby, who is very much interested in this sort of work, was the operator. Although it rained every day for two weeks, this did not interfere with receiving, and a radio concert was the program for each night's entertainment.

An interesting radio experiment that worked out most successfully, where, by a small portable set, established in the woods in the Margery Lake region in Maine, brought four campers into touch with the outside world, has been brought to notice with the return to this city of Lucius A. Derby and his son, Roland, Harry L. Parkhurst of Chelmsford and Edward L. Gilman of Woodstock, N. H.

The set was located on the shore of the lake, opposite Metellus Point. This point, which is named after an old Indian chief of that region, is familiar to all frequenters of the Margery Lake region. Vocal music and band concerts were received from Pittsburgh, Schenectady, Newark and Medford Hills, and all were very clear and distinct. These entertainments offered a pleasing diversion after the day's work.

BEFORE WAR CONDITIONS IN THE SCHOOLS

(Special to The Sun.)

BOSTON, July 14.—Before the war conditions will soon be reached in the schools of Massachusetts. A highly encouraging situation in education matters is reported in all parts of the commonwealth by the state department of education. Enrollment in the normal schools is much larger than it was last year and last year it was 450 more than in the year before. The outlook is for the gain to continue.

There has been a general improvement in the economic status of the teaching profession. Actual figures show that during the last ten years the average salary of the Massachusetts public school teacher has increased over 50 per cent. There is said to be no place in the state where salaries have been reduced this year and the advances beyond the minimum of war times, which drove many out of the profession, have been sustained and improved upon all over the state.

It is said at headquarters that Massachusetts will come nearer this year than ever before to filling all the teaching positions in the public schools with graduates of Massachusetts normal schools. Massachusetts is better off in this respect than any other state in the Union. Whatever shortage there is, is made up by drawing from other states and teachers in other states are always glad of the opportunity of coming to Massachusetts.

When one comes to housing conditions, matters are not so satisfactory. In fact, they are inadequate. Massachusetts now has 40,000 public school children who are obliged to attend on the platform plan, that is some of them use the rooms part of the day and others the other part of the day. At the same time, there is a large amount of school house construction under way or authorized. New buildings are taking the place of old ones and their accommodations and equipment are on a higher grade than the old. Thirty-eight new school buildings, with accommodations for over 15,000 pupils are now in process of construction at a cost of over $7,000,000 and there are 32 others authorized or have money appropriated for them, accommodating 15,000 pupils and costing over $10,000,000. Besides these, still further buildings have been authorized by recent votes of town meetings. Thus the season's record in way of schoolhouse construction is remarkable.

The popularity of the junior high school is also another feature of the year. It is taking strong hold in many parts of the state. Twelve new buildings for this service alone have been begun or authorized this year. They will cost nearly 15,000,000. The state department of education is carrying on an unusually large amount of summer school work this year. At the Hyannis normal school there will be two sessions of four weeks each with remarkable attendance and attractive program. This summer school, maintained for 25 years is particularly attractive as it is situated at a summer resort. There are 650 enrolled for the first session and it is expected that the enrollment for the two sessions will be over 1000.

At the North Adams state normal school there are five weeks of another session. Some 240 are already enrolled. This is for the western part of the state and has a course of physical education, the same as Hyannis. There will be a superintendent's course lasting for three weeks in July for the benefit of the small towns. Thirty-five have applied for enrollment.

At the Fitchburg state normal school there will be a general summer school for the benefit of public school teachers and there is an enrollment of 200. At the Framingham state normal school there will be a summer school for canning and preserving. This has been in operation for two or three years and is a result of the general sentiment which started during the war in favor of making the most possible of local food supplies. HOTT.

ROBERTS TESTIFIES TUFF IN SENATE

Dry Agent Appears Before Commissioner Hayes and Tells of Raid

BOSTON, July 14.—After spending much time during service of a subpoena to compel him to testify in a liquor hearing before United States Commissioner Hayes, James P. Roberts, prohibitionist supervisor, voluntarily appeared at the Federal building yesterday, prepared to go on the witness stand.

The summons was placed in his hand as he was sitting in the court room and he smilingly accepted it. It is believed his change of front was caused by the peremptory refusal of Federal Judge Mack to order a subpoena to issue against Commissioner Hayes, as Roberts had requested earlier, on his own petition asking that another commissioner hear the evidence in the case in question.

Roberts in the petition, which was treated with great secrecy, stated much the same things, only at greater length, that he had declared in open court to Commissioner Hayes on Wednesday. He asserted that the magistrate had "disqualified himself for an impartial hearing," explaining that at preliminary hearing in the case and the other day, the commissioner had "talked privately" with the captain of the Lake Stridman on which the 132 bottles of hard stuff had been discovered.

One of the largest crowds in weeks thronged the room of the United States district court where Commissioner Hayes presided, when proceedings opened yesterday. Many evidently expected some " fireworks," but they were disappointed, for the hearing was altogether along peaceful lines.

The magistrate announced he would take up at once the case which had caused all the opposition from Roberts the day before—that of Second Mate Ellington and Montevale Young of the steamship, "The so-called Moore," on which Charles W. Moore's son is contending his removal to New York in an alleged mail fraud matter, was put off for the moment to give the other hearing the right of way.

Roberts was the chief government witness. He told about boarding the Lake Stridman at Lewis wharf in company with Deputy Surveyor Thomas F. Finnegan and his men and declared that the captain of the ship and the agent gave permission to make a search for liquor which they had been tipped off was somewhere on board. Mr. Finnegan, realizing it was a case for "dry" officers turned the matter over to Roberts.

It developed that the government evidence against the mate and the stevedore consisted chiefly in the fact that they were the only ones on the boat having keys to a certain part of the vessel from which there was entrance to the forepeak, where the liquor was discovered.

After testimony, however, was to the effect that when door in question was kept locked only about half of the time, and that any member of the crew had access to the forepeak there as well as the men under arrest. Both Mate Ellington and Montevale Young declared, in reply to questions by Attorney Herbert Callahan, that neither of them had visited the forepeak in months and only once or twice since they had been on the vessel.

FAILS TO SHAKE

BOY'S TESTIMONY

MORRISTOWN, N. J., July 14.—Francis Kluxen, 30, 16, on trial for the murder of 11-year-old Janette Lawrence, of Madison, N. J., was cross-examined at length yesterday afternoon by Special Prosecutor Harrison. When he finally stepped down from the witness stand, the boy's account of what he did on the afternoon of October 6 last, when the Lawrence girl was found slain in Kluxen's wood, was unshaken. The case will go to the jury this morning, when Supreme Court Justice Parker will make his charge.

The 15-year-old defendant was proceeded on the witness stand by his mother and father. Both showed more signs of nervousness than did their son. Throughout the long cross-examination he kept his eyes almost entirely on his mother's face.

Several witnesses were called by the defense to testify as to the whereabouts of the Kluxen boy at different hours of the day of the murder.

Senator Calder Inserts Into Records Account of Recent Lynchings

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Senator Calder of New York, inserted in the Congressional Record yesterday an account of the recent lynching of two negroes in Wayne county, Ga. The article was from the New York Times of last Monday and told the story of the lynching of two boys who had been replayed for 30 days by Governor Hardwick. The New York senator made no comment nor did he give his reasons for putting the article in the Record.

Senator Harris of Georgia saw the article in the Record yesterday morning and when the senate met he took the floor and characterized the action of Senator Calder as an effort to excite the lawlessness in the southern states. He declared that there was more lawlessness in New York in one week than there was in Georgia in a year. He read from a New York newspaper account of the murder of a 12-year-old child, an Italian, and a Jew, and added: "This is but a partial list."

"At the senator from New York," he continued, "talks of lawlessness in Georgia and refers to lynchings. It is dangerous to walk abroad in the daylight in the senator's city. It is not dangerous in Georgia."

"The south should be left alone to settle its negro question. It is doing the very best it can, and interference from outside will not help. The good people of the south and Georgia do not desire lynchings just as the good people of other states deplore them."

"Every Georgia governor that I have ever known, including the present one, has deprecated lynchings, but with the record in his own city and state, the senator from New York ought not to raise a sectional issue here. So long as I am in the senate I will never raise a sectional issue, arraigning north against south or east against west, for this is one country and we all fought together to make it the greatest in the world."

Senator Shields of Tennessee, at this point interrupted to point out that Senator Calder had not mentioned lawlessness in the north.

"He did not say anything about the recent terrible massacre of miners at Herrin, Ill., almost in the shadow of the city hall of Chicago," said Senator Shields. "We do not know how many were killed. It runs anywhere from 23 to 40, according to account, but we do know that 16 unidentified negroes were buried after the massacre."

"These men who were lynched had committed no crime. They were lynched after they had surrendered and raised the white flag. It was a most horrible massacre. And that was out near Chicago and the local authorities have done nothing about it. They are not trying to punish these lynchings. It is in the light of the attorney-general of Illinois that in the past day or so he has started an investigation. The city council and the sheriff at Herrin have ignored this awful affair and refused to act against this mob."

Senator Dial of South Carolina, said Senator Calder had put into the Record a story about a Georgia lynching when neither of the senators from that state was present to reply immediately.

"I started to object myself," said Senator Dial, "but the article having no reference to South Carolina I did not."

"I have notice I am going to object from now on to much of the stuff such as the senator from New York inserted in the Record. We are about to make a yellow journal of it."

MILLIONS SAVED BY WAR DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The war department, by practicing rigid economy, largely increased the unexpended balance from appropriation funds for the fiscal year just ended over the amount promised 12 months ago.

In July, 1921, the prospective saving reported by the war department under the appropriations for the army during the fiscal year was slightly over $27,750,000. From the books of the department, it now appears that the amount actually was increased to approximately $75,000,000.

"This mop-water kills germs but doesn't hurt my skin"

"My skin is sensitive and chaps so easily. That is why I had never used disinfectants in scrubbing around the house. I felt positive that anything strong enough to kill germs would ruin my hands."

"But that was before I heard of Sylpho-Nathol. Mary Adams told me about it. She had used it for a long time. Her hands are soft and pink and pretty."

"I phoned the grocer. He said that he sold lots of it. And, following the simple directions on the bottle, I put a tablespoonful in a pail of warm water. The minute I wrung out the mop in that clean-smelling, pearly gray solution, I knew I had found the right thing."

"I use Sylpho-Nathol every day. In all the scrub water, in the sink pipe, in the cellar, in the garbage pail. Once or twice a week I use it around the bathroom fixtures, and as a flush for the closet bowl. I don't know what I'd do without it. It makes everything so sweet and clean and healthy smelling. And, best of all, it hasn't hurt my hands the tiniest bit—they're just as soft as Mary's."

Sylpho-Nathol is so safe—so effective, so easy to use, so economical. Sylpho-Nathol is 4½ times stronger than Carbolic Acid—yet it is as safe to have in the house as a cake of soap.

The unseen disease germs which live and thrive in even ordinary house dust don't linger where Sylpho-Nathol is used.

The annoying smells which persist in such places as closet bowls, damp cellars and garbage receptacles of the most scrupulously kept homes give place instantly to its faint, clean, friendly odor.

Sylpho-Nathol comes in 15c, 35c, 65c and $1.25 bottles. The complete, easy-to-follow directions are on the bottle.

Most good grocers and druggists have it. If yours hasn't, he can get it easily. Just ask for it by name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

RABBI E. WOLFSON HAS PROMINENT GUEST

Dr. Nachman Heller, prominent in rabbinical, educational, cultural and literary institutions of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other centers of Jewish gravitation, is a visitor in Lowell, the guest of Rabbi E. Wolfson, 79 Gator street, and will give a course of addresses at the Montefiore synagogue, Howard street, tomorrow, Saturday morning at 9; in the course of the Sabbath services. In the evening, at 6, preceding the vesper meeting, and Sunday at 6 o'clock in the evening, dwelling on Elijah the Prophet, and the mission of restoring children to their parents and the latter to their offspring. Elijah, the rabbis maintain, is identified with Pinchas, whose achievements and accomplishments are recorded in the Book of Numbers of the Pentateuch and which is allotted for synagogal recitation on this particular Saturday.

Rabbi Heller is noted, likewise, as a journalist, writer and author, having written and published books and columns, both in Hebrew and English. His recently published book, named Facts and Fiction, makes interesting and instructive reading.

Dr. Heller comes highly recommended, carrying a collection of letters from former presidents of the republic, Taft and Wilson, Justice Brandeis, Nathan Straus, Dr. Wise and many other men of fame.

The rabbi is no stranger in Lowell, having visited and spoken here, some seven years ago to congregations and kindred.

Rabbi Heller will be entertained by Mr. David Ziskind, 75 Gator street, Lowell, during his stay in the city.

THREE YEARS FOR EX-FEDERAL AGENT

NEW YORK, July 14.—George Van Alstyne, formerly Federal internal revenue agent, who was convicted of attempting to extort $10,000 from L. Williams, president of the Walter L. Williams, president of the American Carpet Cleaning and Weaving company, yesterday was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years.

In June, 1920, it was charged, Van Alstyne, who had left the government service, displayed his collector's shield at Williams' office, and demanded the right to inspect the company's books. He then professed to discover a shortage in the firm's income tax return and offered to fix it for $10,000. Before handing Van Alstyne $1400 in marked money, Williams notified the police, and the arrest followed.

BREAK DEADLOCK

THE HAGUE, July 14. (By the Associated Press.)—The sub-commission on credits of the conference on Russian affairs, in which a last chance for breaking the deadlock in the conference was believed to remain, failed to reach an agreement after a three-hour session today, and Russians and non-Russians alike agreed that there was apparently no chance of continuing the conference.

MONOPOLY CHARGED IN GASOLINE MARKET

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Asserting that a "monopolistic situation" with respect to the gasoline market prevailed over the entire country, due to the fact that an interlocking stock ownership in the several Standard Oil companies "has perpetuated the very monopolistic control which the court sought to terminate," the federal trade commission recommended in a report to congress yesterday the enactment of legislation prohibiting "common stock ownership in corporations which have been members of a combination dissolved under the Sherman law."

The report deals especially with conditions in the gasoline trade in Montana and adjacent states, where the commission declared, the crude petroleum producer and the gasoline consumer were "both at the mercy of the Standard Oil."

General Edwards Warns of Perils of Pacifism in Brief Speech

SWAMPSCOTT, July 14.—Major-General Clarence R. Edwards warned the hotel men of America against post-war pacifism in the course of a brief speech at a tea tendered to the visiting hotel men by E. R. Grahaw, proprietor of the New Ocean house at Swampscott, yesterday afternoon.

The general said that certain persons taking advantage of the natural reaction against the sacrifices of the late war had filled the country with "than ever before with false doctrines which, if followed, would lead to a still greater sacrifice from the next generation. When they say that all war is a crime, he said, they are making use of an argument that makes fear and the inertia of man his guiding principle. Emerson, he declared, never said a truer thing than when he stated it was man's perdition to be safe when for the truth he ought to die.

There is only one way to prevent war according to the general and that is to teach the youth of America how to defend themselves and their mother's home. There were 500,000 casualties during the late war, not one of which would have been necessary, he said, had one-tenth of the money spent on it been devoted to training them during the past 40 years.

The delegates to the convention with their wives yesterday enjoyed an automobile trip along the north shore or were taken to machines to Belmont Spring Golf club, where the competition for a cup offered by former President James Wood of the association was keen.

It was planned that the north shore trip would be primarily for women.

Union Members Are Indicted

NEW YORK, July 14.—Thirty-seven members and officials of the operative, Plasterers and Cement Finishers International Association, Local No. 60, were indicted by a supreme court grand jury today for conspiracy and attempted restraint of trade.

but the men declared they had heard too much about the north shore with its fine roads, wonderful scenery and splendid hostilities that they clamored to go along.

The motor cavalcade swept through the north shore towns and cities with pennants flying and horns tooting and everywhere they received a hearty welcome. Each car contained a local member who acted as guide and pointed out the places of interest to the visitors. The party lunched at Hotel Magnolia at 1.30, and then motored some more, arriving at the Chateau La France for dinner.

"Luncheon Club Day" is today when the visiting hotel men and their wives will be taken to Plymouth as guests of the Luncheon club. They will go from Boston by steamer. A clam bake will be served at Plymouth, and then a good portion of the day will be spent visiting the historic places of Plymouth.

A number of delegates from Canada, the west and south have expressed their intention of staying in New England for a number of weeks following the close of the convention.

Strike at the Massachusetts he is simply complying with the mandate issued by the United Textile Workers of America last February, which called for a strike in any cotton mill where a reduction in wages is announced. "This mandate is still in force," said Mr. Hanley, "and I feel sure that the operatives of the Massachusetts will abide by it."

Speaking about the organization at the Massachusetts mills, Mr. Hanley said that at least 95 per cent. of the employees of the plant are members of unions affiliated with the U.T.W. of A. He said there is no mill in this city better organized than the Massachusetts and the workers there are all loyal to their organization.

Special meetings of the various unions have been called for this afternoon to further arrangements for the strike. The loomfixers will meet at their quarters in City Hall at 2 o'clock and the beamers in Trades & Labor hall at the same hour. The Loom Spinner Fixers' union held a special meeting at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and this evening, at the Lowell Textile council meeting, the various organizations will report.

Relative to the strike at the Merrimack Mfg. Co., where a wage reduction went into effect last Monday, Mr. Hanley sent the following letter to Agent Jude C. Wadleigh:

Dear Sir:

As the mandate of the International

United Textile Workers of America, which went into effect Feb. 13, 1922, that wherever a reduction in wages was attempted, all organized textile workers must refuse to work, is still in force, I, as an officer of the U.T.W. of A. hereby sanction the strike at the Merrimack Mfg. Co., which went into effect July 10, 1922, when your employees refused to accept the proposed reduction.

Very truly yours,
JOHN HANLEY.

A largely attended dance for the benefit of the strikers was held last evening in the Casino. Those present spent a most enjoyable evening and the results of the evening were very substantial. Edward Sullivan acted as floor director and Mrs. Annie Reagan as treasurer.

Drawing Contest

The name of the winner of the fourth prize is not known, but the winning ticket bears No. 4.

FORM PLAYGROUND BASEBALL LEAGUE

At a meeting of playground instructors at city hall this morning, a playground baseball league was formed with the following representatives present: George Feeney of the Butler; James Laffey, Greenhaige; Joseph Reynolds, Morey; John Mortality, North Common; Francis O'Grady, South Common; Edwin Mahoney, Shedd park; Earl Greenhaige, Washington park; John Donohue, Walker.

It was decided that games will be played on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, beginning at 2 o'clock, and not going later than 4.30. Five full innings shall constitute a game, and no boy over 15 years of age will be allowed to participate. If this rule is violated, the game will be automatically forfeited. A suitable prize will be awarded to the best base-stealer.

The schedule for next week is as follows: July 15, Aiken vs. Greenhaige; Washington vs. Morey; Butler vs. South Common; North Common vs. Walker. July 16, Greenhaige vs. Washington; Morey vs. North Common; South Common vs. Aiken; Walker vs. Butler. July 17, Washington vs. Butler; Aiken vs. North Common; Greenhaige vs. Morey; Walker vs. South Common. The first named team on each list will be regarded as the home team. The supervisor of the respective playgrounds will serve as the umpire, and if his time is occupied, the team will bring their own arbiters along. The Shedd park team will play the leading team in the league every week.

strike breakers at the car shops the residents of Billerica in the vicinity of the plant have petitioned the board of selectmen for better police protection in that part of the village. The petitioners were given a hearing in the North village town hall yesterday afternoon and there was a large attendance. In the course of the hearing it was brought out by several residents that some of the strike breakers are roaming through the fields during the night, and it was also intimated that some of them carried firearms. Some of the residents fear that they will be molested by these men and they also fear damage to their property. At the close of the hearing the selectmen conferred with Superintendent Jennings at the car shops and they requested him to keep the strike breakers on the grounds of the company. It was announced later that that portion of the town in the vicinity of the shops will be properly patrolled and strike breakers who are found on private grounds will be arrested for trespassing.

Strikebreakers Discharged

A wedding cut process was started at the Billerica shops yesterday afternoon when 160 strikebreakers who came to the town from Boston and other cities, were paid off and informed that their services were no longer required. The strikers claim that on Tuesday the company dropped 170 names from its payroll and on Wednesday 10 more employees were discharged, but this is denied by shop officials, who maintain that the first move in the wedding out process was made yesterday when 150 men were fired.

Mass Meeting Tonight

All is in readiness for the mass meeting to be held on the South Common this evening under the auspices of the federated crafts of the car shops. The meeting will open at 7.45 o'clock or immediately after the baseball game and the strikers hope that the thousands of fans, who will be on the common at that time will be main to hear the employees' side of the strike situation. The principal speaker will be Robert Fechner of Boston, vice president of the International Association of Machinists, while other men prominent in the labor movement will also address the gathering. A special invitation to attend the meeting is being extended by the press committee to clergymen, business and professional men.

JUDGE RESIGNS PANAMA, July 14.—Judge P. C. Kerr of the canal zone district court has resigned.

Issue Call

CHICAGO, July 14.—A strike call in the $900 stationary firemen, engineers and others employed on railroads throughout the United States, has been issued, Timothy Healy, international president of the organization, announced today.

The strike is effective next Monday, July 17 at 8 a. m. The call was made in compliance with the recent referendum which favored a walkout. Mr. Healy said.

The text of the message to all locals follows:

"In compliance with your strike vote which is 888 favoring a walkout, sanction is hereby granted to each and every member of our brotherhood on all railroads, steam plants, roundhouses and terminals throughout the United States to suspend work at 8 a. m. Monday, July 17, 1922.

(Signed) "TIMOTHY HEALY."

"International President." Stationary firemen and others on several railroads had already joined in a sympathetic walkout with the railway shop crafts.

"We are into the fight and we intend to win," Mr. Healy said.

New Crisis

CHICAGO, July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Strike threats by maintenance of way employees overshadowed the last 10 days by the shopmen's strike, broke out again today, bringing the rail strike to a new crisis as it neared the end of its second week.

Fresh outbreaks of violence, notably in Texas, Oklahoma, and Missouri, President Harding's determined steps to keep the mails moving and informal negotiations for a settlement of the shopmen's strike on 17 roads in the northwest, were among other important developments of the last 24 hours.

Pressure by many of his general chairmen upon E. F. Grable, president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way employees, and railway shop laborers, pushed the common labor problem to the front again. Mr. Grable's action in withholding strike orders after maintenance of way employees voted to join the walkout, did not please many of the organization's general chairmen, who passed on to

BY HARRY D. HUNT
WASHINGTON, July 14.—Extension of the primary law, rather than its repeal, must be secured if popular government is to be perpetuated, says Senator Arthur Capper, republican of Kansas, head of the farm bloc and recognized as a national progressive leader. Evidence of a careful, systematic propaganda to undermine public confidence in state primary laws with a view to bringing about their repeal and a return to the selection of candidates by party conventions is seen under the

of recent primary elections in which the people have rejected 'organization' candidates and nominated men of their own choice, has upset them. Yet the fact that the primary gave the voters a chance to name their own choice instead of having a hand-picked organization candidate forced on them is the best possible endorsement of the primary principle. "If the people are not to have a voice in the nomination of their candidates for office, why should they have a voice in their election. "If popular elections are to stand, nominations by primary must stand. "No other plan comes near to providing popular government.

Kansas As Example

"Take for instance my state before the time of state primaries. The conventions were dominated by the railroad, stockyard and liquor interests. These interests combined to control and did control the results in both republican and democratic conventions. They decided who the nominees should be in both parties. "After that, the people could elect whichever nominee they choose. With their candidates hand-picked for them, they had no freedom of selection. Nominations for governors, legislators, even for supreme court justices, were directed by corporation influences, not by the free will of the people. "Four times out of five, the primary is more important than the election. For in many states a minority party candidate has no chance whatever. The nominees of the majority party are assured of election. "If the primary is eliminated, so the voter has no voice in the selection of his party's nominees, he has no voice in the election.

Fair for Poor Man

"It may be true there are times when a poor man is at a disadvantage under the primary system. But the nomination of Col. Smith Brookhart in Iowa as a candidate for United States senator shows a man can be nominated without spending large sums of money—if he has the people's confidence and they want him.

"Secretary Weeks, it seems to me, out-Hitlered the Bolsheviks in declaring popular government a failure. With all the unrest and discontent now current, this is a poor time to talk about taking from the people their primaries. Rather, we should be studying how to extend them.

"Not less popular government but more popular government is what we need."

At Zurich, Switzerland, winter is banished annually on April 21 by making a dummy of white cotton, filling it with fireworks and gunpowder, and blowing the affair up at 8 o'clock in the evening.

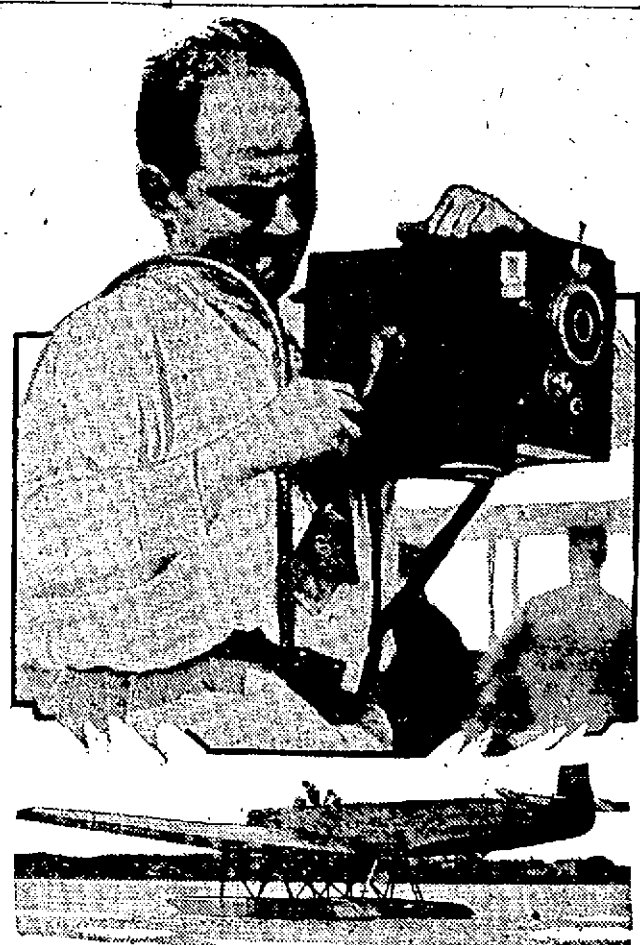

SENATOR ARTHUR CAPPER

recent criticism of primaries by President Harding, Secretary of War Weeks and Senator Watson of Indiana.

"I cannot go along with the president, Weeks and Watson," Capper declares. "Instead of abolishing or limiting the primary, it must be extended. "I hope to see the day when nominations for president will be by popular primary. When that day comes, we shall be getting on toward a really popular government. The people must have more voice, not less voice, in their government and in the selection of men who make and administer the laws.

National Committeemen First

"One of the first steps in extending the primary should be selection of national committeemen by popular vote. That would give the rank and file for the parties a voice. It has none now. "Of course the reason for the dissatisfaction of party leaders with the primaries is not hard to find. Results

JAIL TERMS FOR ELOPING COUPLE

WORCESTER, July 14.—An elopement by a Natick man and a Saxonville woman had its denouement in Central district court in Worcester yesterday, when James J. Banks of Natick and Mrs. Rose A. Kelton of Saxonville were each sentenced to serve six months in the Worcester house of correction on charges of misconduct.

Mrs. Catherine A. Banks, wife of the man, told the court that her husband left her last October and that she had not seen him since until she saw him in the courtroom. Carl H. Kelton, husband of the woman, testified that his wife left their home last March, taking one of their three children with her and leaving two in his care.

James Keefe, superintendent of the Suncrest Farm in Auburn, testified that the defendants represented themselves as husband and wife when they went to work for him last spring and occupied the same apartments at the farm until it was discovered they were not married.

HERE'S A CHANCE FOR PRETTY MAIDS

PETROGRAD, July 14.—The sunshine of summer makes evident Russia's lack of baby carriages. There are no trim nurses wheeling babies along the park paths and only rarely is a perambulator seen at all. Thousands of babies, out for an airing, are carried in their mothers' arms. Occasionally one sees semi-Oriental women, from the steppes and Turkestan with their infants strapped across their backs, like American Indian papooses. Russian babies of the peasant type die by thousands in the hot summer and their tiny bodies know few or none of the cooling comforts of screened and shady porches. The use of ice for keeping milk, is practically unknown.

But thousands of the hardy little infants go wherever their mothers do, seem to sleep contentedly on their mothers' breasts in crowded box cars or under dripping eaves on rainy days when the parents lie like huddled bundles of rags in the shelter of buildings.

GIVE QUEEN SPAN OF HORSES AS GIFT

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 14.—Members of the local Jockey club recently assembled six splendid horses and asked Princess Marie, now Queen of Serbia, to select one as a wedding present. With the princess came her mother, Queen Marie of Rumania, and Elena, the younger daughter. After seeing the horses, Princess Marie was unable to choose between two. "Well, let us present you the span," gallantly offered the members, and the offer was accepted.

Then, it was remembered that the day was the birthday of Princess Elena, and she was offered a horse, which she selected and accepted. Finally, it seemed ungraceful not to offer a horse to the queen, who is a splendid horsewoman, and this offer she accepted. Had the king been present, doubtless he would have been offered the remaining horses.

HOUSE BOATS ARE FAST DISAPPEARING

LONDON, July 15.—The flower-decked houseboats which American visitors to Hampton court, Henley and other places on the Thames were wont to admire are fast disappearing from the river.

The motor launch with a cabin capable of sleeping from two to four persons, in taking its place, in a restless ago the houseboat has been found too restful. It is going the way of other Victorian ideas.

Twenty years ago one Chertsey firm used to build 14 new houseboats every year. Last year they built one. The demand now is for something that will move. Over 1000 motor launches are now running in the Thames Conservancy area alone.

RECOMMENDS TRIAL OF AMERICAN TESTS

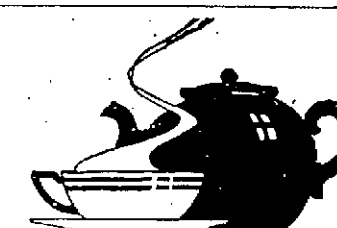

STOCKHOLM, July 14.—The Swedish general staff has recommended that the American army intelligence test be tried out in the Swedish army with a view of adopting it, should it prove practical and successful. It is proposed to experiment on three infantry regiments of recruits under the supervision of Professor G. A. Jaederholm of the University of Gothenburg.

To Every Fair-Minded
Resident of Lowell

THE Boston Ice Cream Company has been MANUFACTURING and selling high quality ice cream in Lowell for over fifteen years.

During that time we have paid out many thousands of dollars to the city of Lowell and its citizens in taxes and wages. We have endeavored at all times to give Lowell the finest ice cream that it is possible to produce at a reasonable price.

That we have succeeded is attested to by the quantity of Boston Ice Cream Company's product consumed by discriminating residents of this city.

Our local plant is a Lowell institution—the ice cream produced is made by Lowell people for Lowell people. If our well-established business in other parts of the State helps us to attain an unusually high standard of quality in our product then Lowell has benefited accordingly.

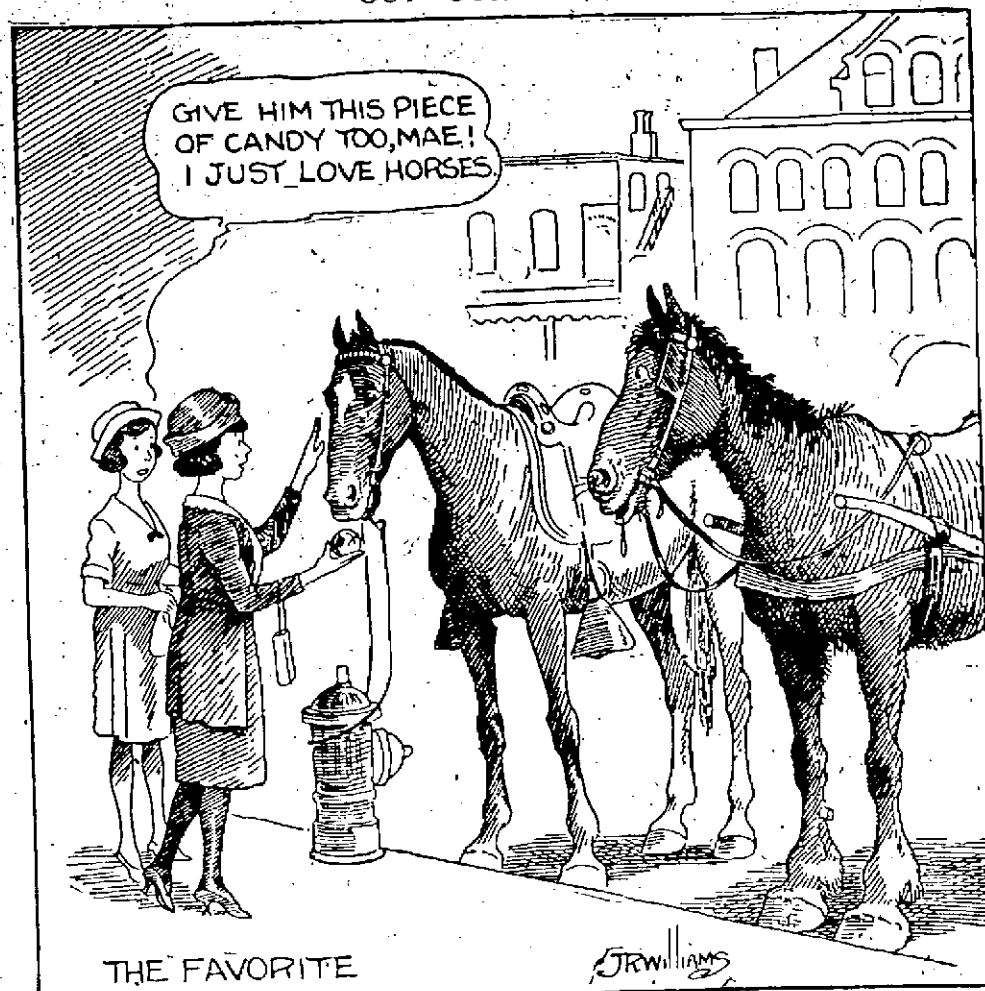

We feel that Lowell is out to give a square deal to every firm that selects its city as a place to do business. To do otherwise would mean industrial disaster for this progressive city. Therefore, while we cannot overlook the propaganda appearing in the newspapers regarding the purchase of ice cream, we are certain that it will accomplish nothing and that Lowell will continue to buy its ice cream on a basis of quality obtained.

We allow our ice cream to stand on its own two feet. It sells on its merit alone! Never have we found it necessary to employ unethical methods of obtaining business—we offer no premiums to the public; we hold out no inducement to you other than the pleasure to be enjoyed in a dish of pure high-grade delicious ice cream.

FREEDOM OF PRESS NEAR
IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, July 14.—Freedom of the press in Mexico is as near a reality now as has been recorded during the past half century, according to competent observers. Contrasted with the censorship days of Huerta and Carranza, editors and correspondents are enjoying almost unprecedented liberty, and President Obregon on several occasions has emphasized that newspapers and other publications are free to go as far as they like.

The newspapers Omega and Las Noticias, the former a weekly and the latter a daily, lead the opposition to the administration and the vindictiveness which they display in almost every issue would not have been tolerated for more than one day during the Carranza regime, for instance. The more substantial newspapers, on the other hand, spare no ink now in tailing the reading public wherein they think the Obregon regime is at fault and even rank misquotations of conversations with the chief executive are allowed to pass with only a mild protest.

Foreign correspondents are told that there is no cable or mail censorship and if there is, it is so adversely done that it has not yet been detected.

President Obregon in one respect offers sharp contrast to his predecessor President Carranza. The present executive is much more approachable and has none of the aloofness of the former first chief. He receives newspapermen regularly every fortnight and local reporters, many of whom have been with him on campaign, feel no hesitation in calling Chapultepec Castle by telephone to converse with the president. The newspaper interviews are extremely informal affairs, the president sitting at a little table in the center of a circle of reporters and correspondents. Refreshments are served and quite frequently the president relaxes and tells lively stories.

AUDITOR WILL ASK
SOLICITOR'S OPINION

City Auditor Daniel E. Martin will seek an opinion from City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney as to the legality of the payment of bills presented for the Packard touring car bought by the mayor and the pair of tracks bought for the street department. Although local automobile dealers have unsuccessfully taken steps in the courts to block payment, the city council may take further steps in the matter and therefore, the auditor does not desire to authorize payment until so advised by the law department.

HOLLAND'S FRONTIER
ONCE MORE POPULAR

BERLIN, July 14.—Holland's frontier, made notorious during the war as a favorite exit from Germany for fugitive prisoners of war, is again coming into the limelight through the surreptitious crossing of young German girls anxious to get Dutch employment. It is estimated that Germany is already poorer by 20,000 female servants as a result of this practice.

With high wages and attractive working conditions, Holland has become something of a "promised land" for German frauless qualified as housemaids or cooks. Twenty to twenty-five guilders a month are paid beginners, while the more efficient receive from 40 to 60. Such pay means from 2000 to 5000 marks monthly at the present rate of exchange, about ten times more than help of this kind receives in Germany.

Amsterdam firms and dwellings have acquired about 5000 of the emigrants and there are about 2000 at The Hague. Most of them have been drawn from the Rhineland and Westphalia, where labor exchanges have been established at various places in co-operation with Dutch exchanges. Women's organizations in the western German provinces are actively opposing the exodus because of the shortage of help in households and on farms.

LIBERTY BELL MUST STAY AT HOME

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—Mayor Moore yesterday vetoed the city council resolution permitting the Liberty Bell to be taken to Chicago.

Technically, he said, the order conferred administrative powers upon the council, which it did not possess. He said further that while appreciating the patriotic benefits of trips of the bell, he felt that as custodian of the great emblem of national unity, Philadelphia had a greater duty than that of stirring up patriotism.

If the trip to Chicago were approved it would set a precedent for other trips which could not well be refused, he said, thus endangering the bell.

BIG CROWDS AT

The sultry sun, pouring down on the city, drove many people to the municipal bath house yesterday, and the high water mark in attendance for this season was reached. There were so many people there that the swimming space was crowded, the beach jammed, and the bath house filled.

The crowds started pouring in as soon as the doors were opened in the morning at 11 o'clock, and they continued to come until the closing hour. Early in the morning the kiddos appeared and some of them came with their bathing suits already on.

The diving raft was very popular all day, and the private beach for the girls reported a full attendance. The guards and instructors had their hands full with the large crowds and put in a busy day.

FOUNDING COLONIES
IN SOUTH RUSSIA

WARSAW, July 14.—Thousands of German ex-service men are founding colonies in South Russia, according to reports published here from Odessa. In the neighborhood of the latter city large tracts of "nationalized" land have already been taken up by these colonists at the invitation of the Bolshevik government. Within the next two years the soviet plan to establish 100,000 of these German colonists in South Russia.

Held in $10,000 on Robbery Charge

SALEM, July 14.—William B. Silva, Gloucester, was held in $10,000 for the grand jury in the first district court today, on a charge of highway robbery. On June 5, Cliff Boucher, a taxicab man was hired by Silva and another man to take them from Salem to Manchester. En route the two overpowered Boucher, bound and gagged him and robbed him of $200 and made off with his taxicab, which was found the next day abandoned near Ipswich. Silva was arrested a week ago in a Gloucester dance hall. The other man has not been apprehended.

May Delay Rebuilding of Shrine

QUEBEC, July 14.—The building of a temple at St. Anne de Beaupre to replace that destroyed by fire last March, may be delayed for several years, owing to the heavy losses sustained by the Redemptorist Fathers, whose destroyed properties were only insured for $140,000. The pilgrimages have not been affected by the destruction of the church, thousands of visitors from all over Canada and the United States having been cared for in the temporary edifice, constructed immediately after the fire.

Millions for New School Houses

BOSTON, July 14.—Thirty-eight new school buildings to cost more than $7,000,000, are now under construction throughout the state and 32 other schools to cost over $10,000,000 have been authorized, the state department of education reported today. The new schools will house 34,000 pupils.

The average salary of the state teachers during the last decade has increased 99 per cent, the department said.

HEIR TO MILLIONSIS CHARITY CHARGE

CHICAGO, July 14.—Anna Louisa Beers, 2 years old, heir apparent of a $2,550,000 estate, now cared for by a conservator, has been in a charity ward three months and has been clothed by the county for more than a year, according to testimony introduced at a hearing yesterday in juvenile court.

The child is a granddaughter of Captain Edward Morrison, known as "The millionnaire millionaire" because he has not had control of his money for several years. The child's mother was adopted by Morrison years ago. It is said the mother recently had been in New York and was touring fashionable places.

The child probably will remain in the county hospital at least until September 19, while a search is made for the mother.

Six Men Stunned; a Number Shocked and Headquarters Set on Fire

CAMP DEVENS, July 14.—Six men were stunned by lightning and Brig. Gen. Edward L. Logan's headquarters were set on fire yesterday afternoon during one of the most severe electrical storms this camp has seen this season.

All of the men stunned are members of the 104th Infantry. Major Merrill F. Hosmer, the medical officer who attended them, said last night that none is in danger.

Privates Wilfred Holland and Alfred K. Foster, both of the Howitzer company, and both of Orange, and Private Harold W. Cook of Co. M, who lives at Adams, were in their barracks when the bolt struck. Holland and Cook were made unconscious.

Sergeant Arthur F. Nobles of Co. C, who comes from Springfield, and Corp. Alex Lowe of the same company and city, were under the shower bath when the bolt struck. Both were stunned.

Capt. John C. Hackett, commander of Co. G, who also lives in Springfield, was at the field telephone in his office when the bolt struck. The shock toppled him from his chair and dazed him.

Gen. Logan was sitting at his headquarters with members of his staff during the storm. After a particularly terrific crash, the general remarked that the bolt must have struck near by. He got up and walked to the end of the room to look out the window. As he passed the kitchen he saw flames bursting from the wall. He called to his officers and they all turned firemen, the general included. They threw water on the flames and quickly extinguished them.

The 104th Infantry area suffered less from the storm. One telephone operator felt a shock and arose from his switchboard with vivacity. The regimental tailor, who was engaged in pressing clothes with an electric iron, also felt the lightning and abandoned his work. Private Louis Deluca of 26 Battalion Headquarters, was knocked down by the shock and about 20 other men also felt it. But the storm brought great relief to the National Guard troops. The heat in the morning was almost as intense as that of the day before, and several men abandoned their training because of weakness, though none was prostrated. The 1st Battalion of the 101st were on the rifle range at Cranberry Pond all day and some of them were feeling the heat terribly.

One man was taken from the pits because he was showing signs of exhaustion. The entire brigade is looking forward to tomorrow when the biggest military formation since the last review of the Yankee division will be staged for the benefit of the Adjutant General of the six New England states, Major Gen. Clarence R. Edwards and many visitors who have signified their intention of coming to camp.

Not only are all of the National Guard troops now here to be turned out, but the 600 odd regiments who are in camp are also to be reviewed with the National Guardsmen, the entire group operating as a division. They will maneuver under the command of Brig. Edward L. Logan.

TAUNTON MAYOR IS NOT SATISFIED

TAUNTON, July 14.—Clifton Sturges, a Boston architect, who during the past month has been making a survey of the school house situation in Taunton, with particular reference to the east Taunton district, has completed his work, and the report which he has submitted to Mayor Leo H. Coughlin was declared in a statement issued by the mayor yesterday to be unsatisfactory.

Mr. Sturges did make a complete survey of the situation at East Taunton and submitted two plans for the consideration of the city officials, final action on which will be taken by the school committee.

However his supplementary report relative to the conditions in outside schools was not satisfactory to Mayor Coughlin and some members of the council, but Mr. Sturges in explanation stated that, owing to the great amount of time which he was forced to spend in the survey at East Taunton, he did not have the opportunity to make any thing but a physical examination of some of the other school buildings of the city. He is to be paid $1000 for his work.

Danish girls who become engaged wear a plain gold ring on their third finger of their left hand; as soon as they are married they change the ring to the third finger of their right hand.

In New Holland the women cut themselves with shells and, keeping the wounds open a long time, form scars in the flesh which they deem very ornamental.

RINGS FIRE ALARM TO GET OUT QUORUM

DEDHAM, July 14.—The officials of the special town meeting held last night in Memorial hall had the fire alarm sounded in order to secure a quorum. There were only 50 voters in the hall when the hour for the meeting arrived. Town Moderator George G. Darling, John K. Burgess, chairman of the board of selectmen, and selectman William M. Browne put their heads together. Fire Chief Harrigan was ordered to ring in the alarm outside the hall.

The officials and the 50 voters awaited developments on the steps of the hall. In a short time the aroused voters came, on foot, in cars and on motorcycles. When they reached the square they saw no fire nor fire apparatus, but they did see 50 of their fellow-townsmen waving and calling to them from the steps of Memorial hall.

Some of them left the square in disgust, and others went into the hall. Moderator Darling needed 100 votes. He counted in the janitor and the two policemen at the door. Then he established a time record for town meetings. It was all over in one minute 42 seconds. The meeting voted $11,400.05 to repair the old high school, which was struck by lightning in June, and $1310.98 for books and supplies to replace those destroyed.

M. I. T. GLIDERS GOING TO FRANCE

NEW YORK, July 14.—Revival of American interest in the aerial "glider," which dropped from prominence when the Wright brothers produced their first motor-driven plane, was predicted by the Aeronautical chamber of commerce of America yesterday. In announcing that three young Americans will sail for France Saturday with their newly designed glider to take part in the first international gliding contests to be held in August at Clermont-Ferrand.

The trio—Edmund T. Allen of Chicago, Harry C. Kercher of Mansfield, O., and Otto C. Keppen of Manassas, N. Y.—built their glider at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where they are students.

On June 12, Allen tested it at Ipswich, rising from a 50-foot elevation in a 15-mile headwind. Altogether, five successful flights were made. It reached a maximum elevation of 20 feet and advanced a maximum distance, in one flight, of 200 feet.

As the result of these trials, the young men, with assistance of other aeronautical students at Cambridge, redesigned the glider into what they believe is the most efficient type yet produced. The trail little aircraft has a span of 24 feet, a wing width of 4 feet 9 inches, and measures 16 feet overall. It is of spruce and fabric construction and weighs only 80 pounds.

GETS TERRIFIC SHOCK BUT STILL LIVES

WESTFIELD, July 14.—Edward Sadowsky, 9, was fatally burned by the heat from a high tension electric wire of the Turners Falls Power company at the top of a 150-foot steel tower of Pochnagis street, yesterday morning. The wire carried 66,000 volts. The boy was taken to Noble hospital where it was stated he has no chance of recovery.

With two others, he had climbed to the top of the tower. The Sadowsky boy got too close to the high tension wire. His clothes caught fire and he was soon a living torch. The upper part of his body was terribly burned before the power was shut off. The attention of residents near the scene of the accident was called to the lad's predicament when they heard a loud report and screams and saw smoke issuing from the burning clothes of the boy.

Edward was seated on the topmost platform of the tower. When the power was shut off he staggered to his feet. He was taken from the tower by Irving Taylor, an employee of the power company, and he was able to walk, but upon reaching the hospital he became unconscious.

LARGE AMOUNT OF WAR FUNDS GONE

CHICAGO, July 14.—The alleged disappearance of $100,000 of funds collected in Chicago in various drives for disabled war veterans was reported to the state attorney's office by Mrs. Anna Hoganson and a number of the women who maintain in the County building, a bureau for the relief of veterans.

He promised that if it developed there had been anything criminal in the administration of the funds, indictments and prosecution would follow.

DESERTERS RETURNING TO VOLGA NOW

SARATOFF, Russia, July 14.—Thin but sunburned little groups of ragged children and adults who fled from the hunger-death of the Volga last autumn to provinces that promised bread, are now trekking back to the homes they deserted.

Daily they arrive at Saratoff, Samara, Kazan and other railway junction points in the famine belt. Some of them are in worse shape than when they departed. They found other provinces inhospitable and food scarce everywhere.

Many of the returning wanderers are being fed at American relief administration food kitchens. Others are struggling on as best they can until the September harvest.

EUROPE INCREASES ORE CONSUMPTION

STOCKHOLM, July 14.—Europe has increased its consumption of Swedish iron ore, a fact taken here to indicate that European industries are on the mend.

The biggest iron ore mining firm in Sweden, the Grängesberg Oxelösund company has exported through Narvik in 1922, 250,000 more tons of iron ore than during the same period of 1921. In May alone of this year Narvik cleared 500,000 tons of iron ore, breaking all previous records.

The principal buyers of Swedish iron ore are England, Belgium, Germany and the countries of Central Europe.

By T. B. HITCHCOCK

Textile manufacturing methods 175 years ago were inconceivably crude. Cotton fibre had to be separated from its seed by hand, at the rate perhaps of three or four pounds a person per day; such carding as was necessary was done by rubbing the stock between two boards (cards) covered with wires, and held one in each hand; the hand-turned spinning wheel formed it into yarn, and the hand loom wove the cloth.

At that time England used not more than four million pounds of cotton in a year, about the amount of yarn that 20,000 modern spindles produce in the same time.

The 75 years between 1750 and 1825 saw the invention and rapid development of automatic machinery. The gin, the revolving card, the spinning jenny, the throstle frame, the mule, possibly so called because it is something of a cross between the two; and the power-loom were all conceived during this period and made possible the factory system of today, with its high-speed machinery, acres of floor space and its thousands of operatives in a single establishment.

With these developments came, alas, unfortunately, accidents causing loss of wages, suffering, sometimes permanent disability. How best to combat them is a problem that now confronts every manufacturing community.

When one of your chums has been hurt in the mill, have you ever stopped to think how it happened, how it might have been avoided? Run over in your mind, right now, some accidents you know about and work out one or two rules for your own guidance so that you will never get caught in the same way.

Let one of your general rules be: "Play safe; know what you are doing." Be sure that you know your machine. If you are taken off one you have run for a long time and given another, look it over carefully and see if it is at all different. Even if it is the same make of frame you are used to, it may be an older or a later pattern with some slight differences that may confuse you until you have run it for a while. Notice particularly whether the gears are arranged in the same way and are as well guarded by their covers.

One cannot refer to the dangerous possibilities of gears without mentioning the evil practice of cleaning running machinery. This combination causes more loss of time and of wages than anything else.

Constant cleaning, of course, is in some degree necessary in any textile mill, but mill rules allow part of it to be deferred until the power is down at the end of the week, or set aside a few minutes each day for stopping individual machines so as to clean the more dangerous parts in safety.

If you are at all in doubt as to just what you should or should not do, and the proper time for doing it, get your boss to show you and then play the game strictly according to rules. Those who try to get off a few more banks, by keeping their frames running while cleaning contrary to the rules are taking a chance of losing from injuries much more than they can possibly gain in a good many hours.

When cleaning near running parts, use your brush or hook. Never use hard waste, for the threads may catch and draw your fingers into the gears. Watch out particularly for gears or other parts that have an irregular motion such as the skip (or twin) gears, and the bulldog dog of roving frames. These change their position so suddenly that a finger is sure to be caught if it is in their path.

Belts, banties and pulleys take their toll from people who are too familiar with them. If you use your hand to run on a belt or band, be sure that the end of your sleeve does not get caught. Sometimes a person will try to guide a belt onto a pulley by putting his foot against it. Here again look out for your clothes. Above all be wary about reaching your arm through a belt.

Weighted winding rolls and drums deserve care and respect. Very serious accidents occur when starting new picker laps, simply because the weights are run down before the end of the lap catches under the winding roll. See that the lap is well started and your hands are in the clear before applying the weights.

In the same way hands are frequently caught and badly jammed between the spool and drums of the silver and ribbon lap machines. In starting new laps, it is natural to tuck the end of the lap down with the hand but if it is simply thrown over the spool and given time, it will catch of itself. If you want quicker action, however, use a flat piece of wood as a presser.

Not many mill workers think of shafting as particularly dangerous line shafting, of course, is well out of the reach of most workers but the undershaft of the drawing frame and short lengths of shafting on other machines are not. Most of them look good and smooth and harmless.

Yet those who study accidents in all kinds of industries know that many workers are badly maimed every year because some part of their clothing becomes caught on the revolving shaft.

One of the most recent accidents of this kind occurred to a drawing frame tender in a Massachusetts cotton mill. She was cleaning underneath her frame and used her apron to wipe the lint from the bottom shaft. The apron caught on the shaft, wrapped around her thumb and pulled it off before anyone could stop the frame. The small diameter of a shaft gives it a tremendous power so that once it catches one's clothing about the only chance of escape lies in the weakness of the cloth.

As a good citizen it is up to you to keep accidents down to a minimum. Look out for the other fellow who is careless and raise a row if you see him doing anything that endangers your life or someone else's. (Tomorrow: "Dangerous Belts and Shafting.")

A temple costing $3,000,000 is to be erected in St. Anne de Beaupre, to replace the one destroyed, according to an announcement of the Redemptorist Fathers.

O. S. U. $1,000,000 STADIUM

The new stadium of Ohio State University will be the largest, costliest and most complete of any athletic field in the world. Unlike most present day "bowls," it is left open at one end, a horse shoe shape. Engineers learned this trick of ventilation when they found that the famous "Yale Bowl" was five per cent warmer on the playing field than at the crest of the stadium. Another added feature is the cinder running path provided underneath the stands.

"In the Name of the Law" Lacks Form

ELLA HALL, HEROINE OF "IN THE NAME OF THE LAW," HER FIRST MOVIE IN THREE YEARS. RALPH LEWIS AND CLAIRE McDOWELL HAVE THE ROLES OF MOTHER AND FATHER.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, July 14.—Pictures have lately shown improvement in story worth because directors and screenwriters have put human limitations on their screen characters.
Thus heroes of the screen are no more magnificently than heroes of real life, and villains no more nefarious and pitiless than their living prototypes. This balancing of attributes lends human realism to filmed characters.
Another limitation directors and creators of screen stories must recognize is that of the motion picture as a medium of expression. Delicacies of the camera have been little considered in the selection of literary works for transposition to the screen. For a few of those who write directly for the screen have a definite idea of the limitations of a motion picture in telling its story.
This gives rise to those peculiar admixtures of symbolism, subtleties, unnecessary characterizations and extraneous action so often seen by the movie patron.
In this latter classification falls "In the Name of the Law." As pictures go, that is a good picture, but it readily serves as a case in point. It possesses no unity of action, theme and treatment because the director and screenwriter have had no definite idea of the limitation of a photographed story.
It opens with several yards of subtitles which sound all right but mean nothing. Occasionally action is interrupted by flashes of clouds sweeping across the sun. That, probably symbolical of a crisis approaching or surmounting.
Reduced to its simple elements "In the Name of the Law" is a story of the vicissitudes of a policeman's family. It tells of the sacrifices of a father and mother for two sons and an adopted daughter.
The son at college is falsely accused of stealing money. The father blames the mother for this situation, because she has encouraged the boy to gain an education. The mother withdraws money from the bank to go to the aid of her son.
The younger son works at the bank as a teller. The adopted daughter is secretary to the cashier. They innocently become involved in difficulties in trying to raise funds to relieve the older son.
The situation becomes more involved when the father, mistaking the younger son for a bank robber shoots him. The college son comes home a fullledged lawyer and wins an acquittal when his brother is tried.

All of that comprises a story that would gain force by its very simplicity. Elaborated by a sentimental introduction, flashes of symbolism and a hifalutin title, it becomes just one movie among hundreds.

Speaking of simplicity of treatment, consider a feature of the next Pathé Review. It is called "Fest—Hers 'n' His'n." The varying stages of a love affair are shown simply by two pairs of feet, one masculine, the other feminine. Only the feet and ankles are recorded by the camera, but that is sufficient to show the man waiting for the girl to appear, the quarrel, the separation, the reconciliation and the wedding.

Such instances as these illustrate the force of simplicity. One of the biggest thrills in "Foolish Wives" was a scene that showed only the hoofs of fire horses as they pounded their way to the fire.

"The Jellyfish" Title of new film featuring Wyndham Standing, Gustave Seyffertitz and Dorothy Mackall.

WOMAN FOR CONGRESS

Massachusetts May Have First Woman in East
at Washington

Massachusetts may have the first woman congressman in the east, Miss Lily E. Darcy of New Bedford, whose Washington berth as secretary of Congressman Joseph Walsh will be terminated when Mr. Walsh takes up his judgeship to which Gov. Cox has appointed him. It is known to have a good record for the capital, and she is expected to enter the lists and make a fight to succeed to the position of her employer. Like a good politician, Miss Darcy says nothing—yet.

The first woman to be appointed secretary to a Massachusetts congressman, Miss Darcy has since 1917 handled a man-size job. Regarding her success at the task, it is significant that after watching the experience of three other Massachusetts congressmen now have women for their private secretaries—positions formerly thought exclusively for men.

Miss Darcy got her political grounding in New Bedford, where the game is played and enjoyed as keenly as anywhere in the state. She was an assistant clerk of committees of the city council for seven years, and until she went to Washington she had been recording clerk of the common council since the office was established.

It was noted in New Bedford that Miss Darcy made hundreds of friends through her political work, and in Washington they say "it is difficult to recall anyone who has as wide a Washington acquaintance."

Her work as secretary to Congressman Walsh required social ability, diplomacy, and a profound knowledge of politics, all of which qualities were displayed by Miss Darcy. At least, none of her prospective opponents deny that she knows the game. Representative Walsh has been a republican leader in the house, and few men have been so constant in attendance at sessions as he. As a result, much more than ordinary routine work has fallen to the lot of Miss Darcy.

During the war, particularly, was she kept active. Problems regarding war risk insurance, allotments, loss of equipment and regarding wounded and missing men were put up to Congressman Walsh by his constituents, and were taken care of by Miss Darcy while the representative was on the floor of the house.

Occasionally she has had time to dip into the social whirl and usually she has the opportunity to attend official functions and social affairs. She was one of the few outsiders invited to the exercises at Trinity college when Cardinal Gibbons conferred the degree of LL.D. on Queen Elizabeth of Belgium.

Miss Darcy met Lady Astor recently when she was in Washington. This meeting may affect her decision regarding the running for the office of representative, for it is said that Lady Astor advised her to become a candidate if the opportunity ever offered.

Miss Darcy says that women as a whole take politics more seriously than men and seek to be as well informed as possible regarding candidates and issues. She said that at the Pan-American conference of women in Baltimore she met a dozen or more women who would soon be recognized as capable leaders were they in congress.

Miss Darcy is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Darcy of 115 Grinnell street, New Bedford, and niece of John Hannigan of the board of assessors. She lived in New Bedford practically all her life until she went to Washington. She was graduated from the Fifth Street school and entered the office of Abbott P. Smith, studying stenography evenings.

She became expert at stenography and stood at the head of the civil service lists. She was official stenographer for the park board, police and fire investigations.

Until she went away Miss Darcy was active in the social life of St. James church and of the Elks and Knights of Columbus. She was treasurer of St. James auxiliary, Red Cross, and taught evenings in the Robert C. Ingraham evening school.

their chief the persistent demands of the rank and file for concerted action. Mr. Grabie arrived in Chicago while threats to disregard his refusal to join the walkout came from within his organization. The general chairman, he asserted, had no authority to call a strike, and he indicated an intention to remain firm in his refusal to sanction a strike.

The maintenance men's chief declared that no special significance was attached to his midnight conference last night with R. M. Jewell, the shopmen's strike leader. Mr. Grabie stopped in Chicago on his return from Kansas City after conferences with his chairman there, and asserted that he had no further grievances at present to take before the United States Railroad Labor board, mediations by whose chairman, Ben W. Hooper, and W. L. McMenamin, one of the three labor members, prevented the threatened July walkout by maintenance men.

Having Difficulty

Mr. Grabie admitted that he was with difficulty holding his men in line. Many maintenance employees who reluctantly remained at work when the shopmen's walkout occurred July 1, since have joined the strike.

The new crisis caused by threats from the maintenance men arrived as peace moves to end the shopmen's strike had apparently slowed up materially except for conferences at St. Paul, which lent the only hopeful air to the situation.

The initial St. Paul conferences between P. A. Henning, chairman of the Federated Shop Crafts of the Northwestern district, and rail officials, brought no definite results, but both sides admitted that negotiations had advanced to a stage that gave promise of a settlement of the strike on the 17 roads of the northwestern group.

Mr. Henning went so far as to assert that he believed it was entirely possible to settle the strike on a national basis within 48 hours. Before entering the St. Paul negotiations, Mr. Henning conferred with Mr. Jewell, who had asserted that it was upon a national basis only, and through direct negotiations with the roads that the shopmen's strike could be ended.

Makes New Plans

Chairman Hooper, of the Labor board, who announced formulation of new plans for ending the strike, was closely watched for his next move for peace.

Meanwhile disturbances in connection with the strike continued. In Texas, which became a focus of interest when Gov. Neff expressed reluctance to call out state troops to protect government property at the Denton, Tex., terminal of the Katy lines, use of federal troops was indicated should force become necessary. A federal injunction was granted to the Southern Pacific at San Francisco and restraining orders were issued to the Frisco system at Fort Smith, Ark., and to the Chicago and Eastern Illinois and the Toledo, St. Louis, & Western at East St. Louis.

Federal Judge Holmes, at Hattiesburg, Miss., denied a petition for injunction filed by the Mississippi Central on the grounds that the petition should be taken to the state courts because the matters complained of were local.

Strike orders went out to clerks on the Chesapeake & Ohio, according to reports from Richmond, Va., while clerks, station employees and freight handlers on the Big Four began a strike vote.

One hundred and three striking shopmen, including many leaders, were summoned to appear in federal court July 17, in connection with injunctions granted the Louisville & Nashville and the Southern Pacific railroads.

Ten departments of the Santa Fe shops at Topeka, Kas., operated with full forces, according to company officials, and Superintendent W. D. Dwyer declared that at the rate applications for jobs were coming in, all departments would be full in a few days.

because the matters complained of were local.

Strike orders went out to clerks on the Chesapeake & Ohio, according to reports from Richmond, Va., while clerks, station employees and freight handlers on the Big Four began a strike vote.

One hundred and three striking shopmen, including many leaders, were summoned to appear in federal court July 17, in connection with injunctions granted the Louisville & Nashville and the Southern Pacific railroads.

MR. WALKER'S STATEMENT

The statement issued a few days ago by Hon. Joseph Walker, candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator, is one that cannot fail to bring comfort and encouragement to the democratic candidates for the nomination. Mr. Walker asserts that he is overruled with offers of support from dissatisfied republicans showing a widespread sentiment against the policies and leadership of Senator Lodge. Evidently the ex-speaker is a shrewd campaigner, as he is mobilizing all the dissident elements in the party in this state and is determined to make a vigorous fight for the nomination from now until the date of the primaries in September. But the part of Mr. Walker's statement in which he expresses doubt as to the possibility of Senator Lodge's re-election is of special interest. It is as follows:

"Finally, I am told by strong partisan republicans, including a recent chairman of the republican state committee, that they do not believe that it is possible to elect an old guard republican in Massachusetts. They point to the fact that Mr. Weeks was defeated by Mr. Walsh, that Mr. Lodge was nearly defeated by Mr. Fitzgerald six years ago, even though Mr. Fitzgerald threw up his hands in the midst of the fight. These republicans frankly say that only a progressive, forward looking republican can hold the independent vote, so necessary to assure election. As a reactionary republican cannot be elected, the real choice lies between another democratic senator and a forward looking republican senator. If such a republican is not nominated, Massachusetts will be represented by two democratic senators. Such is the line of thought of many republicans who for that reason have offered me their support."

If there be any truth in that statement, it should cause the democrats to grasp the opportunity by putting up a strong candidate who will appeal to the discontented republicans. Despite Mr. Walker's appeals we believe fight will be between him and the democratic candidate. If the latter can command the support of his own party and a fair share of the independent republican vote, he should be elected.

A SHINING GOAL

The Sun is informed that a national seal sale quota of $5,000,000 was by unanimous consent established at a meeting of representatives of state tuberculosis associations at the recent Washington conference. This goal was set on the ground that this amount of money is considered necessary to finance national, state and local work for the year 1923. During the past two years, due in a large measure to universal financial depression, there has been a falling off of approximately $500,000 from the $4,500,000 realized from the seal sale of 1919. This shrinkage, we are informed, has very seriously cramped the budget of the National Tuberculosis association and has actually caused a cessation of activities in some of the so-called "weaker states." With the returning tide of prosperity it should be possible to raise this amount fixed.

We are glad to note that the old Bay State did not wait for an urgent summons from the Washington conference to increase its seal sale. It has been decided to hold sectional seal sale institutes during the early fall for the benefit of the workers. It is also planned to hold an intensive seal sale institute in connection with the New England conference in Maine in September, which should be of real value to all the New England districts. Lowell philanthropy has never been found wanting, and drives of this kind generally meet with good success in this section of Middlesex county. The cause of the tuberculosis languors in well worth intensive support at all times. A feature of interest to all contributors anxious to "know where the money goes" is the elaborate financial statement issued at the end of each fiscal year, which is worth reading and indicates successful work on the part of the experts who are fighting this dread disease throughout the state.

FIXING THE STYLES

Louis Robin, secretary of the American Clothing Dealers' association, states that styles are always adjusted to the national state of mind; and that the jazz styles are passing because of a change in the mental condition of the people—tending towards quiet moderation and sanity. Most people believe, however, that the styles are settled by clothing dictators same as the menu in a boarding-house is settled by the housekeeper and the boarders have to take what is set before them.

One of the factors that fix the styles both for men and women is the effort of manufacturers to produce something that will appeal to the wealthy or to the upper ten, and then the masses follow in accordance with their fixed habit of imitation. Let the king wear the most fashionable outfit and others aping royally will follow the example; but here where we have no king, the different grades of society follow and imitate those immediately above them. Thus the styles become fixed until the standard is again smashed by something produced by designers and manufacturers for the detection of the ultra stylish who want to have something different from what is worn by the common people.

FOOD AND FASTING

At Nebs, Ky., William Allen has been fasting since July 6. He says he is acting on orders from heaven. Figure up the days he has been on his hunger strike and you suspect that he walks in his sleep—to the pantry. Almost anyone, however, can fast a fortnight, we are told, with no bad effects except losing weight and becoming weak. Personally we want to see the other fellow do the fasting, as a skip of one meal is our limit. The body has, stored up in it, a big supply of reserve fuel. When "feeling punk," skip a meal and fall back on your reserve energy. If, however, the reserve is used up, the needed fuel must be supplied or the system will cease to function.

Over-eating, insufficient exercise and lack of sleep cause most bad health. Yet fasting is not the road to good health; it is all a matter of avoiding the extremes of "too little" and "too much."

A HOMELAND SHRINE

Memorials to our war dead are constantly increasing, both in the homeland and across seas. Next Armistice day a large white marble cross of simple design will be unveiled in Arlington National cemetery, dedicated to the memory of the nation's dead who remain sleeping in the soil of France. The site designated by the war department is among the graves of those who fell in the great war and is not very far from the memorial amphitheatre, before which the body of the unknown soldier was laid to rest on last Armistice day. Of more than 30,000 crosses in the fields of France, the plain white cross at Arlington will be the American symbol of a homeland shrine and a national memorial.

The cost of this memorial is to be about $2500, and an opportunity is given to all citizens to contribute small amounts of money toward the fund.

EFFECTS OF HOOCH

That the Danvers insane asylum reports an increase of 65 per cent of alcoholic patients in 1921 over the number in 1920 is not comforting; but it should be brought to the attention of the public as showing the deleterious mental effects of drinking mania. Dementia glomer, home brewed wine and hard cider, which are set down by the officials as the beverages that were used by most of the inmates. In an institution for the blind there is also an increase in the number of inmates because of the number whose sight has been destroyed by poisonous substitutes for whiskey.

There is no inference to be drawn from these facts which is, that it is best to avoid drinking any of the substitutes for beer or whiskey.

BUSINESS BAROMETER

Times are steadily becoming better. You see this indicated in the old reliable barometer, pig iron production.

In June, 236 tons of pig iron were turned out by the furnaces for each 86 tons in July, 1921.

The gain is enormous. Best of all, it is not a sensational over-night recovery. Instead, it is the result of a steady climb that has been going on for 11 months. Slow recovery is apt to be permanent. A sick man who gets on his feet too soon usually has a relapse and goes back to bed. We shall escape any danger of relapse after our slow recovery.

WALKING

Riding in autos, trains, street cars and elevators is weakening to our legs. At the national orthopedic convention in Los Angeles, Dr. R. Kendrick Smith sounded a note of warning that lack of exercise puts man in danger of losing the power to walk.

Certainly we are traveling a path that in a few generations will make our legs puny and weak. Of what use, though, are legs if we are to remain on a mechanical-locomotion basis? From the health side, however, civilized man is deforming himself. Most people ride too much and walk too little.

BEATING DEPRESSION

Business was bad everywhere in 1921, but Fred P. Mann sold $500,000 worth of merchandise in Devil's Lake, N. D., a town of 5000 population.

"Advertising built my business for me," he says, "and my aim today is to guide in newspaper advertising the mail order houses which flood my district with circulars."

There is always plenty of business for the man who goes after it. Depression usually is the result of timidity. This applies to the individual as well as to the nation in general.

ANOTHER WAGE CUT

Another wage cut comes to complicate the local labor situation. The strike, the weapon of last resort for the operatives, has not accomplished much in any of the New England cities; and this fact makes the question of extending the conflict, one that should not be favored without the most serious consideration of the probable consequences.

It is quite plain that no Public Service Board can do business as required by the city charter without having to fight Mayor Brown's opposition at every step. If the board does well, he wants the credit; if it makes mistakes, he magnifies them and he insists more work and better work would be done by following his orders, all of which is sheer political bunk.

Councilmen, of course, have a right to vote as they please, whether that be right or wrong; but the man who can't see the difference between right and wrong is almost as hopeless as he who sees the right and votes the other way.

Isn't it early for the mayor to start the political stunts to impress the voters with his burning zeal for his brand of "efficiency"?

SEEN AND HEARD

"People get better every day," says a preacher. What of the nights?

Funny things happen. One day last week everybody in Hollywood was alive.

The congestion in Dutton street doesn't quite seem to warrant the closing of Worthen.

You can't do much without capital and you can't do much with capital.

The delays experienced by autoists, teamsters and pedestrians at the Middlesex and Fletcher street crossings are annoying, to say the least.

Cause For Libel

"The bride declares she is going to sue the Daily Dope for libel." "Why, what has it said about her?" "O, in describing the wedding it said she swooned up the aisle, and, of course, since her father made his money she's never spent anything."

Little Did He Suspect

A young lady, on being introduced to an eminent astronomer, expressed her regret that she had missed his lecture the evening before. "O, I don't think it would have interested you," he said; "it was all about sun-spots." "Was it really?" she replied. "Then it would have greatly interested me, for between you and me, sir, I have been a martyr to freckles all my life."—Philadelphia Record.

Was Never Hissed

Bide Dudley, the midget humorist, was one of the speakers at a dinner he began by remarking that he did not fear to face huge audiences, as he had never been hissed in his life. "Just the other day," he said, "I was the third speaker at a banquet. The first speaker got up, and after his speech was hissed. The second and I like fate. I missed the first speaker, but I worked up my courage, and spoke. My talk finished, the audience began hissing the first two speakers all over again."

An Early Marriage

George Ate, at a dinner in Chicago, championed early marriage. "But I don't champion," he said, "such people-day marriage as Henry Lytton, the great Savoyard, went in for. Lytton at the age of 15, played truant from school and got married to Louise Henri, who was even younger than himself. In the evening of the wedding day, when Lytton returned to his studies, the headmaster rolled back his cuffs, chose a good canna and proceeded to thrash Lytton on the trunk. 'Hold on, young Lytton, roared. 'You can't thrash me like this! Do you know what you're doing? You're thrashing a married man!'—Detroit Free Press.

Very Simple

In a lecture on memories Dr. Clarence P. Ramsey of Chicago said: "There are many queer kinds of memory training systems. There is even a fantastic method of memorizing based on the principle of spontaneous and shutting the pores—how ever that is done. But just the other day I heard of a new method. A man went into a cheap restaurant and asked for a bill of fare. The waiter said: 'We ain't got none, boss, but I can rattle off the grub for you.' Good as his word, the waiter rattled off a list of dishes several yards long. The man went out in astonishment. 'You must employ a memory system. How on earth do you remember all that?' That's easy," said the waiter, "no system at all, boss. I just looks at the tablecloth."

A One-Man War

William G. McAdoo, war-time secretary of the treasury, fell in company when he stood on the platform to address the conference of bar associations at Memorial Continental hall. He was an lonesome, standing on that platform, as was a certain soldier upon a certain battlefield of France. Mr. McAdoo said: "This soldier was a speedy runner. He and his mates had been anticipating the day when they would go over the top, and at last the hour came. They went over, but for a considerable distance into the field all was silence. There was no indication of any enemy. This youth made remarkable progress, so much so that soon he had outdistanced all his comrades, but without noticing it. Then suddenly shells began to burst to his right and left. He looked around. As far as he could see he was the only one in a great expanse. 'Good lawd,' he exclaimed, 'doh ain't nobody in dis war but me?'—Washington Star.

Humidity

Now underwear, though very thin, is firmly glued into one's skin.

And collars wilt on every one.

And every vest, and every coat, most surely get the wearer's goat.

Now postage stamps none have to lick.

And everything is full of stick.

Now perspiration rules the day.

From it there is no getaway.

And no one cares for lunches nice.

One's satisfied to feed on ice.

Away from an electric fan.

And sleep is put upon the blink.

Just pitch and toss without a wink.

There's no relief as yet in sight.

And so we must continue to Feel as if we were dipped in stew.

And oh this pea-soup atmosphere

It sets the whole town by the ear.

We growl and kick, but what's the use?

We feel it dipped in sticky juice.

Let's do our best till weather man

Humidity puts in a can.

HEARING POSTPONED

A postponement until July 17 has been announced in the case set for a hearing today in a civil session of district court before a district court judge, in which Michael J. Reedy, a former engineer at the city water works, seeks reinstatement, alleging that his discharge by former Superintendent Doherty was illegal.

TO REMAIN POST

BRIDGEWATER, July 14.—Captain Hilda M. Brackstone will resign as superintendent of the State Farm on July 15, it was announced today. He has held the position 35 years.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Despite newspaper publicity, many prospective bargain hunters were fooled yesterday by the closing of downtown stores. Many people are accustomed to do their shopping on a Thursday morning and yesterday was no exception to the rule as far as they were concerned. The humidity of the day proved a thirist amplifier, but the drug stores were also closed and sundries were dispensed with. No fault-finding was in evidence, however, when people were informed of the fact that yesterday was the clerks' annual holiday, the only extra holiday throughout the long year. A peculiar thing about the clerks' off-day is the fact that rain has made its appearance at some time during the day for the past several years. The usual downpour came yesterday and made an unpleasant ending to what was hoped would be a whole day of real enjoyment.

I have heard many complimentary remarks concerning Mayor Lawrence E. Quigley, of Chelsea, who gave a very interesting talk before the delegates of the Massachusetts Public School Janitors' association Wednesday evening. Mayor Quigley is reputed to be the youngest mayor in the state, but judging from the general comment, he is no novice as far as municipal affairs are concerned. He is also an accomplished orator and made a big hit with his audience on that evening. Through his efforts the next convention of the association will be held in Chelsea, which the mayor boasted so highly and in such an intelligent and impressive manner. It is no wonder that a man of this calibre should be elected to the highest office within the gift of his fellow citizens, as he has conducted himself on all occasions as a booster for a city that is justly proud of his administration.

The Ukrainian National Chorus, which has been called a human symphony orchestra, is to be brought to this country in the fall by Max Rabino-off, former impresario of the Boston Grand Opera company, and of the Ballet Russe. The chorus is expected to bring a new form of art to America and should make just as much of a sensation as the Ballet Russe. The voices are blended in such a way that they seem to resemble flutes in their clearness of tone. Mr. Koshetz, the chorus leader, is a composer of his wonderful direction and artistic blending of voices. The theme of their songs varies from the stories of great wars and heroes down to the neighborly gossip of the villages.

Mrs. Kate Conley for 31 years has been scrubbing floors in the Massachusetts state house. During that time she never had a vacation. Now she gets one for two weeks, and she says she will spend it scrubbing and cooking in her own home, with one day's outing "at the beach." As you get this interesting glimpse into one human life, you compare your lot with Kate Conley's. The door closes.

I noticed an interesting industry on wheels around town the other day. Two men, hailing from Newark, were traveling around the country in a machine doing repair work on the but-ther blocks of the markets of the cities they passed through. A large plane on a swiveling crane, and several empty wheels, connected by pulleys, were mounted in the body of the truck. These machines were used for levelling the top surface of the blocks and never was furnished to run them by a gasoline engine. The men travel continuously in this machine and use it as living quarters. They had two hammocks which could be suspended from the sides of the body of the car and used for sleeping quarters.

GAS MANAGERS ELECT

COONEY PRESIDENT

At a meeting of the newly formed association of gas managers, held in the Engineers club of Boston Wednesday evening, Edward J. Cooney, the advertising manager of the Lowell Gas company and head of the Lowell Ad club, "schomling circle," was elected president.

An intensive course of two weeks is being held in the Institute of Technology for the further information of the men in the manufacture and distribution of gas to industries. Practical and technical slides alike are being studied.

The superintendent of the local plant, C. R. Pritchard, is a member of the advisory board of the organization.

SENATE TAKES UP DYE

EMBARGO PROVISION

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The senate turned to the dye embargo provision of the tariff bill today, putting aside the cotton schedule with prospects of a vigorous fight before the embargo section is finally settled. Under announced plans it will be held before the senate continuously until disposed of, probably some time next week. Senator Moses of New Hampshire was prepared to lead the republican opponents of the provision and Senator King, Utah, will make the principal arguments for the democrats in opposition.

ATTEMPT MADE TO KILL

PARIS POLICE HEAD

PARIS, July 14.—(By the Associated Press) Considerable excitement was caused during the return of the presidential cortege from the military review at Longchamps when an unidentified man fired twice at the carriage of Armand Naudin, police prefect of Paris, which was preceding the carriage of President Millerand. The man, who is about 20 years of age and apparently demented, was badly beaten by the crowds.

FAILS TO APPEAR

ON FRAUD CHARGE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 14.—Bernard Morgan, president of the Morgan Manufacturing company of Keene, N. H., failed to appear yesterday in the district court in this city to answer charges of defrauding Frank G. Perry of Fitchburg, Mass., of $15,000. Morgan was arrested by the police of Keene on a fugitive from justice warrant. He waived extradition and was released under $3000 bail for his appearance in this city.

Perry, who went to Keene to identify Morgan, says that under the name of George Steinhart Morgan sold him 12,000 shares of mining stock at the Billmore hotel in this city. The stock, according to the complainant, is worthless. Chief Inspector Maguire received word from the chief of police of Keene that the accused had been released there on bail and waived extradition and was to appear in the 6th district court yesterday.

Berton Bralley's Daily Poem

ADVICE

When first upon his planet man
Acquainted the doubtful boon of speech,
At once the older folk began
To preach.

They pointed morals by the score,
They talked of duty and of truth,
And were, of course, an awful bore
To youth.

"Alack!" the elder folk would cry
(A million times these words were flung),
"I didn't act that way when I
Was young!"

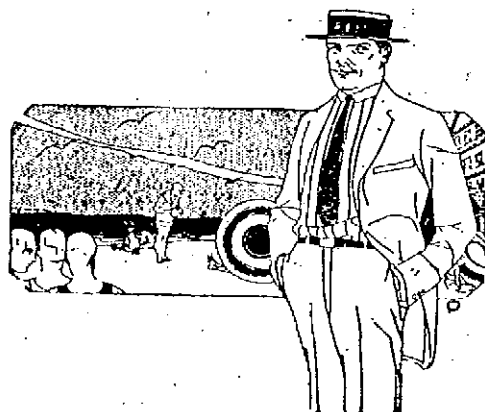

The younger generation heard
Advice on what was right and fit,
And didn't heed a single word
Of it.

They took their own path in delight
And learned things as they went along,
And they were just as often right
As wrong.

If foolish youth had listened with Respect to older counsel sage,
We'd still be in the Neolithic
Age.

So slip to youth this kind of chat,
"Go forth, your life is yours to make!"
(For that's the only counsel that They'll take!)

"THE EARL" ONCE MORE
IN TROUBLE

BOSTON, July 14.—Charles E. Munson, who cut a wide swath along the Pacific coast several years ago under the false title of the "Earl of Wickshire," and spent an extended vacation in San Quentin, the California penitentiary, has been arrested in New York on charges of having passed worthless checks in various parts of the country. There are several charges against him in Boston.

Munson was picked up by the New York police while posing as John L. Collins and attempting to negotiate a $200 worthless check. Through the activities of the William J. Burns detective agency he was immediately identified as one of the most active worthless check passers the country has known in many years, and a man of many aliases, including David G. Beeching, Thomas Leonard, Earl of Wickshire, H. M. Chandler, etc. The man's presence in New York became known when he went to the office of an automobile supply house and ordered a large bill of goods. He offered a check for $200 and asked to be allowed to borrow some money on it. He was given $20 with the understanding that the remaining $180 should be given him the following day. The suspicious of the company were aroused and they made inquiries about the check, finding it to be worthless. The police and Burns detectives were called into the case and the man was taken on suspicion. He declined to make any statement. Inquiries developed the fact that the man is wanted in Seattle, Portland, Ore., Denver, Col., Kansas City, Mo., Canada, Boston and other cities. The police of the various cities were notified and immediately the sheriff of Placerville, Cal., started for New York in hopes of taking the man back with him.

BROOKLINE TAXRATE
AT HIGHEST POINT

BROOKLINE, July 14.—Brookline assessors yesterday confirmed announcement of a tax rate of $21.70, the largest in the town's history and an increase of $3.80 over last year's figure of $17.90. The explanation of the advance, which the assessors promised would be forthcoming today, follows:

"The amount quoted for town expenses to be raised by taxation is $101,431.63 more than last year. This is partially accounted for by the fact that $167,321.17 cash on hand January 1, 1921, was deducted from this item last year. There was no cash balance on January 1, 1922.

County and State Taxes
"The county tax is $5,495.59 more and the state tax $4,515.53 greater. Receipts from income tax are $74,292.04 less, and estimated receipts are $52,990.68 less, caused by small distribution from corporation and bank taxes."

In a statement to the press, former Selectman James M. Codman, Jr., expresses the hope that the special commission which the legislature has just provided for the purpose will point the way for reducing municipal expenditures and taxes.

"The extremely high tax rate, fourteen when our appropriations were voted in town meeting," he said, "is a very serious matter for Brookline from every point of view and calls for the utmost wisdom in controlling our expenditures. In so far as changes in tax laws contribute to it, the need for true economy in the future is the greater. The way to reduce is to reduce."

GERMANY MUST PAY ITS
DEBT ON JULY 15

PARIS, July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—The reparations commission yesterday notified the German government, in reply to the demand for a moratorium for reparations payments, that it would give a definite answer only when it had in hand the full report of the committee on guarantees which went to Berlin a short time ago to supervise reforms to which the German government had given its assent.

The commission demands that the balance of the 32,000,000 gold marks of the payment due July 15 shall be paid. In its letter to the German government the commission says it does not consider payment of reparations the only cause for depreciation in the value of the mark. It adds the stability of the mark can be re-established only if the financial reforms it has demanded for a long time be put into force immediately and that it is information from the committee on guarantees regarding application of those reforms that the commission requires before answering definitely the demand of the German government.

The commission hopes to be able to make a definite decision before July 15.

REFUSES TO BELIEVE
ATTEMPTED MURDER

BROCKTON, July 14.—Charged with assault with intent to murder her two little children by gas, Mrs. Mary Yahnovich, 12 Canton street, was freed of the more serious charge by Judge C. C. King in district court yesterday and a nominal fine of $10 imposed for drunkenness, to which she pleaded guilty. He then revoked sentence until Monday.

Neighbors were among those who told the story of the woman leaving home, where the little ones were found shortly after, with the windows closed and gas escaping from the jets. Judge King refused to credit the stories. The husband strongly supported his wife. He claimed that he and his wife were visiting a cousin and he asked her to return home and put the children to bed. She was gone a long time, he said, and became suspicious, because of the fact that she had been drinking, returned to ascertain if all was well. Despite the serious charges, husband and wife were reunited and are now living happily.

The largest mastodon tusk ever discovered, found 40 feet below the surface of the earth, weighed 75 pounds and was seven feet from tip to tip.

CURED BY A NATIVE HERB

On board a vessel bound for India recently a man was bitten by a poisonous reptile; both the ship doctor and a famous surgeon failed to control the poison fast spreading through his system.

In a day the vessel reached port. An Indian medicine man was sent for, who produced a native herb which quickly allayed the poison and the man's life was saved. Roots and herbs are nature's assistants in combating disease. That well-known medicine for ailments peculiar to women, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is prepared from roots and herbs, possessing medicinal properties of great value in the treatment of such ailments. This is proved by the letters of recommendation we are continually publishing in this paper for it.—Adv.

AGREEMENT ON WAGES

Expect to Sign Agreement on Scale Today

BOSTON, July 14.—An agreement between the Building Trades Employees' association and the United Building Trades council was to be signed at city hall late today. The agreement, which was formulated after several conferences arranged by Mayor Curley, provides a wage of $1 an hour for most of the skilled mechanics and $1.12½ for bricklayers and plasterers. Most of the trades will have a 44-hour week, under the new agreement. The plasterers, however, will sign for a 40-hour schedule. Wharf and bridge carpenters and shop and mill men will receive 90 cents an hour, an increase of 10 cents. Fifty-five cents an hour will be paid for common labor and 40 cents for skilled labor. The agreement will expire on April 1, 1923. Open shop conditions have prevailed in the industry here since the protracted strike of more than a year ago.

Moses Attacks Dye Embargo

Continued
Moses, paid propagandists and taken and kept organizations have been the most aggressive, avaricious and insolent of all the profiteering crew who pertinaciously push this legislation.

Makes Charges
He declared that whatever the outcome of the government proceedings against the Chemical Foundation he always would believe it was "concealed in conspiracy and fostered by falsehood." He charged that the "conspiracy" was formed by Francis P. Garvan, "its president, his associates in the office of alien property custodian and certain of the dye manufacturers of the country."

Calling attention to the foundation was organized in the winter of 1913, Senator Moses said that on Feb. 28 of that year, acting Secretary Polk signed an executive order which had been carefully prepared for his signature by the foundation, authorizing licensing of seized enemy patents and trade marks by the organization. In this connection he presented a memorandum of a conversation which, he said, he had had with an unnamed federal official, setting forth that Mr. Polk, who was acting in the absence in Europe of Secretary Lansing and President Wilson had explained that he had signed the order on representation that the action to be taken was with the full approval of the federal trademark commission which was licensing the patents under authority of the trading-with-the-enemy act.

Polk Disturbed
The memorandum set forth also that Mr. Polk "seemed very much disturbed" and held several conferences with officials of the trade commission and had "intimated very strongly that he had been made the victim of false representations to induce his signature to the executive order."

A week after the order was signed, Senator Moses continued, Mr. Garvan became alien property custodian and "as such, on April 10, sold to himself for $250,000 property whose earning capacity thus far disclosed indicated it to have been worth many millions."

Turning to what he characterized as "the orgy of falsehood with which the Chemical Foundation camouflaged its real purpose," he asserted that while the foundation had "falsely" advertised that it was to carry out educational purposes in the field of chemistry, it had spent nearly $300,000 to "bolster the propaganda for a dye embargo." He placed in the record a number of letters sent to individuals and organizations over the course, in which there was made what the senator said was the "false claim" that the foundation was a government agency.

Senator Moses also introduced a number of letters to show that the Chemical Foundation's agents had had the bureau of education under former Commissioner Claxton distribute articles about chemistry written by R. E. Ross of the chemical department of the Du Pont company.

Another Illustration
As "another illustration of how, he said, "great agencies of the government were victimized by the dye makers of the country and our public agencies turned to use in private propaganda," the senator presented correspondence designed to show that the dye exhibits recently shown at Chicago, Philadelphia, Rochester, N. Y.,

EDWARD LAMER, Inc.
400 W. 34 St. N. Y.

Washington, D. C., and other cities and now in the National Museum here, had been financed by the dye makers, having been prepared in the chemical warfare section of the war department.

The correspondence was between Captain O. E. Roberts, Jr., and the Du Pont company, the National Aniline & Chemical company, and other dye concerns. Of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours company, Senator Moses declared that the people through advances from the federal treasury, during the war, "not only financed the Du Ponts but were also made to be the Du Ponts to an extent which enabled the company to increase its plant value to an admitted $20,000,000, while at the same time taking out new profits, which in one year amounted to $125,000,000."

He charged also that of the $99,250,000 advanced to the Du Ponts during the war, there remained "unrecouped" on July 1, 1922, $35,000,000.

To Divide World

He asserted that the Du Ponts and the National Aniline & Chemical company, constituted the monopolistic features of the dye industry in this country, and that the Du Pont company, aside from entering into a contract with Lovinsin, Ltd., a British concern, to divide the world or the sale of their dyes, had sought also to enter into a world agreement with the Badische company, the chief producer of dyes, which, with the German dye cartel, he added, had been held up as the "bogy men of the dye world," since the agitation for an embargo was started.

After the Badische Co. declined to enter into the agreement, he said, the Du Pont company, had submitted a proposal to the American Trade Council in China, that "this office would confiscate 18,000 trade marks held by the Germans for dyes marketed in China and from a joint Chinese company or an American-British company to license these trademarks from the Chinese government."

He added that for more than a year he had heard nothing of the imperialistic plans of the Du Ponts in Europe or in the Orient, and that the probability that "both schemes have crashed to the ground" was supported by the pressure the Du Ponts now are making for a dye embargo. "In order that they may mulct from American consumers the sums which they have found themselves unable to take from war-stricken Europeans or simple-minded Orientals."

Presents Documents
Explaining that the government had entered into an arrangement with the Textile Alliance to distribute German reparations dyes in this country, he charged that the alliance, originally formed to eliminate unfair practices in the textile trades, had, in the handling of the dyes, "resorted to the most unfair business practices of which there is any record." He presented a mass of official and unofficial documents relating to the reparations dyes, which he said contained "ample proof" of his charge.

Asserting that the alliance had committed its dye interests to a committee of seven members, he said this committee which included in its membership representatives of the Du Pont company, and the Aniline company, also had been constituted as the advisory committee on dyes for the War Trade board. Thus, he added, these two dye concerns had constant representation in everything that was done concerning the reparations dyes and also had access to the private information of the War Trade board.

RYE GRASS

The storm that centered over Lowell, Mass., some sections of the city, particularly in the Highlands, the storm was swept along and round and round by gusts that attained hurricane proportions. The Highlands seemed to be the vortex of the wind, and while the damage was more or less inconsequential the storm was severe enough to cause grave apprehension.

An apple tree in Harris avenue standing very near a house, was struck by a lightning bolt that hurled itself in an open lot with an audible hissing sound, and all through the neighborhood the violence of the storm seemed particularly intensive.

A lightning bolt entered the house of Alfred Andrews at 56 Nelson avenue. The family was at supper when it shot down and struck the table over a pail of water and disappeared through the bottom of the sink, leaving a small bullet-like hole.

Plaster was ripped from the walls of the house of Michael McQuaid at 6 Pleasant street and a house in Walker street also was struck, but not damaged.

The storm came in two sections, the close of an unusually hot day

The school however well over the 30 mark.

Between 300 and 500 telephone subscribers were affected and scores of homes were without electric service for several hours.

The power railway company had several cars temporarily out of commission and a car on the Lakeview park Nashua line had to be towed to the barns for repairs.

The park department received only one call today for a tree that was damaged during the storm.

OUTING AT LAKEVIEW

The annual outing of the summer school class of the Central M. E. church was held at Lakeview today. The special excursion left the corner of Merrimack and Dutton streets at two o'clock for the scene of the day's activities, which included a list of sports and a program of entertainment.

OUTING FOR CHILDREN STORE CLERKS HAD BIG TIME YESTERDAY

Big Time for Children of Orphanages

When the committee of local Rotarians, who have charge of the outing to be given the children of the orphanages on next Tuesday, July 18, at the Martin Luther grounds, met this morning, final plans were completed. It should rain on that date the outing will be held the following day, July 19.

This outing is a special feature which the Rotary club has been conducting for several years past for the benefit of the children of the orphanages. Mr. Pitts, chairman of the committee, said that the enjoyment and fun which the children, who are bound in by walls and fences the rest of the year have on such a picnic, was ample recompense for the work that anyone did in carrying out such a plan.

The route of the parade has been changed because of the road repairs. The machines will go up "line street" and down Wilder street to the Princeton boulevard, instead of going up Westford street. All along the route the children will be entertained by the antics of a huge clown and will perform special stunts during the day at the grounds.

Definite assurance has been received that Governor Cox will be a guest at this picnic. There will be visiting Rotarians from Lawrence, Haverhill and Andover.

Chairman Pitts is very pleased with the fine co-operation he has received from the members of the committee. He says that they have carried out every detail and have left nothing undone to guarantee a wonderful day for the children.

TIME YESTERDAY

Somewhat fatigued but, nevertheless, contented after a memorable day of endless outing activities, Lowell store clerks returned to their posts of duty this morning. The rain of the late afternoon proved a slight disappointment, but even this was not sufficient to dampen the enthusiasm manifested in the care-free hearts of the joyous clerks.

The clerks of the Boston Ladies' Outfitters, about 55 in all, spent an enjoyable day at Hampton beach. Arrangements were in charge of Mr. Cyrus Fidler, more familiarly known as "Cousin Cy," who also acted as toastmaster at a sumptuous dinner at the Imperial Cafe. At the beach the picknickers were royally welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Fidler, at whose cottage they were graciously entertained. Vaudeville talent was furnished by the famous Hipperindick Brothers, after which preparations were made for a dip in the briny. Baseball games and other sports were enjoyed, and dancing was held at the "Kasino" where special arrangements had been made. In the evening, the Imperial was again visited for supper.

The clerks of the Chalfoux Employees Mutual Benefit association held their annual outing at Revere, where a lobster and chicken dinner was served at the Hotel Plesanton where supper was also served. Water sports were indulged in and community singing was one of the many features. Remarks were made by George Goldsmith and Leon Towner. The last car left the resort at 10 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Chalfoux were present and Mr. Chalfoux, as is his annual custom, presented the association a $200 check.

The members of the Employees' Mutual Benefit association of the Gagnon company went to Revere beach. The trip was made in special cars, leaving this city at 8 a. m. From the outset, it was evident that momentous moments would be at a minimum in the interim between their departure from Lowell and the final "good night" at the end of a perfect day.

The intense heat of the day offered a temptation to mingle with the soothing waters of the Atlantic, and practically the entire party fell into temptation. At noon, a delicious chicken and shrimp dinner was served at the Revere house, where no one showed evidence of having been out.

In the afternoon the various boulevard attractions were visited and a group picture taken of the happy gathering. Dancing was enjoyed, and at 6 o'clock the return home signal, "aboard," was reluctantly sounded.

The following committee had charge: Thomas Teague, James Saunders and George Lancelotti.

The G. C. Prince clerks toured the North Shore in automobiles before going to Revere. They visited Lynn and Salem, and then returned to Lowell. The Cherry and Webb, A. G. Ballard and F. E. Nelson companies also went to Revere and spent a most enjoyable day of sport and amusement.

Nantasket was the scene of the Bon Marche outing, and the clerks were unanimous today in voting it the best ever.

At Babcock Lake, Amherst, N. H., the C. B. Cohn clerks made merry. Lowell made ice cream and coffee were conveyed from this city and a bowling match between two picked teams offered the principal diversion in the line of sport.

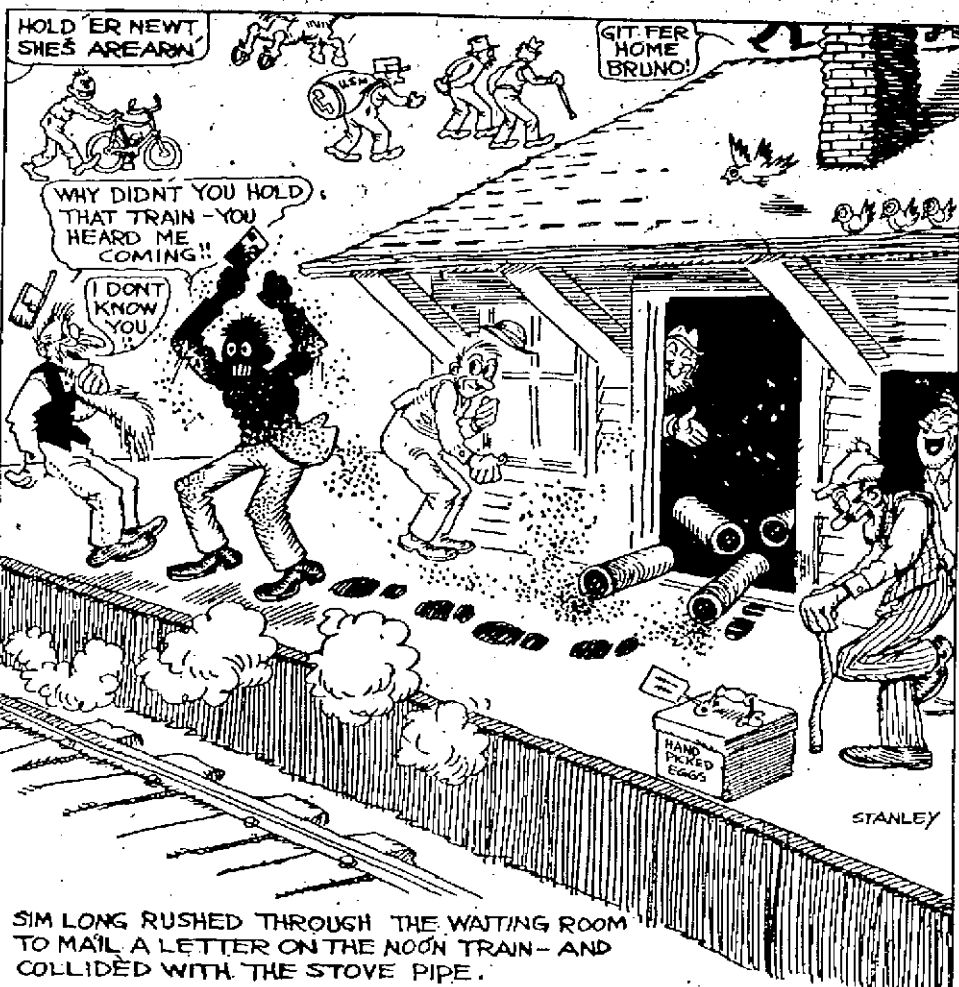

The various occurrences during the day were the principal topics of conversation among the clerks today and it is a certainty that many delightful reminiscences will remain in their minds for some time to come.

EARLY MORNING FIRE IN LOWELL DISTRICT COURT MIDDLESEX STREET

The fruit store of Allie Haasam at 510 Middlesex street was damaged by water and smoke to the extent of several hundred dollars early this morning, when a fire which originated in the cellar of the store threatened the entire building, the upper part of which is used as a lodging house.

The fire was discovered shortly after midnight by Patrolman Cornelius F. Sullivan, who pulled in an alarm from box 36 at the corner of Middlesex and Grand streets. By the time the firemen reached the premises the 30 or more lodgers, who occupy rooms in the building were warned of the danger and had reached the street.

The fire was confined to the cellar, but the stock, which consisted of fruit and confectionery, was badly damaged by smoke and water. The owner of the store was unable to account for the fire. He said that when he left at 11 o'clock everything seemed all right.

TO HAVE SCHOOL READY FOR FALL OPENING

Every available employee of the city buildings department will be placed at work in the old high school during the month of August to hurry the completion of the job of renovation before school opens in September.

A big gang already is at work there, but Supt. Connor will augment it as soon as possible.

Before it is finished, it will be a $10,000 job. All ceilings are being removed, including the large assembly hall; new floors are being laid in corridors and new stair treads are being put in; the woodwork is being varnished throughout the building and the basement will be whitewashed.

Men of the buildings department are putting the finishing touches on the new domestic science bungalow at the Morley school and it is expected that the building will be entirely finished within a fortnight.

She is survived by two sisters, Misses Kate and Mary F. White, and two brothers, Charles F. and Jeremiah J. White.

Leaky Trap in Waste Pipe Starts Jam in West Third Street House

A leaky trap in a waste pipe, showing the occupants of a ground floor tenement on West Third street, resultant complaints and an alleged assault, formed a sequence of events which occupied the greater part of what had been, in the preceding cases, a very dull session of district court today. After hearing witnesses for both defense and prosecution, Judge Plater ruled that the prosecution had failed to prove the assault and discharged the defendant.

The rest of the session was confined to the disposition of a complaint of maintaining a liquor nuisance, in which a fine of $100 was imposed; a continuance of a charge of illegal keeping of liquor, the continuation of a complaint alleging assault and battery and suspended sentences in cases of non-support and drunkenness.

Charles Bradley, a resident of West Third street, was called upon to answer to a charge of assault and battery upon the person of Andrew Chiesio, who had been in the preceding cases, a very dull session of district court today. James E. O'Donnell appeared for the complainant and Attorney Dennis J. Murphy for the defense.

Chiesio testified that on last Sunday at about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, water began to fall from upstairs into his kitchen. He said that he went upstairs and knocked on the door, and Bradley came to the entrance and hit him with a shoe which he carried in his hand. He claimed he does not remember what followed. He showed a discolored eye, with a slight cut underneath. Mrs. Chiesio said that she noticed the water dripping from the ceiling, and called her husband, who immediately walked upstairs. She followed him, saw him struck, and helped him down stairs again, in the meantime receiving a blow on the head and another on the right arm. She showed the mark to the judge.

Miss Sophie Chiesio, 20-year old daughter of the couple, said that she did not see the assault on her father, but that she had seen her father coming downstairs, with her mother following downstairs, and holding him. She saw Bradley, she said, near the head of the stairs. A physician, who was called to treat the bruises, testified regarding them, describing their position and degrees of seriousness.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley took the stand in turn and told the side of the story. They claimed that the water was suddenly shut off early Sunday afternoon, and that they rapped on the pipe to attract the attention of the Chiesio family, as the valve which shuts off their water supply is located in the tenement downstairs. Mr. Bradley claimed that Chiesio came upstairs and started an argument, using some disgraceful language, for which he hit him with his fist. Mrs. Chiesio, they alleged, came up after her husband, and began to belabor them with a stick of kindling wood.

Judge Fisher, after going over the evidence carefully, declared that in his opinion the evidence of the assault was insufficient, and discharged the defendant.

George Pontacos was originally charged with illegal keeping, but as the prosecution felt unable to defend the charge, it was changed to maintaining a liquor nuisance. Pontacos pleaded guilty, and was assessed $100. Marolin Sopel was continued until July 22 on a charge of illegal keeping. Taros Garabedian, on a charge of assault and battery, was continued until August 14.

Rose Mooney, alias Rose Cais, was found guilty of non-support of her minor children, and sentenced to six months in the house of correction, with sentence suspended for one year, during which time she will be in the care of Mrs. Hearn, probation officer.

Wladyslaw Naltwaiko, an old acquaintance of the court officers, was found guilty of drunkenness and given a suspended sentence of three months in the house of correction. He will report regularly to the probation officer for the next six months.
